Forthcoming Books Rose Army,2001-06 American Rifleman ,1966 The Essential M1 Garand Jim

Thompson,2020-02-25 The first self loading rifle to see widespread military use the robust M1 Garand survived the tests of battle from World War II to Vietnam and it remains a favorite among competition shooters and collectors to this day In this heavily illustrated practical history author Jim Thompson a longtime M1 shooter and collector tells the complete story of the rifle s development look feel and function A thoroughly researched overview of the M1 Garand goes beyond industrial histories and provides background on manufacturers and stateside sources as well as discussing ammunition and accuracy Detailed photo sections present Early and World War II rifles World War II and postwar rebuilds including rare postwar rifles from the US and Italy Special purpose rifles and rarities including sniper match and competition rifles plus the T26 Spinoffs and derivatives including the M14 M1A and BM 59 In addition reprinted and heavily annotated military and National Match manuals an updated troubleshooting chart and a section on reloading provide valuable functional data and rules of thumb with the shooter in mind Collectors will benefit from an extensive parts compendium The final part of the book dedicated to the enjoyment and maintenance of the M1 addresses some common questions about the rifle and offers detailed instruction on some expert procedures for maintaining and smoothing this wartime classic U.S. Carbine, Caliber .30, M1 Field Manual War Department,2013-10 The United States Carbine Caliber 30 M1 is a lightweight semi automatic longarm that became a standard firearm for the U S military during World War II It was widely used by U S and foreign military police forces and has also been a popular civilian firearm The first M1 carbines were delivered in mid 1942 with priority given to troops in Europe The M1 was highly praised for its small size light weight and firepower especially by troops who were unable to use a full size rifle as their primary weapon The 30 Carbine cartridge was adequate in both muzzle energy and muzzle velocity The 30 Carbine had a round nose 110 gr bullet in contrast to the spitzer bullet designs found in most full power rifle cartridges of the WWII era A total of over 6 5 million M1 carbines and variants were manufactured making it the most popular small arm for the American military during World War II Created in 1942 this field manual reveals a great deal about the M1 s design and capabilities Intended as a manual for those charged with operation it details many strategies for attaining outstanding marksmanship Originally labeled restricted this manual was declassified long ago and is here reprinted in book form Care has been taken to preserve the integrity of the text Instructions in Rifle and Carbine Firing for the United States Army Stanhope English Blunt,1885 The M1 Garand Leroy Thompson,2012-05-20 The M1 Garand gave the US infantryman a marked edge during World War II It shot faster and further than enemy infantry rifles and hit harder No less an authority on killing the enemy than General George S Patton called the Garand The greatest battle implement ever devised At a time when opposing forces were armed with bolt action rifles US troops had a highly reliable self loader The eight round clips which were used to load the M1 Garand were however viewed with mixed emotions by the troops on the ground Some Army and Marine Corps troops allegedly felt that the distinctive twang as the Garand s clip was ejected when empty alerted the enemy that the soldiers were reloading and resulted in an attack But the Garand became the defining mankiller of the war despite its weight and magazine problems and many US combat veterans consider it one of the key reasons they survived the war

Instructions in Rifle and Carbine Firing for the United States Army Stanhope English Blunt, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1885 edition Excerpt PART IV CHAPTER I Targets 375 The simplest method of determining the proficiency of the soldier at any time is to divide the target into various divisions and to give to hits in these divisions a value constant for all points in any one space but increasing as the division lies nearer the central point of the target This method gives a sufficiently accurate expression for the results of the soldier s firing 376 As the targets used by the armies of different foreign nations are widely dissimilar both in the shape and the number and size of their various divisions it is not possible even if it were considered desirable to so arrange the targets for our service that any comparison can be instituted between the practice of our soldiers and those of more than any one foreign country It therefore seems preferable to select the shape and proportions suggested by the natural variations of the arm by the average degree and direction of the proficiency desired from and attainable by the soldier and by the distances considered sufficient for his instruction 377 The limited amount of ammunition and time available for practice have necessitated the selection of certain ranges for the soldier s instruction and the omission of others and while for many reasons it would be preferable to adopt for each of the chosen distances its appropriate target the additional complication and the added labor and expense that would result make it more desirable to employ the same target for at least two ranges 378 For the short range practice at 200 and 300 yards and for the instruction of the recruit at 100 yards one target will therefore be used For practice at the mid ranges 500 and 600 yards another target and for the longer ranges
