Amassing Power David Perera Massell, Forest History Society, 2000 At the turn of the century American industrialist J B Duke set his sights on one of North America's greatest and most spectacular rivers the Saguenay In Amassing Power David Massell chronicles thirty years of international intrigue as Duke manoeuvred to gain access to develop and sell the tremendous hydro electric potential of a remote river in Quebec The damming of the Saguenay brought industrialisation on a grand scale to rural Quebec in the form of newsprint and aluminum manufacture Tapping into rich and diverse sources in Canada the United States and Europe Massell provides an interdisciplinary cross border study of American capital and Canadian resources He shows us how ever larger amounts of capital yielded increasingly massive and sophisticated applications of hydroelectric technology Grand industrial plans in turn encroached upon provincial water rights and farmers lands which drew the attention of the state He examines the protracted power struggle between public and private interests between American capitalists and the nascent bureaucracy of the province of Quebec and describes the origins and evolution of the events that led to state control over hydraulic resources in the province In doing so he provides vivid portraits of Duke and of Quebec politicians of the period and gives a dramatic account of the protracted battle of wits between Duke's chief engineer William States Lee and Quebec's chief of Hydraulic Service Arthur Amos Amassing Power speaks to the integration of North American economies vividly illustrating the process by which American capital drew Canada's resource rich North into the economic orbit of the United States Un juste prix

Manufacturing Suburbs Robert Lewis, 2008 Urban historians have long portrayed suburbanization as the result of a bourgeois exodus from the city coupled with the introduction of streetcars that enabled the middle class to leave the city for the more rural surrounding regions Demonstrating that this is only a partial version of urban history Manufacturing Suburbs reclaims the history of working class suburbs by examining the development of industrial suburbs in the United States and Canada between 1850 and 1950 Contributors demonstrate that these suburbs developed in large part because of the location of manufacturing beyond city limits and the subsequent building of housing for the workers who labored within those factories Through case studies of industrial suburbanization and industrial suburbs in several metropolitan areas Chicago Baltimore Detroit Pittsburgh Los Angeles San Francisco Toronto and Montreal Manufacturing Suburbs sheds light on a key phenomenon of metropolitan development before the Second World War Argentina Australia And Canada Guido Di, D C Platt, 1985-02-18
