Sacred Citizens And The Secular City:

Rescripting Religion in the City Alana Harris, 2016-04-22 Rescripting Religion in the City explores the role of faith and religious practices as strategies for understanding and negotiating the migratory experience. Leading international scholars draw on case studies of urban settings in the global north and south. Presenting a nuanced understanding of the religious identities of migrants within the modern metropolis, this book makes a significant contribution to fields as diverse as twentieth century immigration history, the sociology of religion and migration studies, as well as historical and urban geography and practical theology.

The Sacred in the City Liliana Gómez, Walter Van Herck, 2012-02-09 This book reflects the way in which the city interacts with the sacred in all its many guises, with religion and the human search for meaning in life. As the process of urbanization of society is accelerating, thus giving an increasing importance to cities and the metropolis, it is relevant to investigate the social or cultural cohesion that these urban agglomerations manifest. Religion is keenly observed as witnessing a growth crucially impacting cultural and political dynamics, as well as determining the emergence of new sacred symbols and their inscription in urban spaces worldwide. The sacred has become an important category of a new interpretation of social and cultural transformation processes. From a unique broader perspective, the volume focuses on the relationship between the city and the sacred. Taking a multidisciplinary approach, combining the expertise of philosophers, historians, architects, social geographers, sociologists, and anthropologists, it draws a nuanced picture of the different layers of religion of the sacred and its diverse forms within the city, with examples from Europe, South America, and the Caribbean, and Africa.

Theologies of Power and Crisis Stephen Pavey, 2011-07-01 Theologies of Power and Crisis provides a case study for Eric Wolf's research directive to better comprehend the interplay of cultural webs of meaning and material webs of power forms of social life. More specifically, the book demonstrates how theological discourse and practice engage with historical and material relations of power. It has been normative to speak of power in terms of political and economic processes, and theology in terms of interpretive and symbolic experiences. This work breaks new ground by linking theological ideas with political economic processes in terms of the structural relations of power. Ethnographically, this research investigates the theological processes of Hong Kong Chinese Christians during a period of significant social change and crisis precipitated by the return of Hong Kong to China in 1997. It shows how local Christians and Christian institutions mediated the significant regional, national, and transnational forces of political economic change by connecting theological practice to the structural relations of power. The Christian response was a contested process closely intertwined with the broader contested processes of social organization. This study develops an understanding of Christianity that goes beyond ecclesiastical hegemony to encompass struggles over human practice, meaning, and representation in relation to the changing political economic context. These findings implicate religious ideas and practice as significant to an understanding of social inequalities and powerlessness by connecting ideologies to material conditions. Christian ideas may be used to legitimize an oppressive social order or they may be used to liberate those who are oppressed Issues related to the policies and practice of development should take seriously the role of religious beliefs and practices

The Charismatic City and the Public Resurgence of Religion N. Wariboko,2014-09-11 Two powerful and interrelated transnational cultural expressions mark our epoch Charismatic spirituality and global city This book demonstrates how these two forces can be used to inform ethical design of cities and their common social lives to best support human flourishing spirituality and social and ecological wellbeing of their residents

The Sacred Citizens and the Secular City Tinming Ko,2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2000 This study addresses the political participation of Protestant ministers in Hong Kong It aims to describe and explain the pattern of political participation of these ministers The book focuses on a number of key questions What kind of political participation did Protestant ministers involve themselves in during the years preceding the return to Chinese sovereignty How extensive was their political involvement Why were some ministers active and energetic political participants whereas some of their colleagues were inactive How did the activists see their role as Christian ministers What impact did the political activism of the Protestant clergy have on the social political and religious development of Hong Kong Dr Ko s findings offer insights into the political beliefs values and activities of a sample of the Protestant clergy of Hong Kong and into their thinking about their political responsibilities

Religious Journeys in India Andrea Marion Pinkney,John Whalen-Bridge,2018-08-20 In an increasingly global world where convenient modes of travel have opened the door to international and intraregional tourism and brought together people from different religious and ethnic communities religious journeying in India has become the site of evolving and often paradoxical forms of self construction Through ethnographic reflections the contributors to this volume explore religious and nonreligious motivations for religious travel in India and show how pilgrimages missionary travel the exportation of cultural art forms and leisure travel among coreligionists are transforming not only religious but also regional national transnational and personal identities The volume engages with central themes in South Asian studies such as gender exile and spirituality a variety of religions including Sikhism Islam Buddhism and Christianity and understudied regions and emerging places of pilgrimage such as Manipur and Maharashtra

Urban Change and Citizenship in Times of Crisis Bryan S. Turner,Hannah Wolf,Gregor Fitzi,Jürgen Mackert,2020-04-07 Urban Change and Citizenship in Times of Crisis addresses the fact that in the beginning of the twenty first century the majority of the world s population is urbanised a social fact that has turned cities more than ever into focal sites of social change Multiple economic and political strategies employed by a variety of individual and collective actors on a number of scales constitute cities as contested spaces that hold opportunities as well as restrictions for their inhabitants While cities and urban spaces have long been of central concern for the social sciences today classical sociological questions about the city acquire new meaning Can cities be spaces of emancipation or does life in the modern city entail a corrosion of citizenship rights Is the city the focus of societal transformation processes or do urban environments lose importance in shaping social reality and economic relationships Furthermore new questions urgently need to be asked What is the impact of different historical phenomena such as neo liberal restructuring financial and economic crises or migration flows as well as their respective counter movements on the structure of contemporary cities and on the citizenship rights of city inhabitants The three volumes address such crucial questions thereby opening up new spaces of debate on both the city and new developments of urbanism The contributions to Theories and Concepts offer new theoretical reflections on the city in a philosophical and historical perspective as well as fresh empirical analyses of social life in urban contexts Chapters not only critically revisit classical and modern philosophical considerations about the nature of cities but no less discuss normative philosophical reflections of urban life and the role of religion in historical processes of the emergence of cities Composed around the question whether there can be such a thing as a successful city this volume addresses issues of urban political subjectivities by considering the city s role in historical processes of emancipation the fight for citizenship rights and today s challenges and opportunities with regard to promoting social justice integration and diversity Consequentially theory driven empirical analyses offer new insight into ways of solving problems in urban contexts and a genuine approach to analyse the Social Quality in cities

Brooks, 2017-07-05 St Augustine and Roman law are the two bridges from Athens and Jerusalem to the world of modern law Augustine s almost eerily modern political realism was based upon his deep appreciation of human evil arising from his insights into the human personality the product of his reflections on his own life and the history of his times These insights have traveled well through the ages and are mirrored in the pages of Aquinas Luther and Calvin Reinhold Niebuhr and Hannah Arendt The articles in this volume describe the life and world of Augustine and the ways in which he conceived both justice and law They also discuss the little recognized Augustinian contributions to the field of modern hermeneutics the discipline which informs the art of legal interpretation Finally they include Augustine's valuable discussion of church state relations the law of just wars and proper role and limits of coercion and the procreative dimensions of marriage The volume also includes an extremely useful definitive bibliography of Augustine and the law and will leave readers with an increased appreciation of the contributions which Augustine has made to the history of jurisprudence No one can read Augustine and these articles on his view of the law without taking away a new view of the law itself

Heresy and Citizenship Eugene Smelyansky, 2020-09-27 Heresy and Citizenship examines the anti heretical campaigns in late medieval Augsburg Rothenburg ob der Tauber Strasbourg and other cities By focusing on the unprecedented period of persecution between 1390 and 1404 this study demonstrates how heretical presence in cities was exploited in ecclesiastical political and social conflicts between the cities and their external rivals and between urban elites These anti heretical campaigns targeted Waldensians who believed in lay preaching and simplified forms of Christian worship Groups of individuals identified as Waldensians underwent public penance execution or expulsion In each case the course and outcome of inquisitions reveal tensions between institutions within each city most often between city councils and local bishops or archbishops In such cases competing sides used the persecution of heresy to assert their authority over others As a result persecution of urban Waldensians acquired meaning beyond mere correction of religious error By placing the anti heretical campaigns of this period in their socio political and religious context Heresy and Citizenship also engages with studies of social and political conflict in late medieval towns It examines the role the exclusion of religiously and socially deviant groups played in the development of urban governments and the rise of ideologies of good citizenship and the common good It will be of interest to scholars and students interested in medieval urban and religious history and the history of heresy and its persecution

Religion and the City in India Supriya Chaudhuri, 2021-08-19 This book offers fresh theoretical methodological and empirical analyses of the relation between religion and the city in the South Asian context Uniting the historical with the contemporary by looking at the medieval and early modern links between religious faith and urban settlement the book brings together a series of focused studies of the mixed and multiple practices and spatial negotiations of religion in the South Asian city It looks at the various ways in which contemporary religious practice affects urban everyday life commerce craft infrastructure cultural forms art music and architecture Chapters draw upon original empirical study and research to analyze the foundational structural material and cultural connections between religious practice and urban formations or flows The book argues that Indian cities are not postsecular in the sense that the term is currently used in the modern West but that there has been rather a deep even foundational link between religion and urbanism producing different versions of urban modernity Questions of caste gender community intersectional entanglements physical proximity private or public ritual processions and prayer economic and political factors material objects and changes in the built environment are all taken into consideration and the book offers an interdisciplinary analysis of different historical periods different cities and different types of religious practice Filling a gap in the literature by discussing a diversity of settings and faiths the book will be of interest to scholars to South Asian history sociology literary analysis urban studies and cultural studies Reality, 1927 Gathered in my Name William T. Cavanaugh, 2020-12-28 This volume differs from many quincennial discussions of the Protestant Reformation and ecumenical scholarship more generally in that it shifts the focus from Europe and the West to the global South where ecumenism's promises and challenges are quite different In postcolonial and post missionary Africa the churches continue to expand competition among denominations is lively and Christian rivalry with Islam is often a reality In Latin America Protestants have severely eroded the Catholic Church's hegemony originally forged in the zeal of the Counter Reformation to combat the perceived errors of Luther and Calvin In India the Christian churches are a tiny beleaguered minority facing an increasingly militant Hindu nationalism These essays pay close attention to the different contexts of intra Christian relationships worldwide the actual situation on the ground If ecumenism will succeed it cannot be simply a matter of experts at a conference attempting to agree about doctrines abstracted from the contexts in which they were forged the contexts in which doctrinal disagreements caused ecclesial ruptures or the contexts in which Christians continue to live out our divided existence This volume attempts to be sensitive to the lived experience of divided Christians in whatever part of the world they find themselves
