GIDEON FILMS

The background of the poster is a painting depicting a biblical scene. In the center, a young woman with long dark hair and a white blouse looks upwards with a hopeful expression. To her left, two women in traditional Middle Eastern attire (blue and red dresses with headscarves) are embracing. To her right, a man with a long beard and a turban (Boaz) is shown in profile, looking down at her. In the background, a woman in a red dress is working in a field. The overall scene is set in a hilly, arid landscape with mountains in the distance.

Abingdon Old Testament Commentaries: Ruth Prof. Judy Fentress-Williams,2012-06-01 From the Introduction Described by Goethe as the most charming little whole of antiquity Ruth has long been recognized for its literary quality This beautifully composed narrative continues to attract readers across generations and boundaries of gender class and ethnicity In fact the beauty of the book often distracts from the practical nature of the narrative For all of its appeal Ruth is after all a story about family and survival The marriage between Ruth and Boaz is a levirate marriage The goal of this practice is to ensure the continuation and stability of the family line Thus this charming little whole has as its subject preservation of life in the face of death and upholding memory to ward off the loss of identity This story of survival is short it consists of four chapters with elements of loss and recovery famine and harvest barrenness and fruitfulness life and death These elements afford the book a broad appeal as it speaks to various stages and seasons of life all the while upholding the power of faithfulness against an ever changing backdrop Named after one of the major characters the book of Ruth tells the story of Naomi of Bethlehem and her family in the days when the judges ruled So much of what happens in Ruth happens where no one can see Ruth binds herself to Naomi in the in between place of Moab and Judah No one is there to witness it Similarly Ruth asks Boaz for redemption in the middle of the night when we presume everyone else is asleep These events allow for the inclusion of Ruth as Boaz s people first as a gleaner and then as a wife The pattern of what happens away from our observation and then bursts forth where we can see it draws on the images of planting and harvest conception and birth On a theological level it suggests that even in the famine times God is planting seed preparing for the next harvest even when we cannot see it We must assume then that whatever we know or recognize about the work of God is only a small piece of the larger whole We cannot know it all
