Media Made in California Jeremy Tunstall, David Walker, 1981 The Film Studio Ben Goldsmith, Tom O'Regan, 2005-05-05 The Film Studio sheds new light on the evolution of global film production highlighting the role of film studios worldwide The authors explore the contemporary international production environment alleging that global competition is best understood as an unequal and unstable partnership between the design interest of footloose producers and the location interest of local actors Ben Goldsmith and Tom O'Regan identify various types of film studios and investigate the consequences for Hollywood international film production and the studio locations Local Hollywood Ben Goldsmith, 2010 The pioneering story of Australia's own Hollywood Hollywood films and television programs are watched by a global audience While many of these productions are still made in southern California the last twenty years have seen new production centers emerge in the US Canada and other locations worldwide Global Hollywood has been made possible by this growing number of Local Hollywoods locations equipped with the requisite facilities resources and labor as well as the political will and tax incentives to attract and retain high budget Hollywood standard projects This new book gives an unprecedented insight into how the Gold Coast became the first outpost of Hollywood in Australia When a combination of forces drove Hollywood studios and producers to work outside California the Gold Coast's unique blend of government tax support innovative entrepreneurs and diverse natural settings made it a perfect choice to host Hollywood productions Local Hollywood makes an essential contribution to the field of film and media studies as well as giving film buffs a behind the scenes tour of the film industry Cross-border Cultural Production Janet Wasko, 2008 This volume addresses issues revolving around the production of mediated cultural products across borders More specifically the authors consider cross border cultural production in the film and television industries and how it affects and is affected by media centers and more recently established production locations The film and television industries have long been recognized as playing important economic political and cultural roles And while it could be argued that historically these forms of cultural production often have been international endeavors the choice of production sites has become an especially contentious issue during the last few decades as global production has expanded While some factions notably from the US film and television industries refer to this issue as runaway production this book takes a much broader look at the implications and consequences of this phenomenon Basically cross border production involves the expansion of production away from traditional centers whether to other countries or to other locations within the same country Thus this study covers a wide range of issues involving economic and political considerations as well as creative and aesthetic decision making Made in California Stephanie Barron, Sheri Bernstein, Ilene Susan Fort, 2000 Unusually inclusive visually intriguing and beautifully produced Made in California will appeal to anyone who has lived in visited or imagined California Reagan and Public Discourse in America Michael Weiler, W.
