Promoting Healthy Aging Across the Lifespan

Elena Carrillo-Alvarez, Miriam Rodriguez-Monforte, Jordi Vilaró, Katherine Simone McGilton, 2024-12-26 Worldwide there is a generalized trend toward aged societies Between 2015 and 2050 the proportion of the world's population over 60 years will nearly double from 12% to 22% As life expectancy continues to increase and natality rates lower not only the composition of countries will change but also its health landscape However an increased life expectancy does not necessarily mean a healthy life In most high income countries more than 20% of those years are lived in ill health due to chronic conditions caused by non communicable diseases which compromises functional ability and well being key components of healthy aging In this way not only people s lives but also societal structures are being affected Based on the life course approach to healthy aging aging starts from conception In this regard the promotion of healthy aging requires preventive strategies that enhance capacities during growth and development maintain them for as long as possible after maturity and slow down their rate of decline Moreover considering healthy aging across the lifespan entails focusing on different factors life opportunities and choices that might significantly influence health status lifestyle as well as health and social inequalities in older age and challenges the focus of most research on the topic which exclusively investigates the effect of influences operating in the later stages of life Health Services Reports ,1992 Public Health Reports ,1992 The Definitive Guide to Addiction Interventions Louise Stanger, Lee Weber, 2018-09-14 Written for a broad audience of medical and behavioral healthcare professionals The Definitive Guide to Addiction Interventions A Collective Strategy introduces clinicians to best practices in addiction interventions and bridges the gap between the theory and practice of successful intervention Synthesizing decades of fieldwork Louise Stanger explores the framework for successful interventions to change what they look like in action and how to adjust approach by population and Lee Weber serves as editor The authors summarize and compare intervention models in use today and explain the use of family mapping and individual portraiture as clinical tools The text also teaches clinicians to troubleshoot common situations as they help move clients toward positive life decisions Practical ready to use clinical tools follow the text in downloadable worksheet form
