Society for the Study of Personal Relationships Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty-First Century Ellen Lewin, Leni M. Silverstein, 2016-07-07 Feminist anthropology emerged in the 1970s as a much needed corrective to the discipline's androcentric biases. Far from being a marginalized subfield, it has been at the forefront of developments that have revolutionized not only anthropology but also a host of other disciplines. This landmark collection of essays provides a contemporary overview of feminist anthropology's historical and theoretical origins, the transformations it has undergone, and the vital contributions it continues to make to cutting edge scholarship. Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty First Century brings together a variety of contributors giving a voice to both younger researchers and pioneering scholars who offer insider perspectives on the field's foundational moments. Some chapters reveal how the rise of feminist anthropology shaped and was shaped by the emergence of fields like women's studies, black and Latina studies, and LGBTQ studies. Others consider how feminist anthropologists are helping to frame the direction of developing disciplines like masculinity studies, affect theory, and science and technology studies. Spanning the globe from India to Canada, from Vietnam to Peru, Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty First Century reveals the important role that feminist anthropologists have played in worldwide campaigns against human rights abuses, domestic violence, and environmental degradation. It also celebrates the work they have done closer to home, helping to explode the developed world's preconceptions about sex, gender, and sexuality.

The second section explores understandings and investigations of sexual offences, including discussion on American commitment laws for sexually violent predators, the status of recovered memories in criminal trials, factors influencing delays in reporting sexual abuse, a model of rapists' accounts of their offences, and situational factors in sexual offending. The final section on violent offenders and offences includes discussion on criminal careers, domestic violence, mutilation, murder in Japan, offender profiling, and sentencing of homicide cases. Mobility, Markets and Indigenous Socialities Cecilie Vindal Ødegaard, 2016-04-15 Exploring how people from Andean communities seek progress and social mobility by moving to the cities Cecilie degaard demonstrates the changing significance of kinship reciprocity and ritual in an urban context Through a focus on people's involvement in land occupations and local associations labour and trade degaard examines the dialectics between popular practices and neoliberal state policies in processes of urbanization The making and un making of notions of the Indigenous communal work and gender is central in this analysis and is discussed against the historical backdrop of the land occupations in Peruvian cities since the 1930s Through its close ethnographic description of everyday life in a new urban neighbourhood this book reveals how social and spatial categories and boundaries are continually negotiated in people's quest for mobility and progress Cecilie degaard argues that conventional meanings of prosperity and progress are significantly altered in interaction with Andean understandings of reciprocity By combining a unique ethnographic account with original theoretical arguments the book provides new insight into the cultural cosmological and political dimensions of mobility progress and market participation
