Putting Policy Into Practice:

Urban Policy in Practice Tim Blackman, 2013-01-11 Urban Policy and Practice is a practical and critical guide to urban policy in contemporary Britain. The book covers a range of topics including Quality and consumerism in the public sector, Community development, Public Health, Environmental issues, Local intervention in the creation of skills and jobs. Case studies are drawn from housing, planning, the social services, economic development and local government finance. Throughout the concern is for a clear analysis of corporate strategies, democratic control and sustainable development. An International Perspective on Wetland Rehabilitation W.J. Streever, 1999-07-31 Bill Streever, author of Bringing Back the Wetlands and numerous technical articles about wetland restoration and creation, worked for two years to bring together this collection of papers. Authors ranging from private landowners to government managers to scientists present regional overviews, case studies and discussions of various issues. Regional overviews cover areas as small as the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands to areas as large as Australia and Africa. Case studies range from relatively small projects such as rehabilitation of damage caused by wheel ruts in the high arctic to much larger projects such as attempts to rehabilitate thousands of hectares of Northern Territory wetlands in Australia. Seedbank, ecology, economics, remote sensing, community involvement, the role of the wetland consulting industry and other issues are discussed. In an effort to synthesize information from around the world, Joy Zedler presents a model that allows comparison of projects and may lead to better predictability of project outcomes. In An International Perspective on Wetland Rehabilitation, authors describe planting, engineered structures, prescribed flooding, excavation and other rehabilitation methods from Israel to New Zealand to the Netherlands and elsewhere. For the first time, one volume offers an impression of the magnitude and diversity of the field of wetland rehabilitation around the globe. Learning Disability Policy and Practice Valerie Williams, 2017-09-16 Highlighting examples of positive evidence-based practice throughout, this book explores working with people with learning disabilities at all life stages. With contributions from people with learning disabilities and their families, its person-centred approach illustrates how policy can be translated into practice with life-changing consequences. Deservingness in Welfare Policy and Practice Laura Tarkiainen, 2022-09-30 This book discusses and illustrates how deservingness can be approached as a discursively and rhetorically accomplished phenomenon having varied empirical consequences with regard to welfare, poverty, class and care arrangements. Providing a thorough analysis of how deservingness representations are generated in the twenty-first century by focusing on the analysis of discourse and rhetoric of policymakers, reality TV participants, frontline workers and unemployed individuals, it shows that different actors actively participate in constructing representations of deservingness through which a variety of political, practical and social implications and objectives are achieved and performed. The book addresses key themes such as: What kinds of rhetorical and discursive tactics can be associated with undeservingness? How is deservingness accomplished as a speech act? How do different actors such as policymakers, reality TV programme participants frontline workers and individual citizens participate in constructing un deservingness What kind of practical implications and consequences deservingness representations have for policy making frontline work and research This book will be of interest to all scholars and students of social policy social work sociology social psychology political science and media studies Policy, Provision and Practice for Special Educational Needs and Disability Peter

Wood,2021-12-30 This book showcases the diverse nature of policy provision and practice for special educational needs and disability SEND across different international settings Situated across a backdrop of varied international policies relating to inclusion the book offers insights into the rhetoric of SEND policy and practice across a range of settings to contribute to our understanding of SEND provision It explores the complexities concerns and challenges experienced by staff pupils parents and carers in contemporary education settings Chapters draw on empirical research and are structured around four parts special education needs and disability within policy stakeholder perceptions and experiences of SEND provision meeting the needs of SEND children and moving towards inclusive practice The volume will challenge thought stimulate critique and provoke debate in the field of special educational needs both locally and globally and will be of interest to researchers and postgraduate students in the field of inclusive education special needs education and comparative education Public

Analysis John Pinkerton,Kathryn Higgins,2018-02-05 This title was first published in 2000 This book provides an exploration of the link between individualized project evaluation and policy analysis The conceptual and legislative frameworks which contextualize family support are explored in full By drawing on existing literature and examining the political and legislative aspects of family support the book aims to provide in one volume accessible and up to date information and discussion of key developments within family support in the UK and internationally as well as within Northern Ireland where the research is set Five family support settings are selected for close examination by the research and the key evaluation questions applied The book details the methodology employed and explores exactly how the settings were organized for family support Additionally the book seeks to identify needs in the context of family support across the range of settings by examining indicators of potential need Services appropriate to family support were also analyzed across the range of settings Finally the book reviews the settings against criteria for the evaluation and development of projects considered to be family support

The SEND Code of Practice 0-25 Years Rona Tutt,Paul Williams,2015-06-18 How have you found the changes brought about by the new SEND Code of Practice 0 25 years 2014 This book is the ultimate guide to making sure that you are not only meeting the requirements but are improving outcomes for children and young people as well Written for all professionals working in the field it covers The broader Children and Families Act 2014 The role of the local authority Guidance on all the key changes that school leaders SENCO s and staff are concerned about Case studies of settings across the 0 25 age range including maintained schools academies free schools and specialist and alternative provision Whether you work in education health or social care or are training to do so this book will genuinely improve your provision and practice for children and young people with SEND Evidence and Knowledge for Practice Tony Evans, Antony Evans, Mark Hardy, 2010-05-03 Evidence and knowledge are fundamental in professional practice A key skill for social workers is understanding how to use the range of sources available This book recognizes and builds on the complex nature of social work practice Community Mental Health Graham Thornicroft, Atalay Alem, Robert E. Drake, Hiroto Ito, Jair Mari, Peter McGeorge, R. Tara, Maya Semrau, 2011-09-09 There are wide inconsistencies between and even within countries in how community orientated care is defined and interpreted The analysis presented in this book take as a starting point an evidence based balanced care model in which services are provided in community settings close to the populations served with hospital stays being reduced as far as possible usually located in acute wards in general hospitals The surprising conclusion from the research is that the same problems arise in all countries regardless of resource status and thus the recommendations of this book apply to mental health provision everywhere This book reviews the implementation of community orientated care using the balanced care model It summarizes the steps obstacles and mistakes that have been encountered in the implementation of community mental health care worldwide and presents guidelines on how to avoid them It proposes realistic and achievable recommendations for the development and implementation of community orientated mental health care over the next ten years These guidelines will be of practical use to psychiatrists and other mental health and public health practitioners at all levels worldwide including policy makers commissioners funders non governmental organisations service users and carers A core message of the book is that the mental health sector will more powerfully advocate for better services in future through strong and unified alliances especially with powerful representation from consumer service user and carer groups Community orientated care draws on a wide range of practitioners providers care and support systems both professional and non professional though particular components may play a larger or lesser role in different settings depending on the local context and the available resources especially trained staff Research by a WPA task force has demonstrated that most of the challenges are common and global but with local variations The book is therefore relevant to psychiatrists and mental health workers in developed countries who are trying to deliver better health care on reduced budgets and for those in the developing economies who are in the position to modernise their mental health care It provides clear concise guidance on policy and practice decisions learning from what has and has not worked in regions in the world The book contains many tables documenting the evidence supported by an essential reference list and a Key Points summary for each chapter Highly Commended in the Psychiatry section of the 2012 BMA Book Awards

The Civil Sphere in Canada Jeffrey C. Alexander, Mervyn Horgan, 2025-05-15 When activists advocates victims of injustice and ordinary citizens seek to advance or block social justice and cohesion they draw on morally charged ideals But the wellsprings of solidarity in a society as diverse as Canada are complex and mutable The Civil Sphere in Canada analyzes the shifting meanings we attach to key social actors activities and institutions to reveal the dynamics of inclusion and exclusion that animate Canadian society Applying Jeffrey Alexander s groundbreaking civil sphere theory to Indigenous settler relations media scandals multiculturalism urban planning and personal relations contributors demonstrate that transformations in shared meaning must precede legislative and institutional change Profoundly harmful behaviours such as cultural appropriation sexual misconduct and even genocide may pass as routine for years before the public decides they are unacceptable breaches of civil order This superb collection ushers Canadian voices into a burgeoning international debate about the role of the civil sphere in effecting social justice

Community Sport Coaching Ben Ives, Paul Potrac, Laura Gale, Lee Nelson, 2021-10-20 In many Western nations community sport coaches occupy a central role in supporting the physical health mental wellbeing and wider social development of individuals and communities However there is no existing academic textbook that examines the policy contexts in which their work is located or indeed the challenges and opportunities that are an inherent feature of their everyday practice Bringing together an international team of leading researchers in sport policy sport development sport pedagogy and sport coaching as well as some of the best emerging talents this book is the first to critically consider a range of policy and practice issues directly connected to community sport coaching Comprehensive timely and cutting edge no other text brings together in one place such a depth and breadth of scholarly material addressing this important field of endeavour This book is an essential resource for educators students practitioners and policy makers concerned with community sport coaching globally

Designing Education Policy for Sub-Saharan African Countries Elizabeth Bifuh-Ambe, 2025-01-13 Designing Education Policy for Sub Saharan African Countries is the culmination of five years of extensive research and analysis of global educational systems as they compare with the challenges and opportunities in Sub Saharan Africa with a lens on Southern Cameroons As African youths demonstrate purpose and a desire for sovereignty and self governance quality education remains critical in realizing these aspirations Drawing from over 35 years of experience as an educator on various continents Elizabeth Bifuh Ambe courageously confronts the complex interactions of education with colonialism and other systems that perpetuate inequalities within the continent She highlights the transformative power of education as a source of cultural pride and a conduit for socio economic development that is essential if Africa must break free from historical patterns of dependency in the ongoing fight for genuine independence

Juggling Work and Care Judith Phillips, Miriam Bernard, Minda Chittenden, 2002 The emphasis on work life balance has traditionally focused on childcare yet there is increasing evidence that the issue of supporting working carers of older adults is becoming significant for employers This report examines how working carers in public sector organisations combine their roles and responsibilities as employees and carers The report describes the demographic and policy context of juggling work and family life and details the policies and practices adopted to assist employees with caring responsibilities The awareness use and benefit to employee carers of such policies and practices are highlighted through a series of interviews with carers and managers Policy and practice issues are also discussed Family and Work series This major new series of reports explores the impact of work on families and examines the way in which employers respond in policy and practice This series is aimed at policy makers in central and local government managers in business academics students and professionals with an interest in human resource management and industrial relations and all those with an interest in work and family life For other titles in this series please follow the series link from the main catalogue

Housing Policy and the Housing System Alan Murie, Pat Niner, Christopher Watson, 2025-11-18 In the 1970s it was widely recognised that our planners and administrators were dealing not with a homogenous housing market but with a complex of housing sectors and

sub markets with different locations physical and social characteristics tenures and costs But although factual information was widely available from the Census and other official sources our understanding of the true nature of the British housing system and the relationships at work within it had remained inadequate Originally published in 1976 this book sets out by careful examination of the complexities of the system to improve that understanding and to discuss the implications for policy in the differing roles played by central and local government developers builders the building societies and the voluntary housing movement The book is divided into three parts The first describes and classifies the different household types identifying their various characteristics such as income social class and stage in the family cycle and their dwellings It examines the process of household movement and discusses various explanatory approaches to housing Part Two describes in detail the three main tenure sectors in Britain and emphasizes the opportunities and constraints on access to housing Not only is tenure of profound institutional political and legal importance it is also of great significance in the lives of individual households Part Three analyses the objectives of housing policy and considers the nature of housing policy in Britain at the time Factors that would lead to a more humane and effective policy are assessed and discussed The authors from the Centre for Urban and Regional Studies at the University of Birmingham worked for three years on the SSRC Housing Systems Research Programme They brought to this study a wealth of experience in applied social and policy orientated research and were uniquely qualified to examine housing policy and practice in Britain An important book which would have been of vital interest to all those concerned with contemporary urban and social problems at the time

Neoliberalism and Public Education Finance Policy in Canada Wendy Poole,Vicheth Sen,Gerald Fallon,2021-12-28 This book uses a multi dimensional conceptual framework to demonstrate how neoliberal forces have been manifested through changes to K 12 public education finance policy in British Columbia Canada between 2001 and 2015 The text offers in depth critical policy analysis to illustrate how the public education system has been impacted by the emergence of a hybrid model of public private funding By examining the impacts of this neoliberalized model in which school districts must compete for public funding and engage in for profit activities the book highlights emerging financial inequalities exacerbated inequities for students increased entrepreneurialism closer alignment of administrators subjectivities with a managerial approach to educational leadership and an illusion of local autonomy Ultimately the text makes powerful contributions by calling attention to detrimental processes of neoliberalization marketization and privatization within public education as well as the managerialization of educational leadership This text will benefit researchers academics educators and educational leaders with an interest in the politics of education policy and finance school district leadership international and comparative education and the sociology of education
