Manual Of Psychology:

A Manual of Psychology George Frederick Stout, C. A. Mace, Robert Henry Thouless, 1945 A Manual of Psychology George Frederick Stout, 1921 A Manual of Psychology George Frederick Stout, 1924 A Manual of Psychology George Frederick Stout, 1947 A Student's Manual of Psychology Friedrich Kirchner, 2015-06-12 Excerpt from A Student's Manual of Psychology This Manual attempts to present Psychology to educated persons more particularly to students examiners and teachers in a popular though not superficial manner My aim has been to make the reader thoroughly acquainted both with the present state of psychological investigation and with the difficulties of the individual problems but any one who wishes to pursue the subject further will find suggestive hints in my numerous references to the literature of the science My point of view is neither one sidedly empirical nor purely spiritualistic On the former view Psychology has nothing to do with the Soul on the latter the body is the mere reflex of the mind In opposition to the former view I have discussed at length the nature of the Soul its origin and future whilst I have diverged from the latter in trying to estimate the results of Anthropology and Physiology About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works A Manual of Psychology J. N. Sinha, 1989 Manual Of Psychology Sinha, J N, 1974 Experimental Psychology Edward Bradford Titchener, 1901 A Manual of Psychology George Frederick Stout, 2015-06-16 Excerpt from A Manual of Psychology Psychology as he does riders in Euclid It is true that there are students who cannot advance so far from lack of natural endowment But even for them a treatment full enough to be interesting and so rememberable is better than arid and dogmatic statements which have to be read over feverishly the day before an examination in order that they may not slip out of the mind Certainly the teacher who needs Psychology for educational purposes would do much better to leave the subject alone altogether than to learn it in a merely external way My greatest debt here as elsewhere is to my teacher Professor James Ward In treating the special sensations I have found the fourth volume of Professor Foster's Text Book of Physiology very useful The special chapters on Light Sensation and Sound Sensation are abbreviated and adapted with modifications from Professor Ebbinghaus Grundz ge der Psychologie In general I have found much help in the writings of James Baldwin Ladd Royce and Lloyd Morgan My proofs have been read by Mr J Welton Lecturer in Education in the Yorkshire College Victoria University by Professor J S Mackenzie of the University College of South Wales and by Mr M C W Irvine Mental and Moral Science Tutor in the University Correspondence College I have found their services invaluable and in particular I feel that the book owes much to the suggestions of Mr Welton My
