My story if story it can be called being an episode in my own early life carries me back to a time when the world and I were better friends than we are likely perhaps ever to be again I was young then I had good health good spirits and tolerably good looks I had lately come into a snug little patrimony which I have long since dissipated and I was in love or fancied myself in love with a charming coquette who afterwards threw me over for a West country baronet with seven thousand a year So much for myself The subject is not one that I particularly care to dwell upon but as I happen to be the hero of my own narrative some sort of self introduction is I suppose necessary To begin then Time seventeen years ago Hour three o clock p m on a broiling cloudless September afternoon Scene a long straight dusty road bordered with young trees a far stretching undulating plain yellow for the most part with corn stubble singularly barren of wood and water sprinkled here and there with vineyards farmsteads and hamlets and bounded in the extreme distance by a low chain of purple hills Place a certain dull unfrequented district in the little kingdom of W rtemberg about twelve miles north of Heilbronn and six south east of the Neckar Dramatis Person myself tall sunburnt dusty in grey suit straw hat knapsack and gaiters In the distance a broad backed pedestrian wielding a long stick like an old English quarter staff Now not being sure that I took the right turning at the cross roads a mile or two back and having plodded on alone all day I resolved to overtake this same pedestrian and increased my pace accordingly He meanwhile unconscious of the vicinity of another traveller kept on at an easy sling trot his head well up his staff swinging idly in his hand a practised pedestrian evidently and one not easily out walked through a long day I gained upon him however at every step and could have passed him easily but as I drew near he suddenly came to a halt disencumbered himself of his wallet and stretched himself at full length under a tree by the wayside Crimes of Horror

Jolly Good Detecting Bruce Shaw,2013-12-19 This book is an appreciation of selected authors who make extensive use of humor in English detective crime fiction Works using humor as an amelioration of the serious have their heyday in the Golden Age of crime writing but they belong also to a long tradition There is an identifiable lineage of humorous writing in crime fiction that ranges from mild wit to outright farce burlesque even slapstick A mix of entertainment with instruction is a tradition in English letters English crime fiction writers of the era circa 1913 to 1940 were raised in the mainstream literary tradition but turned their skills to detective fiction And they are the humorists of the genre This book is not an exhaustive study but an introduction into the best produced by the most capable and enjoyable authors What the humorists seek is to surprise the reader by overturning their expectations using a repertoire of stylistic conceits and motifs recurring incidents devices references Humor has a liberating effect but is concerned too with comic contrast through ugliness and caricature In crime fiction one effect is intellectual pleasure at solving or attempting to solve a puzzle Another is entertainment but with serious undertones
