Nurtured By Knowledge Learning To Do Participatory Actionresearch:

Nurtured by Knowledge Susan Elizabeth Smith, Dennis George Willms, Nancy Arbuthnot Johnson, 1997 This book describes the struggle to build on a twenty five year approach to democratic social change and personal growth known as participatory action research PAR It based on the principle that people have a universal right to participate the production of knowledge that directly affects their lives The heart of the book is a series of compelling case studies of PAR and attempts to achieve it in such diverse places as Canada India Africa and Latin America The final chapter analyzes lessons from these case studies and explores the principles and evolving processes of the PAR methodology in striving to satisfy the need for liberation and recovery of community Back cover

Doing Ethnography Charlene Elizabeth Miall, Dorothy Pawluch, William Shaffir, 2005 Doing Ethnography is an essential text for courses in ethnography research methods qualitative emphasis applied sociology and related subjects across Canada This unique volume first considers the merits of qualitative research profiles interviewing strategies and discusses the relationships to respondents and how to write about social life The second portion of Doing Ethnography contains three sections constructing perspectives constructing identities as well as doing and relating Case studies and original research are featured throughout The editors Dorothy Pawluch William Shaffir and Charlene Miall emphasize the importance of studying social interaction In truth any question about society big or small is ultimately about people interacting with each other Whether the issue is changing gender relationships corporate deeds and misdeeds class structures or the school performance of children from cultural minorities it all comes down to one thing people doing things together

Participatory Action Research Approaches and Methods Sara Kindon, Rachel Pain, Mike Kesby, 2007-12-18 Participatory Action Research PAR approaches and methods have seen an explosion of recent interest in the social and environmental sciences PAR involves collaborative research education and action which is oriented towards social change representing a major epistemological challenge to mainstream research traditions It has recently been the subject of heated critique and debate and rapid theoretical and methodological development This book captures these developments exploring the justification theorisation practice and implications of PAR It offers a critical introduction to understanding and working with PAR in different social spatial and institutional contexts The authors engage with PAR s radical potential while maintaining a critical awareness of its challenges and dangers The book is divided into three parts The first part explores the intellectual ethical and pragmatic contexts of PAR the development and diversity of approaches to PAR recent poststructuralist perspectives on PAR as a form of power the ethic of participation and issues of safety and well being Part two is a critical exploration of the politics places and practices of PAR Contributors draw on diverse research experiences with differently situated groups and issues including environmentally sustainable practices family livelihoods sexual health gendered experiences of employment and specific communities such as people with disabilities migrant groups and young people The principles dilemmas and strategies associated with participatory approaches and methods including diagramming cartographies art theatre photovoice video and geographical information systems are also discussed Part three reflects on how effective PAR is including the analysis of its products and processes participatory learning representation and dissemination institutional benefits and challenges and working between research action activism and change The authors find that a spatial perspective and an attention to scale offer helpful means of negotiating the potentials and paradoxes of PAR This approach responds to critiques of PAR by highlighting how the spatial politics of practising participation can be mobilised to create more effective and just research processes and outcomes The book adds significant weight to the recent critical reappraisal of PAR suggesting why when where and how we might take forward PAR's commitment to enabling collaborative social transformation It will be particularly useful to researchers and students of Human Geography Development Studies and Sociology

From Subjects to Subjectivities Deborah L. Tolman, Mary Brydon-Miller, 2001 From Subject to Subjectivities profiles the recent debates about the role of qualitative and participatory methods in psychology a discipline which has traditionally seen itself as a form of positivistic science Contributors explain how fundamentally different views of the nature of reality and of scientific theory have shaped these debates and how psychology is being transformed through the use of these methods At the heart of the book are 10 exemplars of interpretive and participatory action research which describe the rationale for and process of using these methods in actual cases They also articulate some of the challenges psychologists may face in adopting them offering insights into how these complications can be successfully negotiated Relevant beyond psychology the models provided can be used within the context of a wide array of social science disciplines from sociology and anthropology to women's studies and public health The contributors represent a veritable who's who of qualitative scholars including Lyn Mikel Brown Larry Davidson Michelle Fine Louise Kidder M Brinton Lykes Jeanne Marecek Abigail Stewart and Niobe Way No previous book has examined qualitative and participatory methods specifically within the context of psychology From Subjects to Subjectivities provides a unique and badly needed resource for those interested in learning about the practice of these methods in the field
