With the Original Aires, Arranged for the Piano Forte Robert Chambers,1974 Twelve Romantic Scottish Ballads Robert Chambers,2015-07-27 Excerpt from Twelve Romantic Scottish Ballads With the Original Aires Arranged for the Pianoforte I have amused a few spare hours in preparing this small collection in the hope that what has been agreeable to myself may give some pleasure to others Some of the airs to which our Scottish ballads are sung appear to me very pretty a few of them are indeed the germs of some of the most admired of the song melodies for example Cowdenknows Yet excepting a small number scattered through Johnson s Scots Musical Museum and a somewhat larger selection inserted by the late Mr Andrew Blaikie of Paisley in Motherwell s Minstrelsy Ancient and Modern with a few chance sown in other works we cannot say that the ballad airs have a recognised existence as a department of our printed national music Conceiving that this might be much owing to the inconvenient length of the most of the ballads unfitting them for singing I resolved to prepare a limited selection in which the narrative was either brief or capable of being abridged to a moderate length while the airs were of a decidedly pleasing character and also to fit these by musical accompaniments for being sung at the piano The result is here presented It may be added that a few of the airs are from Johnson and Motherwell in the former of which cases the accompaniments are also borrowed and that others have never before been printed About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works English and Scottish Ballads Francis James Child,1885 Ancient Scottish Ballads, Recovered from Tradition, and Never Before Published George Ritchie Kinloch,2016-05-20 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The English and Scottish Popular Ballads Francis James Child,1965 English and Scottish Ballads Francis James Child,1860 Celtic Lovesongs Carsten Gerlitz,2006 Piano Easy to play arrangements of 20 traditional Celtic ballads All Through the Night Along with My Love I ll Go An Irish Blessing Baloo Baleerie Believe Me Flow Gently Sweet Afton Loch Lomond My Love Is like a Red Red Rose Portsmouth Sally Gardens Scotland the Brave Sleep My Darling The Rose of Tralee The Wild Rover more
