Painting Painters How To Look At A Pic:

PAINTING AND PAINTERS HOW TO LOOK AT A PICTURE LIONELLO VENTURI, 1945      The Collected Essays and Criticism, Volume 2 Clement Greenberg, 1986 Clement Greenberg 1909 1994 champion of abstract expressionism and modernism of Pollock Mir and Matisse has been esteemed by many as the greatest art critic of the second half of the twentieth century and possibly the greatest art critic of all time On radio and in print Greenberg was the voice of the new American painting and a central figure in the postwar cultural history of the United States Greenberg first established his reputation writing for the Partisan Review which he joined as an editor in 1940 He became art critic for the Nation in 1942 and was associate editor of Commentary from 1945 until 1957 His seminal essay Avant Garde and Kitsch set the terms for the ongoing debate about the relationship of modern high art to popular culture Though many of his ideas have been challenged Greenberg has influenced generations of critics historians and artists and he remains influential to this day

How to Look at Pictures Sir Robert Clermont Witt, 1906      Paintings and Sculptures: Where Do We Look First? Magali Seille, Zoi Kapoula, 2023-05-16 The book presents three studies in which eye tracking data were collected at the Musée des Beaux Arts in Rouen in June and July 2013 Overall the results of those three studies highlight the knowledge gained from the analysis of the very first saccade in a museum context when people look at paintings and statues The first study analyzes how viewers orient their first saccade on paintings This study shows that in a museum the first saccade is attracted toward the center of paintings This attraction toward the paintings center is found in all the subjects groups that we have studied Noteworthy this effect is significantly less pronounced in individuals who never visit museums It is among amateurs who often visit museums that the center attracts the most the first saccade Among experts painters or art history teachers and to a lesser extent among amateurs the pictorial composition largely determines the orientation of the first saccade We indeed found that as soon as the first saccade experts orient their gaze toward the main subject This phenomenon seems to be explained by the fact that experts immediately orient their gaze here measured as the first saccade toward the paintings location conveying the most meaning It can either be the center or a peripheral area depending on whether the paintings most meaningful subject is located centrally or peripherally The second study shows that the center does not attract the first saccade in 5 year old children This behavior appears later in 8 to 10 year old children However noticeably the 8 10 year old children orient significantly less frequently their first saccade toward the paintings center as adults do and this is also true when one considers non expert adult viewers The results of the third study focus on statues and reveal a very different oculomotor behavior Indeed rather than looking at the center statues viewers exhibit a clear tendency to saccade first at the statues contours This stands in contrast with the behavior that we observe with paintings Our study concludes that statues trigger a specific oculomotor behavior The latter appears to be mostly driven by the physical presence that stone bodies incarnate The movement and the climax of this movement that sculptors manage to convey thus turn out to attract the gaze

in a unique fashion The book concludes that the first saccade is a powerful indicator of the oculomotor behavior that greatly improves our comprehension of the unique relationship between a viewer and artworks
