Rebuilding Cities:

EcoCities Richard Register, 2006-04-01 Most of the world's population now lives in cities. So if we are to address the problems of environmental deterioration and peak oil adequately, the city has to be a major focus of attention. EcoCities is about rebuilding cities and towns based on ecological principles for the long-term sustainability, cultural vitality, and health of the Earth's biosphere. Unique in the literature is the book's insight that the form of the city really matters and that it is within our ability to change it and crucial that we do. Further, that the ecocity within its bioregion is comprehensible and doable and can produce a healthy and potentially happy future. EcoCities describes the place of the city in evolution, nature, and history. It pays special attention to the key question of accessibility and transportation and outlines design principles for the ecocity. The reader is encouraged to plunge in to its economics and politics, the kinds of businesses, planning, and leadership required. The book then outlines the tools by which a gradual transition to the ecocity could be accomplished. Throughout this new edition is generously illustrated with the author's own inspired visions of what such rebuilt cities might actually look like.

Rebuilding Cities from Medieval to Modern Times Percy Johnson-Marshall, 2017-07-12 Unique in the literature of planners, architects, and urban officials, Rebuilding Cities is a compendium and analysis of the achievements of city planning from the Ideal City of Palmanova in 1593 to the innovative achievements of planners and designers of the twentieth century. As such, it is vital reading for anyone concerned with the problem of rebuilding and revitalizing cities after disasters, either of a human or physical decimation. Rebuilding Cities covers and includes medieval nuclei to urban sprawl, physical, economic, and social factors in planning, and the changing nature of components of cities incorporating elements from different periods in a single visual scheme. Also included are analysis of planning schemes from Indian and Greek visionaries, legislative and administrative changes needed for successful planning, the massive redevelopment that happened in London after World War Two, renewal schemes, and urban design and work throughout the world. The remarkable clarity and thoroughness of the book and its abundant illustrations clearly demonstrate the successes and failures of planning schemes and lays a solid groundwork for intelligent assessment of the goals and practical possibilities of city planning. Teachers and students of planning and architecture professionals actively engaged in the field and all who visualize a truly civilized urban environment will find this book immensely helpful and satisfying.

Rebuilding Urban Places After Disaster Eugenie L. Birch, Susan M. Wachter, 2013-01-09 Disasters, natural ones such as hurricanes, floods, or earthquakes, and unnatural ones such as terrorist attacks, are part of the American experience in the twenty-first century. The challenges of preparing for these events, withstanding their impact, and rebuilding communities afterward require strategic responses from different levels of government in partnership with the private sector and in accordance with the public will. Disasters have a disproportionate effect on urban places. Dense, by definition, cities and their environs suffer great damage to their complex interdependent social, environmental, and economic systems. Social and medical services collapse. Long-standing problems in educational access and quality become especially acute Local economies cease to function Cultural resources disappear The plight of New Orleans and several smaller Gulf Coast cities exemplifies this phenomenon This volume examines the rebuilding of cities and their environs after a disaster and focuses on four major issues making cities less vulnerable to disaster reestablishing economic viability responding to the permanent needs of the displaced and recreating a sense of place Success in these areas requires that priorities be set cooperatively and this goal poses significant challenges for rebuilding efforts in a democratic market based society Who sets priorities and how Can participatory decision making be organized under conditions requiring focused strategic choices How do issues of race and class intersect with these priorities Should the purpose of rebuilding be restoration or reformation Contributors address these and other questions related to environmental conditions economic imperatives social welfare concerns and issues of planning and design in light of the lessons to be drawn from Hurricane Katrina
