The Paintings of Eugène Delacroix Lee Johnson, Eugène Delacroix, 2002 Lee Johnson's catalogue raisonné of Delacroix's paintings published in three instalments of two volumes each from 1981 to 1989 has become the point of reference for all subsequent Delacroix scholarship its authority is absolute and it is unlikely ever to be superseded Its unparalleled contribution has been universally recognised and in France it is considered the definitive work on the subject The Fourth Supplement takes into account the numerous findings which have emerged since the Third Supplement was published in 1993 It contains not only relevant information from the recently discovered archive from the descendants of Delacroix's heir and valuable new documentary material but also many new paintings of which a significant number are illustrated As the world authority on Delacroix Lee Johnson is regularly consulted by dealers and collectors alike this supplement makes an invaluable addition to an already invaluable catalogue A reprint of the Third Supplement currently only available as part of the reprinted two volume set of Volumes III and IV is also included

The Paintings of Eugène Delacroix Lee Johnson, 1989-01 These final volumes in Lee Johnson's prize winning catalogue discuss all of Delacroix's public decorations in relation to the artist's preliminary drawings and oil sketches Johnson offers a full history from conception to completion and in the case of the Hôtel de Ville provides an unmatched comprehensive analysis based on unused surviving evidence Placing each scheme in the context of the building or refurbishment project which gave rise to the commission he sheds new light on questions of iconography development of programs literary and visual influences technique critical fortunes and restorations The book also includes many oil sketches and drawings that have not been previously illustrated in books and discusses and reproduces easel paintings that have emerged since the earlier volumes were published

Delacroix's Moroccans Jennifer Olmsted, 2025-04-08 The Women of Algiers in Their Apartment is arguably Eugène Delacroix's best known work from his trip to Morocco in 1832 and the attention scholars have paid to it has obscured a crucial fact about Delacroix's Moroccan subjects most of his paintings of North Africa depict men rather than women After serving as a diplomat's companion on a mission to Morocco Delacroix went on to devote over three quarters of his massive North African oeuvre to the military prowess effective leadership equestrian virtuosity and elegant dress of Moroccan men Using the evidence of his writings sketches and paintings Olmsted argues that rather than embodying a typical colonialist fantasy Delacroix's paintings of Moroccan men instead show his subjects as models of heroic masculinity and political sovereignty a position that ran counter to prevailing French attitudes toward North Africans In this way Delacroix's Moroccans intervenes in the discourse of imperialism to examine the multiple heterogeneous features of cultural response and provides nuanced readings of the artist's work that support the idea that European constructions of non-European cultures were not monolithic Olmsted's multifaceted analysis creates a powerful and original understanding of Delacroix's Moroccan oeuvre and a counternarrative to the colonialist imagery of his era Through close attention to Delacroix

and the Greek War of Independence and the profound influence of his voyage to North Africa in 1832 It brings to life his relationships with his contemporaries ranging from the painters Pierre Narcisse Gu rin and Antoine Jean Gros to Gustave Courbet as well as his exploration of literary historical and biblical themes his writing in personal journals and his triumphant exhibition at the Exposition Universelle of 1855 Richly illustrated and encompassing the entire range and diversity of his art from grand paintings to intimate drawings Delacroix illuminates how this intrepid figure changed the course of European painting by heeding a call for the liberty of art Exiled in Modernity David O'Brien,2018-05-03 Notions of civilization and barbarism were intrinsic to Eug ne Delacroix s artistic practice he wrote regularly about these concepts in his journal and the tensions between the two were the subject of numerous paintings including his most ambitious mural project the ceiling of the Library of the Chamber of Deputies in the Palais Bourbon Exiled in Modernity delves deeply into these themes revealing why Delacroix s disillusionment with modernity increasingly led him to seek spiritual release or epiphany in the sensual qualities of painting While civilization implied a degree of control and the constraint of natural impulses for Delacroix barbarism evoked something uncontrolled and impulsive Seeing himself as part of a grand tradition extending back to ancient Greece Delacroix was profoundly aware of the wealth and power that set nineteenth century Europe apart from the rest of the world Yet he was fascinated by civilization s chaotic underbelly In analyzing Delacroix s art and prose David O Brien illuminates the artist s effort to reconcile the erudite tradition bound aspects of painting with a desire to reach viewers in a more direct unrestrained manner Focusing chiefly on Delacroix s musings about civilization in his famous journal his major mural projects on the theme of civilization and the place of civilization in his paintings of North Africa and of animals O Brien links Delacroix s increasingly pessimistic view of modernity to his desire to use his art to provide access to a more fulfilling experience With more than one hundred illustrations this original astute analysis of Delacroix and his work explains why he became an inspiration for modernist painters over the half century following his death Art historians and scholars of modernism especially will find great value in O Brien s work Eugene Delacroix Eugène Delacroix,Margret Stuffmann,Norbert Miller,Karlheinz Stierle,2008 Books in Print Supplement ,1994
