In the Eye of the

Beholder: The Evolutionary Emergence of Visual Communication Iain Davidson,2025-09-08 The book is about how art

arose and how it became what we call art today How did art emerge from the relationships between people and the things they produce and the ideas of producers How do people manipulate those relationships in their own society How do outsiders work out the ways in which those relationships were used to make art What is art and why are all people engaged with it in one way or another From its very beginning and everywhere art has always been embedded in its cultural context the contexts of the people who made and see it and that context has often been ritual The history of art confused social and institutional changes of view because western critics or artists sought to define the boundaries of art so tightly that ritual purposeful or utilitarian works were excluded from it In their definition art only existed if the rituals of the original producers were stripped from the works or if the objects were appropriated away from the situation in which they were produced The objects stripped from their context could then only be valued for their aesthetics Art consists of relationships between people things and ideas in quite specific ways Those relationships are discussed at length in this book The book is aimed at artists art historians and archaeologists but also at the general public interested in art It is intended both for people whose interest in art comes from knowledge of the art of all continents and for those who have no knowledge McCall's ,1982 Mood and Mobility Richard Coyne,2024-05-21 An argument that as we engage with social media on our digital devices we receive modify intensify and transmit moods We are active with our mobile devices we play games watch films listen to music check social media and tap screens and keyboards while we are on the move In Mood and Mobility Richard Coyne argues that not only do we communicate process information and entertain ourselves through devices and social media we also receive modify intensify and transmit moods Designers practitioners educators researchers and users should pay more attention to the moods created around our smartphones tablets and laptops Drawing on research from a range of disciplines including experimental psychology phenomenology cultural theory and architecture Coyne shows that users of social media are not simply passive receivers of moods they are complicit in making moods Devoting each chapter to a particular mood from curiosity and pleasure to anxiety and melancholy Coyne shows that devices and technologies do affect people s moods although not always directly He shows that mood effects are transitional different moods suit different occasions and derive character from emotional shifts Furthermore moods are active we enlist all the resources of human sociability to create moods And finally the discourse about mood is deeply reflexive in a kind of meta moodiness we talk about our moods and have feelings about them Mood in Coyne s distinctive telling provides a new way to look at the ever changing world of ubiquitous digital technologies Bookseller & Stationer and Office Equipment Journal ,1927 The Way it was Edith Van Kleeck,2007 The Way It Was chronicles Van Kleeck s experiences as a student and teacher in one room schools in rural Alberta From her first year attending school in the High Prairie country in 1916 to the closure of her last rural schoolhouse in 1961 Edith Van Kleeck recalls a bygone era in Canadian educational history How to Give Your Kids $1 Million Each!
