Rusted Dreams Hard Times In A Steel Community:

Rusted Dreams David Bensman,1988 Steel and Steelworkers John Hinshaw,2012-02-01 Steel and Steelworkers is a fascinating account of the forces that shaped Pittsburgh big business and labor through the city's rapid industrialization in the mid nineteenth century its lengthy era of industrial maturity its precipitous deindustrialization toward the end of the twentieth century and its reinvention from hell with the lid off to America's most livable post industrial city Hinshaw examined a wide variety of company union and government documents oral histories and newspapers to reconstruct the steel industry and the efforts of labor business and government to refashion it A compelling report of industrialization and deindustrialization in which questions of organization power and politics prove as important as economics Steel and Steelworkers shows the ways in which big business and labor helped determine the fate of steel and Pittsburgh The Industrial Revolution in America Kevin Hillstrom,Laurie Collier Hillstrom,2005-04-25 An impressive set of books on the Industrial Revolution these comprehensive volumes cover the history of steam shipping iron and steel production and railroads three interrelated enterprises that helped shift the Industrial Revolution into overdrive The first set of volumes in ABC CLIO's breakthrough Industrial Revolution in America series features separate histories of three closely related industries whose maturation fueled the Industrial Revolution in the United States during the late 19th and 20th centuries fundamentally changing the way Americans lived their lives With this set students will learn how the steamship the first great American contribution to the world's technology helped turn the nation's waterways into a forerunner of our superhighways how the Andrew Carnegie led American steel industry surpassed its British rivals marking a momentous power shift among industrialized nations and how the railroads spurred by some of the United States's most dynamic entrepreneurs Cornelius Vanderbilt John Pierpont Morgan Jay Gould moved from a single transcontinental link to become the most influential and far reaching technological innovation of the Industrial Age extending into virtually every facet of American culture and commerce Down & Out, on the Road Kenneth L. Kusmer,2002 A definitive history of homelessness in the United States page 4 of cover American Empire Joshua Freeman,2013-08-06 A landmark history of postwar America and the second volume in the Penguin History of the United States series edited by Eric Foner In this momentous work acclaimed labor historian Joshua B Freeman presents an epic portrait of the United States in the latter half of the twentieth century revealing a nation galvanized by change even as conflict seethed within its borders Beginning in 1945 he charts the astounding rise of the labor movement and its pitched struggle with the bastions of American capitalism in the 1940s and 50s untangling the complicated threads between the workers agenda and that of the civil rights and women's movements Through the lens of civil rights the Cold War struggle and the labor movement American Empire teaches us something profound about our past while illuminating the issues that continue to animate American political discourse today Making a New Deal Elizabeth Cohen,2014-11-06 This book examines how it was possible and what it meant for ordinary factory workers to become effective unionists and national political participants by the mid 1930s We follow Chicago workers as they make choices about whether to attend ethnic benefit society meetings or to go to the movies whether to shop in local neighborhood stores or patronize the new A P As they made daily decisions like these they declared their loyalty in ways that would ultimately have political significance When the depression worsened in the 1930s workers adopted new ideological perspectives and overcame longstanding divisions among themselves to mount new kinds of collective action Chicago workers experiences all converged to make them into New Deal Democrats and CIO unionists First printed in 1990 Making a New Deal has become an established classic in American history The second edition includes a new preface by Lizabeth Cohen A Companion to Post-1945 America Jean-Christophe Agnew, Roy Rosenzweig, 2008-04-15 A Companion to Post 1945 America is an original collection of 34 essays by key scholars on the history and historiography of Post 1945 America Covers society and culture people and movements politics and foreign policy Surveys and evaluates the best scholarship on every important era and topic Includes book review section on essential readings The Jobless Future Stanley Aronowitz, 1994 The Jobless Future challenges beliefs in the utopian promise of a knowledge based high technology economy Reviewing a vast body of encouraging literature about the postindustrial age Aronowitz and DiFazio conclude that neither theory history nor contemporary evidence warrants optimism about a technological economic order Instead they demonstrate the shift toward a massive displacement of employees at all levels and a large scale degradation of the labor force As they clearly chart a major change in the nature scope and amount of paid work the authors suggest that notions of justice and the good life based on full employment must change radically as well They close by proposing alternatives to our dying job culture that might help us sustain ourselves and our well being in a science and technology based economic future One alternative discussed is reducing the workday to fewer hours without reducing pay Social Work Intervention in an Economic Crisis Martha Baum, Pamela Twiss, 2014-03-18 With the collapse of the steel industry in the 1980s economic devastation hit the Pittsburgh Pennsylvania region Social Work Intervention in an Economic Crisis strives to deepen understanding of the impact of the economic tragedy in the Pittsburgh region and to present social workers efforts to enhance recovery This case study serves as a model for social workers human service educators and agency personnel public health professionals community organizers policymakers economic strategists and researchers in social work public health sociology anthropology and political science to design and implement human service interventions for similar communities using techniques of action research community organization and demonstration projects Social Work Intervention in an Economic Crisis shows readers relatively simple and highly effective ways of assessing the social economic situation in their given geographical area This allows professionals to be in touch with their surrounding communities and estimate the clientele to be served their particular needs and their abilities to access services Chapters in Social Work Intervention in an Economic Crisis describe the responses of local institutions the roles of informal and formal support networks and the economic devastation inflicted upon individuals households and whole communities To this end Hide Yamatani Lambert Maguire Robin K Rogers and Mary Lou O Kennedy take the socioeconomic pulse of six communities launching a longitudinal monitoring effort that can be replicated elsewhere for long range planning and intervention Martha Baum Barbara K Shore and Kathy Fleissner address the special problems women face Mary Page and Myrna Silverman focus upon the elderly and their families Phyllis D Coontz Judith A Martin and Edward W Sites look at fathers facing altered childrearing and Lambert Maguire and Hide Yamatani discuss youth facing altered economic opportunities With this knowledge in hand readers acquire skills for using action research to assess how economic tragedy affects people s lives mobilizing appropriate actors to engage in intervention learning from community groups and leaders about their concerns to work with them rather than for them recognizing the properties of community cohesion versus fragmentation as they affect efforts of renewal identifying individuals and families suffering most under economic devastation realizing the limits of micro level intervention generating macro policies at the state and federal levels disseminating findings from action research and intervention demonstration efforts Finally Social Work Intervention in an Economic Crisis offers proposals for new societal mechanisms that might reduce the impact of future recessions The findings and policy proposals set forth in this book help households and institutions deal with the effects of economic change which continue to afflict many families and small communities in the 1990s

The Cul-de-Sac

Chicago's Industrial Decline Robert Lewis,2020-12-15 In Chicago s Industrial Decline Robert Lewis charts the city s decline since the 1920s and describes the early development of Chicago s famed and reviled growth machine Beginning in the 1940s and led by local politicians downtown business interest financial institutions and real estate groups place dependent organizations in Chicago implemented several industrial renewal initiatives with the dual purpose of stopping factory closings and attracting new firms in order to turn blighted property into modern industrial sites At the same time a more powerful coalition sought to adapt the urban fabric to appeal to middle class consumption and residential living As Lewis shows the two aims were never well integrated and the result was on going disinvestment and the inexorable decline of Chicago's industrial space. By the 1950s Lewis argues it was evident that the early incarnation of the growth machine had failed to maintain Chicago's economic center in industry. Although larger economic and social forces specifically competition for business and for residential development from the suburbs in the Chicagoland region and across the whole United States played a role in the city's industrial decline, Lewis stresses the deep incoherence of post WWII economic policy and urban planning that hoped to square the circle by supporting both heavy industry and middle to upper class amenities in downtown Chicago.

The End of the Line Kathryn Marie Dudley, 1997-06-23 This volume tells the story of what the 1988 closing of the Chrysler assembly plant in Kenosha, Wisconsin meant to the people who lived in that town. Through interviews with displaced autoworkers and other members of the community it dramatizes the lessons Kenoshans drew from the plant shutdown. This volume tells the story of what the 1988 closing of the Chrysler assembly plant in Kenosha, Wisconsin meant to the people who lived in that company town. Since the early days of the 20th century Kenosha had forged its identity and politics around the interests of the auto industry. When nearly 6000 workers lost their jobs in the shutdown the community faced not only a serious economic crisis but also a profound moral one. In this study Dudley describes the painful often confusing process of change that residents of Kenosha like the increasing number of Americans who are caught in the crossfire of deindustrialization were forced to undergo. Through interviews with displaced autoworkers and Kenosha's community leaders, high school counsellors and a rising class of upwardly mobile professionals, Dudley dramatizes the lessons Kenoshans drew from the plant shutdown.

Rocking the Boat Brigid O'Farrell, 1996 Rocking the Boat is a celebration of strong committed women who helped to build the American labor movement. Through the stories of eleven women from a wide range of backgrounds we experience the turmoil, hardships and accomplishments of thousands of other union women activists through the period spanning the Great Depression, the New Deal, World War II, the McCarthy era, the civil rights movement and the women's movement. These women tell powerful stories that highlight and detail women's many roles as workers, trade unionists and family members. They all faced difficulties in their personal lives, overcame challenges in their unions and individually and collectively helped improve women's everyday working lives.

Maida Springer Kemp came from New York City's Harlem Local 22 of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union to represent the AFL-CIO in Africa. In Chicago, Alice Peurala fought for her job in the steel mill and her place in the steel workers union. Jessie De La Cruz organized farm workers in California. Esther Peterson, organizer, educator and lobbyist, became an advisor to four U.S. presidents. In chapters based on oral history interviews, these women and others provide new perspectives and practical advice for today's working women. They share an idealistic and practical commitment to the labor movement. As Dorothy Haener of the United Auto Workers and a founding member of the National Organization of Women said, "You have to take a look at how to rock the boat. You don't want to spill yourself out if you can avoid it, but sometimes you have to rock the boat. From these women we too learn how to rock the boat."

Voices of Guinness Tim Strangleman, 2019-05-02 Voices of Guinness tells the story of work in the twentieth and early twenty first centuries through the life of one plant the former Guinness brewery at Park Royal West London It reflects on questions of the meaning of work industrial citizenship identity loss deindustrialization and change through powerful oral histories and a wealth of archival and photographic materials

Forced Choices Charles S. Varano, 1999-01-01 What happens to employees when their company decides to close Thousands of workers across America have faced this prospect in the past twenty years but relatively few have chosen to buy the company and operate it as a worker owned concern Forced Choices examines the celebrated case of Weirton West Virginia where steelworkers and area residents fought to save a steelmill community and way of life

Capital Moves Jefferson Cowie, 2019-01-24 Find a pool of cheap pliable workers and give them jobs and soon they cease to be as cheap or as pliable What is an employer to do then Why find another poor community desperate for work This route one taken time and again by major American manufacturers is vividly chronicled in this fascinating account of RCA's half century long search for desirable sources of labor Capital Moves introduces us to the people most affected by the migration of industry and most importantly recounts how they came to fight against the idea that they were simply cheap labor Jefferson Cowie tells the dramatic story of four communities each irrevocably transformed by the opening of an industrial plant From the manufacturer's first factory in Camden New Jersey where it employed large numbers of southern and eastern European immigrants RCA moved to rural Indiana in 1940 hiring Americans of Scotch Irish descent for its plant in Bloomington Then in the volatile 1960s the company relocated to Memphis where African Americans made up the core of the labor pool Finally the company landed in northern Mexico in the 1970s a region rapidly becoming one of the most industrialized on the continent

Not Even Past Thomas J. Sugrue, 2010-04-12 The paradox of racial inequality in Barack Obama's America Barack Obama in his acclaimed campaign speech discussing the troubling complexities of race in America today quoted William Faulkner's famous remark The past isn't dead and buried In fact it isn't even past In Not Even Past award winning historian Thomas Sugrue examines the paradox of race in Obama's America and how President Obama intends to deal with it Obama's journey to the White House undoubtedly marks a watershed in the history of race in America Yet even in what is being hailed as the post civil rights era racial divisions particularly between blacks and whites remain deeply entrenched in American life Sugrue traces Obama's evolving understanding of race and racial inequality throughout his career from his early days as a community organizer in Chicago to his time as an attorney and scholar to his spectacular rise to power as a charismatic and savvy politician to his dramatic presidential campaign Sugrue looks at Obama's place in the contested history of the civil rights struggle his views about the root causes of black poverty in America and the incredible challenges confronting his historic presidency Does Obama's presidency signal the end of race in American life In Not Even Past a leading historian of civil rights race and urban America offers a revealing and unflinchingly honest assessment of the culture and politics of race in the age of Obama and of our prospects for a postracial

America Grand Designs Charles Craypo, Bruce Nissen, 2019-06-07 From the late 1970s through the early 1990s plant closings bitter labor disputes and manufacturing relocations profoundly and often disastrously influenced the lives of workers unions and communities in the Midwest This volume tells the stories implicit in that process Grand Designs The Impact of Corporate Strategies on Workers Unions and Communities presents case studies from throughout the Midwest The contributors look at tire manufacturing in Akron Ohio corn products in Clinton Iowa Wisconsin Steel Company in Chicago an Ingersoll Rand heavy bearings plant in South Bend Indiana a steel foundry in East Chicago Indiana an American Crane subsidiary in St Paul Iowa Beef Processors in Nebraska and the Calumet Project around Gary Indiana Taken together these case studies describe the effective dismantling of much of our nation's postwar productive structure and industrial relations system Beyond documenting the damage that has been done Grand Designs articulates the conditions under which local labor community coalitions can win important victories If they are adequately informed and organized such coalitions can play a crucial part in revising the terms of the national debate over public policy on labor and economic issues

Remembering D. Pollock, 2017-02-28 Drawing on the work of scholars and practitioners such as Augusto Boal Gloria Anzaldúa and Trinh Minh ha these essays advocate oral history and oral history based performance as means to challenge and expand upon traditional ways of transmitting historical knowledge The contributors central concerns are performative aspects of oral history itself and the theatrical or classroom re performance of oral history The essays detail classroom and public pedagogies community based interventions processes of developing interview based performances and the ethical and political implications of oral history as an embodied form of representation The essays collected in this volume present the most current scholarship straddling the rich intersection between oral history and performance and together suggest ways for scholars and performers to use oral history to challenge more traditional modes of knowledge The Way Class Works Lois Weis, 2009-09-10 Since the 1980s the relationship between social class and education has been overshadowed by scholarship more generally targeting issues of race gender and representation Today with the global economy deeply immersed in social inequalities there is pressing need for serious class based analyses of schooling family life and social structure The Way Class Works is a collection of twenty four groundbreaking essays on the material conditions of social class and the ways in which class is produced on the ground in educational institutions and families Written by the most visible and important scholars in education and the social sciences these timely essays explore the production of class in and through the economy family and school while simultaneously interrogating and challenging our understandings of social class as linked to race gender and nation With essays by distinguished scholars and questions for further reflection and discussion The Way Class Works will be an invaluable resource for students and scholars in education sociology and beyond
