Europe and the Management of Globalization Wade Jacoby, Sophie Meunier, 2013-09-13 European politicians often speak of their efforts to manage globalization At one level this is merely a rhetorical device to make globalization more palatable to citizens and prove that policy makers are still firmly in control of their country's fate This volume argues that the advocacy of managed globalization goes beyond rhetoric and actually has been a primary driver of major European Union EU policies in the past twenty years The EU has indeed tried to manage globalization through the use of five major mechanisms 1 expanding policy scope 2 exercising regulatory influence 3 empowering international institutions 4 enlarging the territorial sphere of EU influence and 5 redistributing the costs of globalization These mechanisms are neither entirely novel nor are they always effective but they provide the contours of an approach to globalization that is neither ad hoc deregulation nor old style economic protectionism The recent financial crisis may have seemed initially to vindicate the European efforts to manage globalization but it also represented the limits of such efforts without the full participation of the US and China The EU cannot rig the game of globalization but it can try to provide predictability oversight and regularity with rules that accommodate European interests This book was based on a special issue of Journal of European Public Policy

Financial Management in the European Union Great Britain. National Audit Office, 2009 This report summarises the results of the European Court of Auditors examination of the European Union's accounts for 2007 and progress on the range of initiatives taken forward by the Commission and Member States For the first time the Court provided a positive Statement of Assurance without qualification on the reliability of the Commission's accounts in effect confirming that they give a true and fair view But for the fourteenth successive year the Court did not provide a positive Statement of Assurance on whether the underlying transactions conformed to applicable laws and regulations Cohesion Policy funds which are designed to reduce disparities in the level of development between regions and Member States for example by supporting major infrastructure projects remain the most challenging component Based on its audit work the Court estimates that for expenditure on Cohesion projects at least 11 per cent should not have been reimbursed by the Commission in 2007 This conclusion reflects weakness in controls at Member State level but also the difficulty of implementing complex programmes In the Cohesion Policy area the Commission has increased the rate at which it recovers incorrect payments from Member States from 287 million euros in 2007 to 843 million in September 2008 and it predicts that further corrections will be finalised in Spring 2009 Financial corrections in future years could have an impact on the United Kingdom

Applying Interdisciplinarity to Globalization, Management, Marketing, and Accountancy Science Pavlát, Vladislav, Knihová, Ladislava, Cívín, Lubomír, Halík, Jaroslav, MacGregor Pelikánová, Radka, 2023-10-16. With the world becoming increasingly interconnected and complex, traditional means are no longer sufficient to address complex global issues. Scholars often struggle to navigate the intricate web of interdisciplinary research and theory. This gap in understanding leaves many academics feeling adrift in their pursuit of knowledge, unable to harness the full potential of interdisciplinary collaboration. Applying Interdisciplinarity to Globalization, Management, Marketing, and Accountancy Science offers a comprehensive and up-to-date solution to the obstacles of interdisciplinarity. It meticulously analyzes the theory and methodology of interdisciplinarity as it exists in the most relevant literature and through a detailed examination of four vital disciplines in the applied economy, it compares and contrasts the dynamics of globalization and its reflections within these fields. Furthermore, it uncovers the hidden infrastructures supporting these disciplines and offers practical insights into applying this knowledge in research and practice. This book is an indispensable resource for scholars and educators across diverse disciplines, empowering them to embrace interdisciplinarity with confidence.

Globalization and Governance in the International Political Economy Hacıoğlu, Ümit, 2013-10-31. Law and Diplomacy in the Management of EU-Asia Trade and Investment Relations Chien-Huei Wu, Frank Gaenssmantel, 2019-11-22. This volume fills a gap in the literature regarding questions around the interactive dynamics between law and diplomacy on international trade and investment. It brings together lawyers and political scientists from Europe and Asia in an interdisciplinary effort at tracing the respective roles of law and diplomacy in the relations of the European Union (EU) with its trade and investment partners in Asia. Focusing on trade and investment relations with Asia, the EU presents a particularly interesting case as it has been a strong proponent of a rules-based international economic order for years and a frequent user of the formal procedures established in international treaties in case of disputes. At the same time, it has kept diplomatically active to adjust dispute management and international agreements to the needs and demands of the partners involved. Furthermore, not only is this region of crucial importance due to the presence of both vigorous emerging economies like China, India, and Vietnam, and more established partners like Japan EU Asia relations also present a broad set of economic disputes and recent negotiation efforts analyzed in the contributions to this volume This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of international trade economic law EU politics EU external relations law international relations diplomacy and more broadly to international relations and Asian studies
