Baker,Ann Jacoby,2013-05-13 Though clinical aspects of epilepsy such as seizure control are crucially important to its management increasing attention is being given to wider quality of life issues Epilepsy continues to be an often misunderstood and stigmatising condition for the vast majority of people whose seizures can be well controlled the social and psychological repercussions are often of greater significance than the seizures themselves The increasing emphasis on the importance of non clinical outcomes in the assessment of new treatments and management strategies for chronic conditions such as epilepsy has stimulated interest in methodological issues in assessing quality of life This book reviews the recent literature on the impact of epilepsy on everyday experience and the methodological issues involved in assessing that impact It also considers the perspectives of a range of health professionals involved in caring for people with epilepsy and how through appropriate management the impact on their lives can be minimised

Llewellyn, Susan Ayers, Chris McManus, Stanton Newman, Keith J. Petrie, Tracey A. Revenson, John Weinman, 2019-05-16 This third edition of the much acclaimed Cambridge Handbook of Psychology Health and Medicine offers a fully up to date comprehensive accessible one stop resource for doctors health care professionals mental health care professionals such as psychologists counsellors specialist nurses academics researchers and students specializing in health across all these fields The new streamlined structure of the book features brief section overviews summarising the state of the art of knowledge on the topic to make the information easier to find The encyclopaedic aspects of the Handbook have been retained all the entries as well as the extensive references have been updated Retaining all the virtues of the original this edition is expanded with a range of new topics such as the effects of conflict and war on health and wellbeing advancements in assisted reproduction technology e health interventions patient reported outcome measures health behaviour change interventions and implementing changes into health care practice Health Technology Assessment of Assistance Dogs and Dog-Assisted Interventions Martina Lundqvist, 2020-09-04 Dogs as an assistive aid for people with disabilities date as far back in time as the first century CE Today dogs are used in various settings to help and assist humans Assistance dogs is an umbrella term for guide dogs hearing dogs and service dogs They are custom trained to help and support their owners in their everyday life and thereby give them greater independence Dogs who perform dog assisted interventions are another type of working dog where the dog and the owner work together as a team visiting people with various needs in different settings such as hospitals and nursing homes These visits aim to strengthen people's inner motivation using the dog as an external motivator There is a lack of evaluations of working dogs in the health technology assessment context and in the health economic evaluation context Hence there is a need for structured analyses that include both the short and long term effects and the costs of assistance dogs and dog assisted interventions The overall aim of this thesis is to explore and assess the use of assistance dogs and dog assisted interventions The research questions were investigated using a variety of methods In paper I inferential statistical analysis was used to analyse patient reported outcomes measures In paper II a thematic content analysis was employed to explore the experiences of service and hearing dogs To study the long term cost effectiveness of physical service dogs and diabetes alert dogs a decision analytic model was used in paper III The input data in studies I II and III was obtained from the Service and Hearing Dog Project In paper III the data was also supplemented with information from published literature and expert opinions Paper IV investigated the effects and cost effectiveness of dog assisted interventions and takes the form of a systematic review Paper I showed that a service or hearing dog may have positive impact on its owner s health related quality of life well being and activity level Paper II showed that owners of service or hearing dogs experienced both positive physical and psychosocial effects from their dog Negative experiences were also identified for example being denied access to public places and negative attitudes from other people Paper III showed that physical service dogs and diabetes alert dogs are cost effective in comparison with regular companion dogs resulting in both lower costs and a gain in QALYs The one way sensitivity analysis did not change the results but the probabilistic sensitivity analysis showed that the results were uncertain Synthesizing the results from the review in paper IV showed that dog assisted interventions for therapeutic purposes led to minor to moderate effects in psychiatric conditions Dog assisted interventions as an activity had minor to moderate effects on cognitive disorders and dog assisted interventions for support purposes were beneficial in different types of medical interventions Studies of cost effectiveness were lacking To conclude assistance dogs are valuable and may be cost effective for use as assistive aids and dog assisted interventions render minor to moderate effects in certain situations in healthcare settings

Användning av hundar som hjälpmedel för personer med funktionsnedsättning gör att spränd tillbaka till första rundradet. Kr. Idag används hundar i många människans tjänst i en mängd olika sammanhang. Assistanshundar är ett samlingsbegrepp för ledarhundar signalhundar och servicehundar. De är specialutbildade för att hjälpa och stötta sina ägare i deras vardag och på så vis ge dem möjlighet till att leva ett mer självständigt liv. Hundar som utför hundassisterade interventioner är en annan typ av tjänstehund men deras jobb är inte att hjälpa sin ägare. Istället arbetar hundar som utför hundassisterade interventioner och deras ägare som ett team. Tillsammans besöker de personer med olika behov i olika miljöer som exempelvis sjukhus eller äldreboende. De arbetar med att stärka motivationen hos personerna de träffar. Idag saknas det verktyg som tittar på olika aspekter av den här typen av hundar. Det saknas även verktyg som specifikt studerar effekter och kostnader av assistanshundar och hundassisterade interventioner. Det finns därför ett behov av strukturerade analyser som inkluderar både kort och långsiktiga effekter samt kostnader för denna typ av hundar och interventioner. Det verktyg som syftar till att utforska och utvärdera användningen av assistanshundar och hundassisterade interventioner. Först lämnas studeras med ett brett urval av metoder. I studie I analyseras patientrapporterade utfallsmått med statistiska metoder. I studie II genomförs en tematisk innehållsanalys för att undersöka föräldras upplevelser av service och signalhundar. För att analysera den långsiktiga kostnadseffektiviteten av fysiska servicehundar och alarmerande diabeteshundar i studie III konstrueras en beslutsmodell.
