Shroyer, 1993-08-01 threaten the faith of youth today but none more than science The commitments of science and Christianity seem to be at odds science makes truth claims based on experiments and proofs while religion asks for belief and trust But Andrew Root demonstrates that in fact the two are not incompatible Root a renowned expert on adolescent spirituality shows how science overstates its claims on truth while faith often understates its own claims Both faith and science frame the experience and reality of teenagers and both have something valuable to offer as adolescents develop Drawing on a fictional account of a youth pastor and the various students he encounters Root paints a compelling picture of how faith can flourish even in our From Nothing Ian Alexander McFarland, 2014-01-01 Too often the doctrine of creation has been made to scientific age serve limited or pointless ends like the well worn arguments between science and faith over the question of human and cosmic origins Given this history some might be tempted to ignore the theology of creation thinking it has nothing new or substantive to say They would be wrong In this stimulating volume Ian A McFarland shows that at the heart of the doctrine of creation lies an essential truth about humanity we are completely dependent on God Apart from this realization little else about us makes sense McFarland demonstrates that this radical dependence is a consequence of the doctrine of creatio ex nihilo creation from nothing Taking up the theological consequences of creation theodicy and Providence the author provides a detailed and innovative constructive theology of creation Drawing on the biblical text classical sources and contemporary thought From Nothing proves that a robust theology of creation is a necessary correlate to the Christian confession of redemption in Jesus Christ
