

Analysis of Reflective Piece

In the reflective piece: "A Broken Childhood", the interactions between the characters brings out several elements of communication. However, only two will be analysed and they are dialectal variation and communicative behaviour.

Throughout the reflective piece different dialectal variation was used by the characters. Miss Joy spoke mainly the acrolect variation (standard English) and one can deduce that Miss Joy spoke that way because her level of educational attainment as seen in this example: "Is that how you speak to an adult little girl?" It should be noted that Miss Joy used the dialect variation when they were angered as seen this example of Miss Joy's speech: "That's the reason why some poison our dog, so some can come in here and thief"! Miss Joy used creole as it is more emotive than the acrolect variation. Nicky spoke only in basilect variation (deep patois) which illustrates that she as a low educational attainment and poor mannerism as seen in this example: "What gal tap mess up di blasted place".

Examples of communicative behaviours were illustrated by the characters in the drama piece. Vocalics was used by Nicky when was calling her daughter as illustrated in this example: "[shouting] "Come back here"!!!! Vocalics is used to denote emotions by the use of pitch, volume and tone. Proxemics was shown by Monique when she ran out of the house crying. Monique used space to show that didn't want to be around her mother. Monique also used body language to show emotions when her mom was cursing her, gestures such as crying, screaming, throwing down the broom and running out of the house shows her emotional hurt and resentment towards her mother.

What Job's Friends Could Have Done Stephen

Torr, 2025-08-19 In a world that is becoming more aware of the impact of traumatic experiences on the lives of individuals the church is faced with the challenge of examining how to do life well together in a way that helps rather than hinders those who are living in the aftermath of trauma Beginning with the question of what Job's friends could have done differently to help Job in the midst of his suffering the present work draws on Kevin Vanhoozer's theodramatic model and the Object Relations Theory of British pediatrician and psychoanalyst Donald Winnicott to provide biblically rooted guidance for developing a trauma sensitive church In bringing these perspectives together exploration takes place into what it means to be made in the image of God in the theodrama and what the church's role is in enabling the christological form of this image to take shape in each individual particularly in the aftermath of individual trauma The work of Winnicott provides fresh insight into how this development might be facilitated by the church within the theodrama of salvation

The Middle

Class in Neo-Urban India Smriti Singh, 2023-11-17 This book critically examines the new middle class and the emergence of neo urban spaces in India within the context of rapid urbanisation and changing socio spatial dynamics in urban areas in the country It looks at class as a socio spatial category where class distinction is tied to and manifests itself through the space of the city With a detailed ethnographic study of the national capital region of Delhi especially Gurugram it explores themes such as class subjectivity morality and social beliefs life inside gated enclaves family and everyday practices of class reproduction and the process of othering and exclusivity among others Class identity vulnerability and hierarchy influence the actions and motivations of the middle class The author studies the nuances and socio political fractures stemming from the complex dynamic of class caste religion and gender that manifest in these neo urban spaces and how these shape the city and community Rich in empirical resources this book will be of interest to scholars and researchers of sociology political sociology ethnography urban sociology urban studies and South Asian studies
