Philosophers speak for themselves Philosophers Speak for Themselves Thomas Vernor Smith, Marjorie Grene, 1957-05-15
The philosophic search for truth has been evident in all ages and among all peoples. The developments of each generation require new philosophies and the recasting of old ones. The eighteenth century was no exception and the scientific advances of the times brought about many innovations in philosophic thought. At a time when scientists were reducing certain phenomena of the natural world to expressions of a few simple mathematical laws, men such as Berkeley, Hume, and Kant were trying to discover how far and on what basis human reason could be applied with similar success in other fields. The selections in this book preceded by short biographical sketches document this philosophic search. The selections are liberal and well chosen; indeed, only an examination of the table of contents will give an adequate idea of the value of this volume. How better can one become a modern thinker than by reading and studying at first hand the writings that have made modern thought possible. Roger W. Holmes, The Philosophical Review.
Philosophers Speak for Themselves Thomas Vernor Smith, 1957 The Book of Nature in Early Modern and Modern History Klaas van Berkel, Arie Johan Vanderjagt, 2006
From 22-25 May 2002 the University of Groningen hosted an international conference on The Book of Nature: Continuity and change in European and American attitudes towards the natural world. From Antiquity down to our own time, theologians, philosophers, and scientists have often compared nature to a book which might, under the right circumstances, be read and interpreted in order to come closer to the Author of nature, God. The reading of this book was not regarded as mere idle curiosity but it was seen as leading to a deeper understanding of God's wisdom and power, and it culturally legitimated and promoted a positive attitude towards nature and its study. A selection of the papers which were delivered at the conference has been edited in two volumes. The first book was published as The Book of Nature in Antiquity and the Middle Ages; this second volume is devoted to the history of that concept after the Middle Ages. Philosophers speak for themselves Thomas Vernor Smith, 1965 Philosophers Speak for Themselves ... Edited by T.V. Smith. (Second Edition.). In The Economics of Friendship Tazuko Angela van Berkel offers an account of the notion of reciprocity in 5th and 4th century Greek incepting social theory. The preoccupation with the norms of philia and charis conspicuous in sources from the Classical Period is a symptom of changes in the shape of ancient economic activities; the ubiquitous norm that one should reciprocate benefit with benefit becomes a source of conceptual confusion in the Classical Period where other forms of exchange become conceptually available This confusion and tension between different models of mutuality is productive it is the impetus for folk theory in comedy tragedy and oratory as well as philosophical reflection Xenophon Plato Aristotle on what it is that binds people together Philosophers Speak for Themselves Thomas Vernor Smith, 2017-07-18

Isaac Beeckman on Matter and Motion Klaas van Berkel, 2013-08-14 Explore the work of a founding father of the mechanical philosophy of nature Isaac Beeckman 1588 1637 The contribution of the Dutch craftsman and scholar Isaac Beeckman to early modern scientific thought has never been properly acknowledged Surprisingly free from the constraints of traditional natural philosophy he developed a view of the world in which everything from the motion of the heavens to musical harmonies is explained by reducing it to matter in motion His ideas deeply influenced Descartes and Gassendi Klaas van Berkel has succeeded in unearthing and explicating Beeckman's scientific notebooks allowing us to follow how he developed his new philosophy almost day by day Beeckman was almost forgotten until the discovery of his notebooks in the early twentieth century Isaac Beeckman on Matter and Motion is the first full length study of the ideas and motives of this remarkable figure Van Berkel's important study first relates Beeckman's life placing him in the religious intellectual educational and social context of the Dutch Republic in its golden age Van Berkel then analyzes the notebooks themselves and the nature and development of Beeckman's mechanical philosophy He demonstrates how Beeckman's artisanal background and religious convictions shaped his natural philosophy even as the decisive influence stems from the educational philosophy of the sixteenth century French philosopher Peter Ramus Historians of science and the philosophy of science will find the substance of Beeckman's thought and the unraveling of its growth and development highly interesting Van Berkel's account provides a new and comprehensive interpretation of the origins of the mechanical philosophy of nature the philosophy that culminated in the work of Isaac Newton
