China Painting for Fun, Fame Or Fortune Brack Publications, Ruth Little, 1997-07-01 Forthcoming Books Rose Army, 1998-04 The China Decorator, 1891 The Art Amateur, 1900 Kenneth Clark James Stourton, 2016-11-01

The definitive biography of this brilliant polymath director of the National Gallery author patron of the arts social lion and singular pioneer of television that also tells the story of the arts in the twentieth century through his astonishing life Kenneth Clark's thirteen part 1969 television series Civilisation established him as a globally admired figure Clark was prescient in making this series the upheavals of the century the Cold War among others convinced him of the power of barbarism and the fragility of culture He would burnish his image with two memoirs that artfully omitted the more complicated details of his life Now drawing on a vast previously unseen archive James Stourton reveals the formidable intellect and the private man behind the figure who effortlessly dominated the art world for more than half a century his privileged upbringing his interest in art history beginning at Oxford his remarkable early successes At 27 he was keeper of Western Art at the Ashmolean in Oxford and at 29 the youngest director of The National Gallery During the war he arranged for its entire collection to be hidden in slate mines in Wales and organized packed concerts of classical music at the Gallery to keep up the spirits of Londoners during the bombing WWII helped shape his belief that art should be brought to the widest audience a social and moral position that would inform the rest of his career Television became a means for this message when he was appointed the first chairman of the Independent Television Authority Stourton reveals the tortuous state of his marriage during and after the war his wife's alcoholism and the aspects of his own nature that he worked to keep hidden A superb work of biography Kenneth Clark is a revelation of its remarkable subject The Shanghai Alleyway House Gregory Bracken, 2013-03-05 As a nineteenth century commercial development the alleyway house was a hybrid of the traditional Chinese courtyard house and the Western terraced one Unique to Shanghai the alleyway house was a space where the blurring of the boundaries of public and private life created a vibrant social community In recent years however the city's rapid redevelopment has meant that the alleyway house is being destroyed and this book seeks to understand it in terms of the lifestyle it engendered for those who called it home whilst also looking to the future of the alleyway house Based on groundwork research this book examines the Shanghai alleyway house in light of the complex history of the city especially during the colonial era It also explores the history of urban form and governance in China in order to question how the Eastern and Western traditions combined in Shanghai to produce a unique and dynamic housing typology Construction techniques and different alleyway house sub genres are also examined as is the way of life they engendered including some of the side effects of alleyway house life such as the literature it inspired both foreign and local as well as the portrayal of life in the laneways as seen in films set in the city The book ends by posing the question what next for the alleyway house Does it even have a future and if so what lies ahead for this rapidly vanishing typology This interdisciplinary book will be welcomed by students and scholars of

Chinese studies architecture and urban development as well as history and literature New York Magazine ,1988-12-19
New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001 Darkness Visible J. Dustin Wees,Michael J. Campbell,1986 Chambers's Edinburgh Journal ,1882
