Media Studies Content Audiences And Production:

Media Studies: Content, audiences, and production Pieter Jacobus Fourie, 2001 This book includes theoretical approaches as well as a production section that focuses on basic techniques and introductory applications of media studies

Media Studies: Institutions, theories, and issues Pieter Jacobus Fourie, 2001 This outcomes based textbook provides comprehensive information on the makeup of media institutions theories in media studies and critical issues that face the media today With this guide media students learn the history of the media and learn how to keep up with the latest trends and developments in broadcasting printed press and film Outlined is how to develop an internal media policy with company mission statements news and programming policies The relationship of the media to the economy politics and society and how the media represents race gender violence and terrorism are also discussed Media Studies Pieter J. Fourie, 2010-06 Exploring the media as an institution this volume also introduces the topics of media regulation and content The nature of communications policy is explained following overviews of internal and external media regulation Strategic ways of managing the media are discussed in addition to the guide s analysis of the ways that media presents issues of identity race gender sexual orientation the environment AIDS and terrorism The Media, Political Participation and Empowerment Richard Scullion, Roman Gerodimos, Daniel Jackson, Darren Lilleker, 2013-07-18 Technological cultural and economic forces are transforming political communication posing challenges and opportunities for politicians and media organisations while at the same time many governments and civil society express concerns about the extent and nature of political empowerment and civic engagement This book offers an international perspective on current thinking and practice about civic and audience empowerment focusing on the ways and means through which media can empower or dis empower citizens as audiences It features theoretical and empirical chapters that draw specific attention to a reappraisal of the theories methods and issues that inform our understanding of citizens and audiences in contemporary politics The authors address the following questions How much and what sorts of civic and audience empowerment are most desirable and how does this differ cross nationally How do citizens relate to private and public spaces How do citizens function in online networked liminal and alternative spaces How do audiences of non political media spaces relate their experiences to politics How are political parties and movements utilising audiences as co creators of political communication and what are the consequences for democracy With examples from the UK USA Holland France Germany The Middle East South Africa and Mexico this innovative volume will be of interest to students and scholars of political science marketing journalism cultural studies public relations media and international relations Routledge Handbook of African Media and Communication Studies Winston Mano, Viola C. Milton, 2021-02-12 This handbook comprises fresh and incisive research focusing on African media culture and communication The chapters from a cross section of scholars dissect the forces shaping the field within a changing African context It adds critical corpora of African scholarship and theory that places the everyday worlds needs and uses of Africans first The book goes beyond critiques of the marginality of African approaches in media and communication studies to offer scholars the theoretical and empirical toolkit needed to start building critical corpora of African scholarship and theory that places the everyday worlds needs and uses of Africans first Decoloniality demands new epistemological interventions in African media culture and communication and this book is an important interlocutor in this space In a globally interconnected world changing patterns of authority and power pose new challenges to the ways in which media institutions are constituted and managed as well as how communication and media policy is negotiated and the manner in which citizens engage with increasing media opportunities The handbook focuses on the interrelationships of the local and the global and the concomitant consequences for media practice education and citizen engagement in today s Africa Altogether the book foregrounds convivial epistemologies relevant for locating African media and communication in the pluriverse This handbook is an essential read for critical media communications cultural studies and journalism scholars

Radio, Public Life and Citizen Deliberation in South Africa Sarah Chiumbi, Gilbert Motsaathebe, 2021-05-24 This book critically analyses the important role of radio in public life in post apartheid South Africa As the most widespread and popular form of communication in the country radio occupies an essential space in the deliberation and the construction of public opinion in South Africa From just a few state controlled stations during the apartheid era there are now more than 100 radio stations reaching vast swathes of the population and providing an important space for citizens to air their views and take part in significant socio economic and political issues of the country The various contributors to this book demonstrate that whilst print and television media often serve elite interests and audiences the low cost and flexibility of radio has helped it to create a common space for national dialogue and deliberation The book also investigates the ways in which digital technologies have enhanced the consumption of radio and produced a sense of imagined community for citizens including those in marginalised communities and rural areas This book will be of interest to researchers with an interest in media politics and culture in South Africa specifically as well as those with an interest in broadcast media more generally

Latina/os and the Media Angharad N. Valdivia, 2010-02-15 The US mainstream media have a love and hate relationship with Latina/os This book brings together the scholarship of communication studies scholars working on issues of Latinidad and presents it in a coherent vibrant and accessible form to shed light on the complex relationship between Latina/os and the media

Media Studies: Media history, media and society Pieter Jacobus Fourie, 2007 While examining exactly who owns the media and who produces the media this text manages to encompass the systematic critical and analytical media in all its forms and concludes that the media is one of the most important generators and disseminators of meaning in contemporary society Investigating the power relationships between the media and politics culture economy society and above all democracy this resource is well suited for anyone with an interest in the modern role of media in society

Mediated Communication Philip M. Napoli, 2018-09-24 Media scholarship has responded to a rapidly evolving media environment that has challenged existing theories and methods while also giving rise to new theoretical and methodological approaches This volume explores the state of contemporary media research Focusing on Intellectual Foundations Theoretical Perspectives Methodological Approaches Context and Contemporary Issues this volume is a valuable resource for media scholars and students Media Studies Leighton Evans, 2025-02-07 Contemplating studying media This handy text will tell you everything you need to know Beginning with the definition and history of media studies this book delves into exciting subjects like the political economy of mass media digitalization AI filter bubbles misinformation and much more Reading this text you will encounter Real case studies from a day in the life of a journalist to global media conglomerates An exploration of key themes like race and gender in the critical issues section Accessible content with key material boxes a glossary and further reading A lively style that won't leave you bored A must have for undergraduate media students this book enables a broad confident understanding of key issues and kick starts success in your studies
