Fundamentals of Technical Services Management Sheila S. Intner,Peggy Johnson,2008 The processes for acquiring cataloging and preserving resources have undergone dramatic changes in the past decade and library technical services departments have had to evolve quickly in response. Often librarians asked to take on technical services management roles find themselves both underprepared and without guidance from their institutions. P 4 of cover Managing in the Information Age Ann E. Prentice, 2005-05-12 Technology has provided many new tools to assist in managing particularly in the management of resources. Prentice places management within its social, economic and political context and shows how management attitudes and activities are closely related to the environment in The Protection of the Library and Archive Martin Howard Sable, 1984 This comprehensive international bibliography spanning the years 1830-1983 covers over a dozen areas of concern to librarians and archivists including earthquakes, fire, flood and water damage, warfare, vandalism and much more. For all individuals and institutions concerned with the protection of their collections, this bibliography is an excellent source of information.

Assessment and Accountability in Reference Work Susan Griswold Blandy, Lynne M. Martin, Mary L. Strife, 2019-12-05 This book first published in 1992 explores the issue of library assessment methods and the impact of accountability on the delivery of reference services. It is a call for librarians to actively adopt performance measures and learn how to work with the results. It analyses a wealth of assessment methods that librarians can use to collect data and create standards that are valid, practical and useful in accounting for reference services. Some of the methodologies described include quantitative measures, qualitative measures, patron surveys, questionnaires, interviews, case studies, peer review, unobtrusive testing and even updating the library's policies and procedures manual as a way to evaluate services. A variety of assessment methods for reference services are applied to all types of libraries. Chapters in Assessment and Accountability in Reference Work describe how a small town library defends the relevancy of its services at a town meeting, how a special library documents the value of its services to cost-conscious management and how academic libraries can become involved in university and college level assessment programs. Librarians seeking to develop their own assessment methods will benefit from practical advice on assessing diversity in the library and helpful suggestions for improving reference services through training workshops, peer coaching and changes in organizational climate. Austerity Management in Academic Libraries John Frederick Harvey, Peter Spyers-Duran, 1984 To find more information about Rowman and Littlefield titles, please visit www.rowmanlittlefield.com Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science Allen Kent, 1989-09-26 The Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science provides an outstanding resource in 33 published volumes with 2 helpful indexes. This thorough reference set, written by 1300 eminent international experts, offers librarians, information computer scientists, bibliographers, documentalists, systems analysts and students convenient access to the techniques and tools of both library and information science. Impeccably researched, cross-referenced, alphabetized by subject and generously illustrated, the Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science integrates the essential theoretical and practical information accumulating in this rapidly growing field. Managing Library Automation Marlene Clayton, 2018-12-21 First published in 1992

Managing Library Automation provides a concise easy to read guide to the main factors which librarians and information workers should be aware of when considering computerization This second edition has been revised and updated with the assistance of Chris Batt to ensure a fresh perspective The book retains however its original brief of not attempting to cover every detail of an extensive topic but instead gives the essential facts and indicates significant trends Historical accounts have been kept to the minimum and no attempt has been made to describe or explain computing techniques except where an understanding of these assists the effective use of systems by librarians References to further reading are given where appropriate The book begins by setting library automation within the context of a wider strategy for the use of Information Technology The importance of careful planning the first skill of management is stressed Subsequent chapters explore the nuts and bolts of hardware and software and reveal some of the more significant changes that have now taken place in the five years since the previous edition was published The human aspect of automation is considered throughout the book Although a more commonplace activity than five years ago the successful integration of automation into the total library system is still a considerable managerial achievement Integrated Library Systems Bibliography Ronald L. Buchan,NASA Scientific and Technical Information Facility,1985 Library Performance and Service Competition Larry Nash White,2014-01-23 A practice driven and proven resource for library administrators of all types of libraries The work describes how the library can identify the service environment factors impacting customers strategic needs identify library competitors strategic abilities and service environment impacts and use the combined results to develop proactive competitive responses that drive the service environment instead of reacting to the service environment These strategic competitive responses would allow the library to increase the value of its service impact and effectiveness while increasing customer appreciation and the libraries advantage in the competitive service environment Written by a highly knowledgeable practitioner from the library field Experience of the author library and for profit management experience provides a hybrid blended view of library competition and management responses from both the library and for profit management worlds Written to applicable to all types of libraries Subject Guide to Communication, Informatics and Librarianship in India S.
