Abstract

The aim of this study is to analyse the Russian foreign policy with its theoretical background. After the collapse of Soviet Union, Russian Federation policy makers have focused on rapprochement with western countries and institutions. However, after a while, Russian oppositions-Eurasianists increased their critics to Boris Yeltsin and Andrey Kozyrev regarding the conflicts in Post-Soviet sphere -near abroad and Caucasus region in Russia. Following the critics to Yeltsin and Kozyrev, Yeltsin has taken initiative to change the foreign policy orientation by doing amendment on the constitution of Russia as well. Therefore, Russia has begun to follow an "Eurasianist" perspective with the initiative of Yevgeni Primakov, who was replacing Kozyrev as the minister of foreign affairs of Russia. Afterwards, Vladimir Putin has strengthened the "Eurasianist" character of Russian foreign when he has become prime minister and president of Russia by declaring and implementing the second military doctrine of Russia.

1. Introduction

In this study, current Eurasianist character of Russian foreign policy will be analysed by referring to the significant historical figures-philosophers in Russian history and politics as well. Unless, we don't give reference to the historical background of theory-policies, we cannot understand the logic and reasons of geopolitical stance of Russian policy makers (state) in conflicting regions and within international relations system too.

Eventually, this study will help to understand the current position of Russian foreign policy as related with the theories of international relations.

Russian foreign policy orientation-Eurasianism will be analysed by showing its various features. During the Soviet Period, Leninist -Stalinist ideology had been put on the centre of the state identity, which became the basis of foreign policy orientation as well. Mikhail Gorbachev has become the pioneer of the change on foreign policy of Soviet Union by withdrawing its military troops from Afghanistan and beginning for the disarmament talks with USA.

After the collapse of Soviet Union, Russia has left Leninist-Stalinist ideology and focused on drawing a new foreign policy perspective by approaching with the western countries and institutions. While analysing current foreign policy Russia, I will emphasize on using the arguments of Constructivists, which is perceived a kind of bridge between realists and liberals.

Role Theory and Russian Foreign Policy Damian Strycharz, 2022-04-27 Despite the increased interest in Russia and its international behaviour current analyses leave much unexplained Damian Strycharz fills this gap in the literature by analysing leaders' perceptions and the interactions between internal and external factors shaping foreign policy decisions Challenging existing interpretations of Russian foreign policy and advancing our understanding on how role dynamics occur in non democracies Strycharz examines Russia's reactions to the 2003-4 colour revolutions in Georgia and Ukraine the Five Day War in Georgia and the Euromaidan Revolution He argues that divergent reactions to these upheavals result from a profound change in the leadership's perceptions of Russia's international responsibilities Consequently a shift in the understanding of Russia's international duties and departure from the Western partner role resulted in more assertive foreign policy behaviour exemplified by the intervention in Georgia and the annexation of Crimea The book demonstrates that processes of foreign policy formation in Russia are more complex and include more actors than commonly assumed Role Theory and Russian Foreign Policy is an ideal resource for scholars and researchers of international relations foreign policy and post Soviet politics

Smart Instead of Small in International Relations Theory Spyridon N. Litsas,2023-11-16 Small States theory supports the argument that small international actors have a vital role in the international system After 9 11 it emerged as a more focused attempt to show that small can be attractive and functional in an era of normative political and religious radicalism This book argues that Small States Theory is not relevant to the perplexities of the post multipolar international system and produces a new theory the Smart States Theory Based on structural and neoclassical realism it attempts to identify the origins of state smartness in foreign policy leadership and domestic politics The United Arab Emirates will be used as the case study of this novel theoretical approach The impressive evolution of the Trucial States to a modern nation state of high technology dynamic foreign policy as the recent pandemic fully showed unique leadership and unparalleled tolerance towards other religions and cultures make the UAE a brilliant example of a smart state of the 21st century The reader of the book will be introduced to a new theory in International Relations as well as to the history politics society and leadership of a state that plays a pivotal role not only in the Gulf region but in the broader framework of the Middle East too the United Arab Emirates

International Relations Theory of War Ofer Israeli, 2019-04-10 Covering 1816 2016 this book deals extensively with the international system as well as the territorial outcomes of several key wars that were waged during that time period providing an instructive lesson in diplomatic history and international relations among global powers Based on an in depth review of the leading theories in the field of international relations International Relations Theory of War explains an innovative theory on the international system developed by the author that he applies comprehensively to a large number of case studies The book argues that there is a unipolar system that represents a kind of innovation relative to other systemic theories It further posits that unipolar systems will be less stable than bipolar systems and more stable than multipolar systems providing new insights relative to other theories that argue that unipolar systems are the most stable ones The first chapter is devoted to explaining the manner of action of the two dependent variables systemic international outcome and intra systemic international outcome The second chapter presents the international relations theory of war and its key assumptions The third chapter precisely defines the distribution of power in the system The fourth chapter examines the theory s two key phenomena The fifth and last chapter presents the book s conclusions by examining the theoretical assumptions of the international relations theory of war
