Internet

- Internet is a world-wide global system of interconnected computer networks.
- Internet uses the standard Internet Protocol TCP/IP.
- Every computer in internet is identified by a unique IP address.
- IP Address is a unique set of numbers such as 10.22.33.114 which identifies a computer location.
- A special computer DNS DomainNameServer is used to give name to the IP Address so that user can locate a computer by a name.
- For example, a DNS server will resolve a name <http://www.tutorialspoint.com> to a particular IP address to uniquely identify the computer on which this website is hosted.
- Internet is accessible to every user all over the world.

Internet Evolution

The concept of Internet was originated in 1969 and has undergone several technological & infrastructural changes as discussed below:

- The origin of Internet devised from the concept of Advanced Research Project Agency Network ARPANET.
- ARPANET was developed by United States Department of Defense.
- Basic purpose of ARPANET was to provide communication among the various bodies of government.
- Initially, there were only four nodes, formally called Hosts.
- In 1972, the ARPANET spread over the globe with 23 nodes located at different countries and thus became known as Internet.

Introduction to Media Production Gorham Kindem, Robert B. Musburger, PhD, 2012-08-21 Introduction to Media Production began years ago as an alternative text that would cover ALL aspects of media production not just film or just tv or just radio Kindem and Musburger needed a book that would show students how every form of media intersects with one another and about how one needs to know the background history of how film affects video and how video affects working in a studio and ultimately how one needs to know how to put it all together Introduction to Media Production is the book that shows this intersection among the many forms of media and how students can use this intersection to begin to develop their own high quality work Introduction to Media Production is a primary source for students of media Its readers learn about
