Abstract: This study investigated the role of stakeholders in managing secondary school education in the era of COVID 19 for empowerment and job creation in Abia State Nigeria. The study adopted descriptive survey. Two research questions and two hypotheses guided the study. The population of the study was made up of 2927 (1864 government and 1063 private) teachers from 110 secondary schools in Abia State. The sample was made up of 292 teachers. This sample was drawn using stratified random sampling technique. A rating scale was used as the instrument for data collection. A researcher constructed rating scale was titled "Role of stakeholders in managing secondary school education in COVID 19 era (ROSMSSEC)". The rating scale has 16 items in two clusters. It was prepared along likert 4-point scale of rating. The instrument was duly validated by specialists in Educational Administration & Planning and Educational Measurement & Evaluation. Cronbach alpha statistic was used for reliability of the instrument which obtained an index of 0.92. In analyzing the data for the study, mean and standard deviation were used to answer the research questions. The hypotheses were tested using Z-test statistic at a 0.05 level of significance. It was found amongst others that; the level of COVID 19 patients was high due to lack of fund in secondary school for purchase of materials needed to curb the contraction and spread of COVID 19 in Abia State. Based on the findings the following recommendations were made: there should be improvement in parental engagement, integration of technology into education delivery. There should be better emergency preparedness in schools.

Keywords: Role, Stakeholders, managing, secondary school education, COVID 19, empowerment and job creation.

Managing The Secondary School:

Managing the Secondary School Mrs Joan Dean, Joan Dean, 2012-10-12 This new edition of Managing the Secondary School brings up to date the consideration of the tasks and skills of the headteacher which was a feature of the first edition. The book deals with all aspects of the headteachers role including marketing the school and managing the budget. It also deals in some detail with the problems of managing change and with the role of governors and parents in today's schools. Throughout the book Joan Dean considers the implications of the Education Reform Act and the National Curriculum. Managing the Secondary School is essential reading for practising and aspiring headteachers of secondary schools. It will also appeal to school governors, advisers, inspectors and consultants working with secondary schools and to those concerned with the appraisal and training of headteachers. Managing the Secondary School Roy Blatchford, 1985 Staff Development in the Secondary School Chris Day, Roger Moore, 2018-05-11 Originally published in 1986. Those involved in management in schools are being urged to develop their management skills and many courses are developed for this purpose. At the same time many new issues have arisen which require attention from managers in schools. These include staff appraisal, curriculum evaluation and action research. This book examines major topics of present concern in the management of secondary schools. It presents much new thinking on these major problems and reports on particular initiatives. The aim is to help improve practice both by helping trainers focus their courses correctly and by encouraging those involved in school management to approach their work more purposefully. School management is treated from the perspective of the industrial trainer, the Local Education Authority, higher education and the school practitioner. Governance, Management, and Accountability in Secondary Education in Sub-Saharan Africa World Bank, 2008-02-14 Increasingly the role of management and governance is recognized as important for providing and delivering effective services at all levels of education. In view of the growing demand for more and better services at secondary education levels these are crucial issues that must be addressed urgently. Sub-Saharan Africa's secondary education and training systems must become more efficient and more effective. The current unit costs of junior and senior secondary education in most African countries prevent massive expansion of post primary education. This demands a holistic approach to governance and management issues. In parallel there is a demand from civil society and governments for greater accountability. This study aims to present best practices and identify sustainable development plans for expansion and improved quality and efficiency in the delivery of secondary education in Sub-Saharan Africa through better governance, management and accountability. The Art of Middle Management in Secondary Schools Peter Fleming, 2013-12-19 First Published in 2000. The skills required to be an effective middle manager in a secondary school are many and varied but people management skills lie at the heart of getting the best out of both teachers and pupils. Motivating people and building a collaborative team ethos are at the core of effective management. This book is about how middle managers can contribute to raising the quality of education in their schools.

Inside the SMT Mike Wallace, Valerie Hall, 1994 There is a senior management team SMT in almost every secondary school but what do these team members actually do This is the first book to reveal their inside story It reports on research into six SMTs two of which the authors observed over a full year A new cultural and political perspective is used to explore how team members worked together and related to other staff and governors Teamwork is shown to be a high gain high strain approach it offers the potential for effective management especially in coping with multiple reforms but it is difficult to bring off Some problems are linked with a tension between the different status of members within the school management hierarchy and their right to make an equal contribution to the work of the team The authors put forward a series of hypotheses about SMT effectiveness which may be used as a starting point for team improvement efforts This stimulating and carefully argued account is essential reading for all who are interested in the contribution of senior staff in schools
