Nationalism, Globalization, and Orthodoxy Victor Roudometof, 2001-07-30 Roudometof provides an in depth sociological analysis of the birth and historical evolution of nationalism in the Balkans. The rise of nationalism in the region is viewed as part of a world historical process of globalization over the last five centuries. With the growing contacts between the Ottoman Empire and the Western European system, the Eastern Orthodox of the Balkans abandoned the ethnoconfessional system of social organization in favor of secular national identities. Prior to 1820, local nationalism was influenced by the Enlightenment, though later it came to be developed on an ethnonational basis. In the post-1830 Balkans, citizenship rights were subordinated to ethnic nationalism, according to which membership to a nation is accorded on the basis of church affiliation and ethnicity. In the 19th and 20th centuries, the discourse of nationhood was institutionalized by the native intelligentsia of the Balkan states. In the first half of the 20th century, the efforts of Balkan states to achieve national homogenization produced interstate rivalry, forced population exchanges, and discrimination against minority groups. While the Cold War helped contain some of these problems, the post-1989 period has seen a return of these issues to the forefront of the Balkan political agenda.

The Oxford History of Historical Writing Axel Schneider, Daniel Woolf, 2011-05-05 The fifth volume of The Oxford History of Historical Writing offers essays by leading scholars on the writing of history globally since 1945. Divided into two parts, part one selects and surveys theoretical and interdisciplinary approaches to history, and part two examines select national and regional historiographies throughout the world. This is chronologically the last of five volumes in a series that explores representations of the past across the globe from the beginning of writing to the present day.

History and Historiography in Greece Nikos Christofis, 2025-05-01 An updated guide to Greek historiography was long overdue. In this comprehensive and temporally wide-ranging reassessment, History and Historiography in Greece examines the evolution of Greek historical scholarship by reviewing the ideas, methods, and schools of history shaping the field. From how these developments correspond with international trends to their rate of development alongside global shifts in scholarship, this volume identifies not only the ideological limitations shaping Greek academia but also the innovations that are breaking new ground. In doing so, the contributors illuminate how those developments yield new lessons for existing conceptual frameworks within the fields of labor, gender, diaspora studies, and more.

Reconstructing the Balkans Derek R. Hall, Darrick Danta, 1996-10-21 The past few years have seen the re-emergence of the Balkans as the cockpit of Europe. Ethnographies of Austerity
Daniel Knight,Charles Stewart,2018-10-03 Some of the worst effects of the global economic downturn that commenced in 2008 have been felt in Europe and specifically in the Eurozone s so called PIIGS Portugal Italy Ireland Greece and Spain and Cyprus This edited volume is the first collection to bring together ethnographies of living with austerity inside the Eurozone and explore how people across Southern Europe have come to understand their experiences of increased social suffering insecurity and material poverty The contributors focus on how crises stimulate temporal thought temporality whether tilted in the direction of historicizing presentifying futural thought or some combination of these possibilities One of the themes linking diverse crisis experiences across national boundaries is how people contemplate their present conditions and potential futures in terms of the past The studies in this collection thus supply ethnographies that journey to the source of historical production by identifying the ways in which the past may be activated lived embodied and refashioned under contracting economic horizons In times of crisis modern linear historicism is often overridden and overwritten by other historicities showing that in crises not only time but history itself as an organizing structure and set of expectations is up for grabs and can be refashioned according to new rules This book was originally published as a special issue of History and Anthropology
