Masterman, 2003-09-02 First Published in 2003 Building procurement systems are the organizational structures needed to design and construct building projects The intention of this guide is to provide the construction professional with sufficient information about building procurement systems to ensure an awareness of the main methods that are currently available and their principal advantages and disadvantages Chapters 1 and 2 describe the concept and categorization of procurement systems and the evolution of the methods currently in use The next four chapters deal with each of the various categories and the individual systems themselves The needs of clients are examined in Chapter 7 in the context of project success Chapter 8 investigates the way in which clients decide which procurement method to use The author then identifies the principles governing the current choice and the various aids that are available to assist clients during this decision process Finally in Chapter 9 the author attemps to forecast the future of procurement systems and their use This clear well researched and well structured guide will be invaluable to students and practising construction professionals alike as they work with a range of building procurement systems to choose the system most suited to their needs Construction Cost Management Keith Potts, Nii Ankrah, 2014-01-23 In this updated and expanded second edition Keith Potts and Nii Ankrah examine key issues in construction cost management across the building and civil engineering sectors both in the UK and overseas Best practice from pre contract to post contract phases of the project life cycle are illustrated using major projects such as Heathrow Terminal 5 Crossrail and the London 2012 Olympics as case studies More worked examples legal cases case studies and current research have been introduced to cover every aspect of the cost manager's role Whole life costing value management and risk management are also addressed and self test guestions at the end of each chapter support independent learning This comprehensive book is essential reading for students on surveying and construction management programmes as well as built environment practitioners with cost or project management responsibilities Building in Value: Pre-Design Issues Rick Best, Gerard de Valence, 2013-03-07 The concept of value in projects is a key issue for everyone involved in the construction industry Building in Value brings together many experts in the field to outline the wide range of tools techniques and procedures that can and should be used to make the building procurement phase as efficient as possible The authors go on to discuss how to ensure that future problems in the design and construction of the buildings are anticipated at the start and to minimise the liklihood of future hiccups Integrating strategic financial and construction management techniques this book provides an essential guide for construction professionals The procurement strategies for the Olympic Stadium and the Aquatic Centre for the London 2012 Olympic Games Dirk von Plessen, 2018-06-26 The study aims to determine hypothesis whether the procurement strategies chosen by the ODA Olympic Delivery Authority are the right choice for delivering the two main venues in the Olympic Park in time on budget and to the required quality In order to answer this question the approach of this study is to undertake extensive research in the subject area of construction procurement and to identify best practice in making procurement decisions for a project In particular the procurement strategies chosen by the ODA will be researched and their shortcomings identified Based on this theoretical framework the author will be able to undertake a systematic analysis of the decisions made by the ODA to procure the two most prestigious venues in the Olympic Park As a main part of this analysis the author will conduct semi structured interviews with key people involved in the Olympics and with experts of the industry Both the literature review and the interviews will help to achieve the main research objectives of this study which are summarised below Obtain a better understanding of construction procurement and the key areas affecting the project success Identify best practice in selecting a procurement method and to make out the pitfalls and the shortcomings of the procurement strategies that are used for both venues Understand why these procurement decisions were made and identify if best practice was followed by the ODA during its procurement process and if the pitfalls of the chosen strategies were counteracted Determine if the chosen procurement strategies fit the Geometry and Atmosphere C. Alan Short, Peter Barrett, Alistair Fair, Monty Sutrisna, 2016-12-05 Drawing on detailed design construction and financial histories of six prominent Performing Arts buildings with budgets ranging from 3 4 million to over 100 million Geometry and Atmosphere presents unique and valuable insights into the complex process of building for the arts Each theatre project from tailor made spaces for avant garde companies to iconic and innovative receiving houses yields surprising and counter intuitive findings For each of the six projects the authors have interviewed all those involved Combining these interviews with exhaustive archival research the authors then provide cross case analysis which is distilled into guidance for all stakeholders as they transform their initial vision into built reality In particular the book challenges the technical focus of existing design guides for the Performing Arts by suggesting that current practice in briefing and design does not serve the Arts community especially well It shows that there is a need for an approach in which the focus is firmly rooted in the delivery of the driving artistic vision As well as being of interest to architects urban designers and those involved in theatre studies this book will be useful to other sectors where public money is spent on major building Building Procurement Roy Morledge, Adrian J. Smith, Samuel Y. Appiah, 2021-04-12 As an industrial process projects construction is unique The procurement processes used to achieve the successful completion of built assets requires a different approach to that adopted in most other industries due to the design of buildings being bespoke and the sites being geographically varied The procurement process is central to the success of any construction project and many of the problems which impact construction projects can be traced back to the procurement phase so a good understanding of the methods of procurement the development of a procurement strategy and the influence it has on project success is essential for all those working in the industry Much has changed in the global construction industry since publication of the second edition of Building Procurement for example the increase in debt burden of many major economies widespread adoption of Building Information Modelling BIM Technology in the industry and the United Kingdom's exit from the European Union This new edition has been rewritten to take account of these significant developments but at its core it continues to provide a critical examination and review of current procurement practices in the UK continental Europe including EU procurement procedures China Middle East and Sub Saharan Africa and the USA It retains its original strong emphasis on the need for clients to establish achievable objectives which reflect the project business case and focuses on development of suitable strategies and management structures to meet those objectives in the current construction climate Building Procurement will be essential reading for senior undergraduate and postgraduate students of construction management and practitioners working in all areas of construction management Cost Studies of Buildings Allan Ashworth, Srinath Perera, 2015-07-16 This practical guide to cost studies of buildings has been updated and revised throughout for the 6th edition New developments in RICS New Rules of Measurement NRM are incorporated throughout the book in addition to new material on e business the internet social media building information modelling sustainability building resilience and carbon estimating This trusted and easy to use guide to the cost management role Focuses on the importance of costs of constructing projects during the different phases of the construction process Features learning outcomes and self assessment questions for each chapter Addresses the requirements of international readers From introductory data on the construction industry and the history of construction economics to recommended methods for cost analysis and post contract cost control Cost Studies of Buildings is an ideal companion for anyone learning about cost management Strategic Commercial Management David Lowe, 2025-06-30 Commercial acumen is a critical skill that underpins the realisation of successful and high value trading relationships This concise textbook provides knowledge of the principles of strategic commercial management together with a framework for critically understanding commercial practice within and between organisations It also examines relevant commercial management best practice and aids the development of the intellectual skills to communicate the rationale behind the strategic commercial decisions made by organisations Across each chapter it presents practical and transferable skills for designing negotiating awarding and managing B2B transactions Strategic Commercial Management provides a practical and concise introduction for executive education students currently studying for MSc and MBA apprenticeship programmes as well as supplementary reading for postgraduate students studying Strategic and Commercial Management

Effective Construction Project Delivery Titus Ebenezer Kwofie, Clinton Aigbavboa, Wellington Thwala, 2020-06-10 This book focuses on the development of communication skills in the context of non traditional procurement and construction projects It helps readers to understand the fundamentals of non traditional procurement and highlights the inherent communication challenges that arise as well as how to solve them The book is divided into four parts the first of which provides an introduction to communication discussing the theoretical concepts and contextual nature of communication as well as its benefits The second part goes into more depth discussing communication in the context of construction project delivery and non traditional procurement systems what these two terms actually mean and what effective communication looks like in these contexts Part III offers solutions to the inherent challenges of communication including the use of information and communications technology while the book s fourth and final part explores the future of construction communication Given the scope of its content the book represents a valuable asset for researchers professionals and students in the areas of procurement management and construction management The Organization and Management of Construction David Langford, Arkady Retik, 2002-09-11 The proceedings of the CIB W65 Symposium on the Organization and Management of Construction conference are presented here and in the companion volumes as state of the art papers documenting research and innovative practice in the field of construction The volumes cover four broad themes business management project management risk management IT development and applications Each volume is organized to provide easy reference so that the practitioner can speedily extract up to date information and knowledge about the global construction industry Managing the Construction Enterprise Volume One Covers the firm and its business environment markets and marketing human resource management strategic planning and quality management Managing the Construction Project Volume Two focuses upon productivity procurement international projects and human issues in relation to management performance of construction organisations Managing Risk Volume Two incorporates discussion of risk away from regulation by government and those safety risks inherent in the construction process Managing Construction Information Volume Three published in conjunction with Construct IT Centre of Excellence incorporates material on information systems and methods application of IT to the design and construction processes and how IT theory and applications are best transmitted to students and practitioners.
