The Fullness of Time Matthew S. Champion, 2017-11-13 Over the course of the fifteenth century the Low Countries transformed Europe's economic, political, and cultural life. Innovative and influential cultural practices emerged across the region in flourishing courts, towns, religious houses, guilds, and confraternities. Whether in visual culture, music, devotional practice, or communal rituals, the thriving cultures of the Low Countries wrestled with time both through explicit measurement and reflection and in the rhythms of social and religious life. This book offers a deeper understanding of how time was structured and experienced by different constituencies through a series of detailed readings of diverse cultural objects and practices ranging from woodcuts and painted altarpieces to early print books and to the use of polyphony in the liturgy. Individual chapters are devoted to life in the university towns of Louvain and Ghent, the liturgical rituals at Cambrai Cathedral, and the rich pageantry that marked the courts of Philip the Good and the new Burgundian rulers. What emerges is a complex temporal landscape in which devotional and secular practices and experiences merged into a new fullness of time.

The Medieval Calendar Year Bridget Ann Henisch, 1999 Henisch, an independent scholar, focuses on High Middle Ages renditions of the Labors of the Months, a pictorial calendar convention that depicted the traditional cycle of the year revolving around seasonal activities on the land. She examines how artists chose to depict the cycle and the ways in which the conventions and assumptions of art styled the reality of agricultural drudgery into far prettier images. Fine color and b/w illustrations from manuscripts, particularly the Book of Hours.

Liturgical Feasts and Seasons Thomas Merton, 2022-11-09 This critical edition makes available for the first time Thomas Merton's novitiate conferences on liturgy. Though dating from the period just before the liturgical reforms of Vatican II, Merton's commentaries remain pertinent for their insights on his own commitment to this central dimension of Christian life, on his work introducing students to the patterns that would mark their lives as monks, and on the perennial meaning of the key events of the liturgical year. The thoroughly annotated text is preceded by an extensive introduction situating this material in the context of Merton's lifelong writing on liturgy. As Merton's former student Br. Paul Quenon writes in his foreword: "Nowhere in all of Merton's writings can one find such an extended demonstration of the hermeneutical approach he took in commenting on Scripture. This was focused intensely on finding the meaning Scripture had for our life in God. These notes take us into one man's lifetime of reflection and seasoned experience of the Church Year."

The Jewish Calendar Controversy of 921/2 CE Sacha Stern, 2019-09-02 In the year 921/2 the Jewish leaders of Palestine and Babylonia disagreed on how to calculate the calendar. This led the Jews of the entire Near East to celebrate Passover and the other festivals through two years on different dates. The controversy was major, but it became forgotten until its late 19th-century rediscovery in the Cairo Geniza. Faulty editions of the texts in the following decades led to much misunderstanding about the nature of leadership and the aftermath of the controversy. In this book, Sacha Stern re-edits the texts, completely discovers many new Geniza sources, and challenges the historical consensus. This book sheds light on early medieval Rabbanite leadership and controversies and on the processes that eventually led to the standardization of the medieval Jewish calendar The Crisis of the 14th Century Martin Bauch, Gerrit Jasper Schenk, 2019-12-16 Pre modern critical interactions of nature and society can best be studied during the so called Crisis of the 14th Century While historiography has long ignored the environmental framing of historical processes and scientists have over emphasized nature's impact on the course of human history this volume tries to describe the at times complex modes of the late medieval relationship of man and nature The idea of teleconnection borrowed from the geosciences describes the influence of atmospheric circulation patterns often over long distances It seems that there were teleconnections in society too So this volume aims to examine man environment interactions mainly in the 14th century from all over Europe and beyond It integrates contributions from different disciplines on impact perception and reaction of environmental change and natural extreme events on late Medieval societies For humanists from all historical disciplines it offers an approach how to integrate written and even scientific evidence on environmental change in established and new fields of historical research For scientists it demonstrates the contributions scholars from the humanities can provide for discussion on past environmental changes
