Revolutionary Struggles and Girls' Education Thera Mjaaland, 2021-07-27

Revolutionary Struggles and Girls' Education At the Frontiers of Gender Norms in North Ethiopia argues that at the base of girls' poorer performance than boys at secondary school level when puberty has set in is the symbolic violence entailed in sanctioned femaleness. Informed by the modesty of Virgin Mary in Orthodox Christian veneration, it instructs girls to internalize a holding back which impinges on her self-efficacy and ability to be an active learner. Neoliberally informed educational policies and plans which have co-opted liberal feminism also in Ethiopia do not address hard-lived gender norms and the power and domination dynamics entailed when parity between boys and girls in school continues to be the dominant measure for equity. Despite women's courageous contribution at a literal frontier during the Tigrayan liberation struggle 1975-91 where they fought on equal terms with men and despite the tendency that girls outnumber boys at secondary level in the present context, sanctioned femaleness constitutes a frontier for girls' educational success and transition to higher education. In fact, when teaching-learning continues to be based on memorization rather than critical thinking, the very transformative potential of education is undermined also in a gendered sense.

India Diversity Hilda David, Francis Jarman, 2017-01-31

The more you look around the world at the chaos, conflict, horror, and repression in the name of religious ideology, not least in the lands very close to India, the more you realise how Nehru, for all his imperfections, got the biggest question right. Now that India is finally positioning itself for a spectacular economic takeoff, it is not the right time to endanger that by opening the can of worms that is communalism.

Education and Reform in China Emily Hannum, Albert Park, 2012-11-12

Transformative market reforms in China since the late 1970s have improved living standards dramatically but have also led to unprecedented economic inequality. During this period, China's educational system was restructured to support economic development with educational reforms occurring at a startling pace. Today the educational system has diversified in structure, finance, and content; it has become more market-oriented and it is serving an increasingly diverse student population. These changes carry significant consequences for China's social mobility and inequality and future economic prospects. In Education and Reform in China, leading scholars in the fields of education, sociology, demography, and economics investigate the evolution of educational access and attainment, educational quality, and the economic consequences of being educated. Education and Reform in China shows that economic advancement is increasingly tied to education in China, even as educational services are increasingly marketized. The volume investigates the varying impact of change for different social, ethnic, economic, and geographic groups. Offering interdisciplinary views on the changing role of education in Chinese society and on China's educational achievements and policy challenges, this book will be an important resource for those interested in education, public policy, and development issues in China.

Women Education Radha Dua, Coerced Liberation Zamira Abman, 2024-05-01

In 1924 the Bolshevik regime began an unprecedented campaign to forcibly emancipate the Muslim women of Tajikistan The emancipatory reforms included unveiling women passing progressive family code laws and educating women By the 1950s the Soviet regime largely succeeded in putting an end to veiling child marriage polygamy and bride payments Yet today there is a resurgence in these practices the Bolsheviks claimed to have eliminated Coerced Liberation reveals that the Soviet regime transformed the lives of urban women within a single generation but without lasting effect Drawing on unique primary sources the book examines why this occurred It addresses questions that are pertinent to ongoing debates in the international arena What happens when an outside force attempts to modernize a society deeply rooted in centuries of patriarchal norms and values In what ways can a devout religious rural community respond to survive and adapt to such interventions And how does a state centred top down approach towards women s emancipation work Coerced Liberation presents critical insights for readers interested in gender dynamics within Muslim communities the roles of women in Islam the resurgence of Islam in former colonial territories the effectiveness of a top down approach towards women s movements and more Emerging evidence, lessons and practice in comprehensive sexuality education

UNESCO,2015-12-21 Women Teachers in Africa Nelly Stromquist,Steven Klees,Jing Lin,2017-02-10 Through qualitative research methods this book engages in a holistic understanding of cultural economic and institutional forces that interact to produce the underrepresentation of women as school teachers in four sub Saharan African countries Comparative case studies at the national level using a common research design show that teaching despite being an attractive civil service job offers low salaries and many challenges especially when it takes place in rural areas Combining professional duties with demanding family responsibilities further diminishes women s ability to stay in the teaching profession The studies in this book attempt to bridge research findings with policy by developing action plans in cooperation with ministries of education of the respective countries Women Teachers in Africa will be of interest to academic researchers undergraduate and postgraduate students in the relevant fields as well as development professionals aid agency staff and education policy experts

Environmental Sustainability, Growth Trajectory and Gender Chandrima Chakraborty,Dipyaman Pal,2022-06-09 Environmental Sustainability Growth Trajectory and Gender focuses on three major issues affecting developing economies environmental sustainability growth trajectory and gender Awareness is increased through an exploration of policies and actions that will enhance gender equality and sustainable development Multidisciplinary Approach in Health: New Strategies from the Perspective of Education, Management, Culture and Gender

Sagrario Gomez-Cantarino,María Idoia Ugarte-Gurrutxaga,Beatriz Oliveira Xavier ,MCarmen Solano-Ruiz,2024-05-24 Gender and culture are the foundations of individual and social identity which influence the environment at all levels of health care According to historical and cultural patterns people learn to relate to their bodies This situation reveals contrasts in the way bodily functions and thus health and illness are conceptualized used and valued In fact a person s sexuality covers a particularly conflictive field as it focuses on aspects defined as basic constructed according to sociocultural concepts and therefore modifiable Therefore health promotion understood as a proposal for empowering individuals families and communities about their perception of their life and health within their cultural ethnic religious and care context and influenced by their state of health becomes important To this end we propose the adoption of transdisciplinary approaches that prioritize relational analysis studies in the context of health scenarios for the development of public policies framed in the culture of care its evolution economy and management highlighting the gender perspective
