Media Messages in American Presidential Elections Diana Owen, 1991-01-18 Focusing her attention on the audience Diana Owen investigates the way people process media messages during campaigns This study examines the role of ads news stories poll results and debates in presidential elections Based on surveys fielded during the 1984 and 1988 presidential campaigns Owen compares these four message categories to determine their relative importance to voters In addition she investigates how individuals make use of messages in establishing their perception of candidates and issues Mass communication s uses and gratifications approach provides this study s theoretical foundation The book is designed for researchers and students in communications and mass media voting behavior and public opinion Using surveys conducted during the 1984 and 1988 presidential campaigns Diana Owen first addresses two basic research questions How do media messages transmitted during presidential elections shape voter attitudes toward and perceptions of candidates and campaign issues Do different types of media messages influence voters feelings about candidates and elections in different ways Focusing on candidate advertisements newspaper and television news stories poll results and presidential debates she also ties voters general media use habits to the way they receive and process media messages

How the News Media Fail American Voters Kenneth Dautrich, Thomas H. Hartley, 1999 It is often noted that the public is frustrated with the news media But what do American voters really think about how the media present political information While studies have examined how the news shapes opinions as well as what people respond to and remember this is the first book to provide an in depth analysis of how voters use and evaluate the news media in political elections and the impact these trends have on their use of the news Kenneth Dautrich and Thomas H Hartley performed a four wave national panel survey of voters during the 1996 presidential campaign They found that although voters are profoundly dissatisfied with the usefulness of news in helping them make decisions they are unlikely to stop using the news media or switch media from network news to public broadcasting for instance Thus the media have little incentive to adjust to the needs or wishes of voters Here is an important contribution to the debate about the responsibilities of the news media raging among pundits and policymakers Political Rhetoric, Social Media, and American Presidential Campaigns Janet Johnson,2020-12-10 Political Rhetoric Social Media and American Presidential Campaigns explores how social media influenced presidential campaign rhetoric The author discusses media use in American presidential campaigns as well as social media campaigns for Barack Obama Mitt Romney Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump This book addresses how presidential candidates adapted their rhetorical performances for newspapers radios television and the Internet Scholars of rhetoric and political communication will find this book particularly useful Communication in the Presidential Primaries Kathleen E. Mass Media James B. Martin, 2002 Mass media has become an integral part of the human experience News travels around the world in a split second affecting people in other countries in untold ways Although being on top of the news may be good at least for news junkies mass media also transmits values or the lack thereof condenses complex events and thoughts to simplified sound bites and often ignores the essence of an event or story The selective bibliography gathers the books and magazine literature over the previous ten years while providing access through author title and subject indexes
