Resolving Public Conflict E. Franklin Dukes, 1996 Drawing on conflict resolution experience and recent democratic theory Dukes traces the philosophical roots and development of the public conflict resolution field He examines in detail how it has worked in practice in the US and other western democracies

Disputes Resolution in Urban Communities in Contemporary China Jieren Hu, 2020-11-06 This book explains the causes process and results of group disputes in urban communities the empirical experiences from Shanghai in China It explores the means and characteristics of as well as the differences in conflict resolution in various forms of state society relations particularly the ways of dealing with and resolving disputes concerning mass incidents involving government interests in China's current social transformation period It also analyzes how people's mediation organizations interact with the local government when managing and defusing collective disputes Combining the relevant theories and five conflict resolution measurement models created by Blake and Mouton 1964 this book explains the current interaction model and cooperation mechanism between the state and social organizations in China To do so it examines the role of the Lin Le People s Mediation Workroom in dealing with community collective disputes and the respective action strategies and constraints The book argues that the current state social relations in China are not centered on society or the state but on state led social pluralism Managing Community Growth United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science, Space, and Technology. Subcommittee on Investigations and Oversight,1994

Integrated Coastal Management Law Cormac Cullinan,2006-01-01 Integrated coastal management ICM is widely accepted throughout the world as the best approach to dealing with coastal issues The 1990s saw a proliferation of legislative reform processes worldwide This aimed at supporting the implementation of ICM Despite many international environmental treaties declarations and other promises of action the quality of coastal environments continues to deteriorate while the demand for coastal resources has increased in most of the world This publication in its practical guidance will be especially valuable to anyone involved in the development drafting or implementation of a legal or institutional framework to promote ICM It is enhanced by illustrative examples from a range of countries that are at various stages of developing and implementing legislation to promote ICM Protecting Coastal and Wetlands Resources ,1992 Collaborative

Planning for Wetlands and Wildlife Douglas R. Porter,David Salvesen,2013-03-19 Collaborative Planning for Wetlands and Wildlife presents numerous case studies that demonstrate how different communities have creatively reconciled problems between developers and environmentalists It answers questions asked by regulators environmentalists and developers who seek practical alternatives to the existing case by case permitting process and offers valuable lessons from past and ongoing areawide planning efforts Transport Geopolitics Luc Ampleman,2021-09-27 This book provides readers with fresh new theoretical tools to better understand how sociopolitical actors from governmental institutions to ecological NGOs from local residents to multinational companies clash about transport initiatives It questions both the dominant understanding of what is geopolitics and conventional conceptions in transport geography used by transport planners Drawing on a structuralist approach and addressing the capital notion of political control of mobility it demonstrates how transport geopolitics by being more inclusive of all modes of transport and all scales of analysis may help prepare transport diplomacy in a time of critical global and local turbulences It offers a valuable resource for research and teaching in the fields of transport studies land use planning conflict studies human geography and politics presenting insightful theoretical material and concrete transport conflict examples to support teaching about territorial conflicts political governance and transport political geography

Change in Pacific Northwest Coastal Ecosystems Gregory R. McMurray,Robert J. Bailey,1998 Protected Areas and Indigeneous Communities Azra Musavi,2015-09-08 This book deals with protected area people interface in Bori Wildlife Sanctuary and Melghat Tiger Reserve located in Satpura range of Central Indian Highlands These forests are mostly inhabited by Gond Korku and Thatia tribes a small population of agro pastoral community and other backward classes which have moved into these forests from adjoining areas in search of pastures for their large herds of livestock Bori in northern Satpura has moist deciduous forest while Melghat in southern Satpura hills has dry deciduous forest Both protected areas are renowned for tigers as well as for a rich faunal and floral diversity These forests are under increasing anthropogenic pressure due to people living in and around the two protected areas The book looks at three aspects which are a challenge for protected area management One it explores the web of both tribal and non tribal life as the intervention of market economy and increasing population have led to change in the basis of the local subsistence economy Secondly it tries to assess the extent of impact of biotic dependence on the forests of both protected areas Thirdly and most importantly it examines the park people conflicts and their implications for the management of both protected areas

Contested Lands Robert J. Mason,1992 The nation's first and only national reserve the Pinelands of New Jersey is located in the middle of the densely populated urban corridor between New York City and Philadelphia Possessing vast quantities of pure groundwater distinct flora and fauna and a fascinating history of human occupancy and resource exploitation the Pine Barrens is managed by a 15 member commission appointed at the federal state and local level In his discussion of the implementation of the Pinelands Commission's regional plan Robert Mason explores the changing politics of place and the associated conflicts of interest that have emerged The Pinelands program is widely viewed as a land use and regional planning experiment of national significance While the commission is sustained by legislative and gubernatorial support and an absence of well organized public opposition it still has had to accommodate community and rural entrepreneurial interests In order to convey some sense of the social political and economic texture of the Pinelands Mason examines three communities Woodland Township Hamilton Township and Manchester Township The Pinelands experience offers a unique model for the management of valued places across the nation and provides valuable lessons about the human problems that confront ecologically driven planning schemes with human settlement patterns political subdivisions and economic systems Author note Robert J Mason is Assistant Professor of Geography and Urban Studies at Temple University

Social Discourse and Environmental Policy Helen Addams,John L. R. Proops,2000-11-27 As governments and the wider public become increasingly concerned about environmental problems the necessity for competent environmental policies is growing The contributors to this highly original book attempt to demonstrate how the use of Q methodology can result in the development of more effective socially sensitive environmental policy options The book highlights the history of Q methodology a technique for systematically studying the subjectivity of individuals and provides a brief yet comprehensive account of its theory and a detailed guide to the various stages of a Q study The methodology is then applied to explore the discourses concerning the relationship between society and a diverse range of environmental issues including environmental protest civil aviation policy forest policy and land use options

to species and habitat in California from the time of the Gold Rush to the present The author shows how over the course of more than a century scientists and conservationists came to view the fates of endangered species as dependent on the ecological conditions and human activities in the places where those species lived The story begins with the tale of the state s extinct mascot the California grizzly and the conservation movements and laws that followed its disappearance The second half of the book focuses on four high profile endangered species the California condor the desert tortoise the San Joaquin kit fox and the Delta smelt The author offers an account of how Americans developed a civil system in which imperiled species serve as proxies for broader conflicts about the politics of place The book concludes that the challenge for conservationists in the twenty first century will be to expand habitat conservation beyond protected wildlands to build more diverse and sustainable landscapes      Targeting Environmental Priorities in Agriculture ,1995      Land in the American West William G. Robbins,James C. Foster,2011-12-01 Throughout the history of the United States the concepts of land and the West have fired the American imagination and fueled controversy The essays in Land in the American West deal with complex troublesome and interrelated questions regarding land Who owns it Who has access to it What happens when private rights infringe upon the public good or when one ethnic group is pitted against another or when there is a conflict between economic and environmental values Many of these questions have deep historical roots They all have special significance in the modern American West where natural resources are still abundant and large areas of land are federally owned      The Coachella Valley Preserve Yvonne Pacheco Tevis,1987-01-01 This true story is set in the Coachella Valley the desert region best known for Palm Springs California a glamorous and sunny resort for the rich and famous filled with emerald green golf courses lakes condominiums and sunset capped blue mountains Yvonne Tevis here delineates the ongoing intense battle between developers and conservationists over how this precious land should be used Basing her tale around the fight to save the habitat of an endangered species the fringe toed lizard Tevis includes interviews maps illustrations notes and a comprehensive bibliography with valid arguments presented on both sides of the issue A must read for all those concerned with protecting our environment      Proceedings of the National Wetland Symposium ,1988
