Pain In Neonates Pain Research And Clinical Management Vol 5:

Handbook of Pain Assessment, Third Edition Dennis C. Turk, Ronald Melzack, 2011-08-08 This definitive clinical reference comprehensively reviews the most advanced methods for assessing the person in pain The field's leading authorities present essential information and tools for evaluating psychosocial behavioral situational and medical factors in patients subjective experience functional impairment and response to treatment Empirically supported instruments and procedures are detailed including self report measures observational techniques psychophysiological measures and more Best practice recommendations are provided for assessing the most prevalent pain syndromes and for working with children older adults and people with communication difficulties The book also weighs in on the limitations of existing methods and identifies key directions for future research Pain in neonates : pain research and clinical management K J S. Anand, 1993

Textbook of Neonatal Medicine Victor Y.H. Yu, Zekang Feng, Reginald C. Tsang, Chap-Yung Yeung, 1996-11-01 With over 90 chapters this is a standard textbook covering all the important aspects of neonatal care especially the more common or life threatening conditions While the content is applicable worldwide there are topics which are unique to Chinese infants The 77 medical experts who contribute to this volume are all of ethnic Chinese origin this book is therefore a unique product of collaboration intended to fulfil the needs of doctors caring for all newborn infants Pain Medicine Siu Lun TSUI, Phoon Ping CHEN, Kwok Fu Jacobus Ng, 2010-08-01 This is designed as a textbook for medical practitioners preparing for higher qualification examinations in pain medicine as well as a reference book for other medical and allied healthcare workers A unique feature of the book is its multidisciplinary approach to manage pain This is reflected by the contributors multi national cultural origin and the diversity in their medical background anaesthesiology neurosurgery orthopaedic surgery internal medicine clinical oncology clinical psychology nursing physiotherapy and occupational therapy Essential topics in pain medicine are grouped under five sections scientific basis of pain medicine common clinical pain conditions pain pharmacology interventional procedures and multidisciplinary approach Different aspects and approaches in modern pain medicine are covered including advances in research on pain mechanism pain psychology epidemiology diagnosis pain assessment patient evaluation pain medications up to date interventional procedures cognitive behavioral therapy and other specialized therapeutic modalities Besides the above topics which assist the patient in fighting acute chronic and cancer pain there are two chapters dedicated to paediatric and geriatric patients respectively as special consideration is needed for these age groups Childhood Headache Ishaq Abu-Arafeh, 2002-01-21 Clinics in Developmental Medicine No 158 Over the past 10-15 years there has been a significant increase in the understanding of migraine and tension headache in children but there is currently no single source of current information for paediatric neurologists and paediatricians In this book an international team of experts in the headache area addresses that gap and provides an extensive and detailed review of the recent findings in migraine and tension headache as well as headaches caused by underlying neurological disorders They give an up to date assessment of the causes of childhood headache and better definitions and criteria for diagnosis pointing the way to important future areas of research This book with its evidence based plans of management and guidelines for investigations will be essential reading for all clinicians treating headache in children The Psychology of Reproduction Catherine Niven, Anne Walker, 1998-04-09 Integrating physiological social cultural and psychological research 13 chapters consider theoretical ideas and empirical developments in a number of areas of concern to practitioners working with parents and babies Topics include the social construction of motherhood and fatherhood parenting after assisted conception post partum experiences the well being of mothers psychological implications of varying family circumstances early sex roles infant feeding and sleeping and the care of premature babies Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Cancer Pain Eduardo D. Bruera, Russell K. Portenoy, 2010 This is the second edition of the widely praised book by Drs Eduardo D Bruera and Russell K Portenoy on all aspects of cancer pain Clinical Challenges Judy Lumby, 2020-07-30 Nurses work across the health care system in a great variety of roles From patient care to administration nurses see where the pressures are and how well we are managing to look after some of the most vulnerable people in our society Clinical Challenges explores contemporary issues central to nurses work Part I explores clinical concerns such as pain and wound management the role of the nurse practitioner and the effects of extending life For many years the health sector has been coping with cutbacks in government funding and Part II examines how this impacts on the way we handle social illnesses such as suicide and drug dependence as well as the needs of our growing ageing population Part III looks at management issues affecting nurses including the growing use of business strategies and rhetoric in the health care system and the introduction of information systems and of more flexible ways of working Written by nurses working in a variety of professional roles in the system and critiqued by experts in the field Clinical Challenges offers valuable insights for nurses at every level including students Pain Management in the Postpartum Period, An Issue of Clinics in Perinatology Randall P. Flick, James R. Hebl, 2013-09-25 This issue of Clinics in Perinatology will carry the reader through the perinatal period and examine pain management throughout that continuum Beginning with the genetics of obstetrical pain and opioid use in pregnancy the discussion moves to the provision of anesthesia to the mother and fetus during fetal surgery an area of intense concern and interest in many centers There is an extensive discussion of both pharmacologic and non pharmacologic management of pain during delivery A discussion of regional anesthetic techniques is increasingly relevant in light of increasing evidence of adverse neurodevelopmental consequences of fetal exposure to general anesthetics and sedatives Pain its implications and management are extensively covered including discussions of how to assess neonatal pain and how best to provide sedation and non pharmacologic pain management systemic pharmacologic or regional techniques Of particular interest are the reviews of the potential neurodevelopmental impact of both the treatment and the failure to adequately treat pain in the newborn This topic is receiving an enormous amount of attention from all those who care for children as well as government and the media Recognition and Alleviation of Pain in Laboratory Animals National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Institute for Laboratory Animal Research, Committee on Recognition and Alleviation of Pain in Laboratory Animals, 2010-01-14 The use of animals in research adheres to scientific and ethical principles that promote humane care and practice Scientific advances in our understanding of animal physiology and behavior often require theories to be revised and standards of practice to be updated to improve laboratory animal welfare Recognition and Alleviation of Pain in Laboratory Animals the second of two reports revising the 1992 publication Recognition and Alleviation of Pain and Distress in Laboratory Animals from the Institute for Laboratory Animal Research ILAR focuses on pain experienced by animals used in research This book aims to educate laboratory animal veterinarians students researchers and investigators Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee members and animal care staff and animal welfare officers on the current scientific and ethical issues associated with pain in laboratory animals It evaluates pertinent scientific literature to generate practical and pragmatic guidelines for recognizing and alleviating pain in laboratory animals focusing specifically on the following areas physiology of pain in commonly used laboratory species pharmacologic and non pharmacologic principles to control pain identification of humane endpoints and principles for minimizing pain associated with experimental procedures Finally the report identifies areas in which further scientific investigation is needed to improve laboratory animal welfare
