English Wetlands Mary Gearey,Andrew Church,Neil Ravenscroft,2020-07-16 This book argues that to understand wetlands is to understand human development Using case studies drawn from three English wetlands the book moves between empirical research and scholarship to interrogate how these particular ecosystems have played an essential part in the development of our contemporary society yet inhabit a strange place in our national psyche Chapters address a range of cultural and environmental wetland concerns Consideration is given to the ways in which we have revered engineered and renaturalised these landscapes throughout history English wetlands as spaces of beauty creativity reflection rejuvenation and multi species interactions accelerating climate change in an age of neoliberalism The final chapter then is a reflection on our collective lives together alongside other species exploring what sustainability transitions might mean for human wetland relationships Environmental Hydrology Andy D. Ward, 2017-02-15 The book comprises nine chapters with seven core chapters dealing in detail with the basic principles and processes of the main hydrological components of the water cycle precipitation interception evaporation soil water groundwater streamflow and water quality It takes a broadly non mathematical approach although some numeracy is assumed particularly in the treatment of evaporation and soil water The introductory and concluding chapters show the relations and interactions between these components and also put the importance of water into a wider human context its significant role in human history its key role today and potential role in future in the light of climate change and increasing global population pressures The book is thoroughly up to date contains over 100 diagrams and photographs to explain and amplify the concepts described and contains over 750 references for further study Lakes and Empires in Macedonian History James Pettifer, Miranda Vickers, 2021-08-26 Lakes and Empires in Macedonian History Contesting the Waters tells the story of Psarades a lakeside village in Macedonian Greece on the shores of the Prespa lake This village which is in many ways a completely typical Greek settlement and yet remains unconventional in its way of life embodies the many contradictions of modern history and in exploring its roots James Pettifer and Miranda Vickers skilfully uncover the wider social cultural and political history of this lake region Drawing from oral testimonies and attentive to the construction of national histories this book considers how the development of international borders movement of people and role of national identities within imperial borderlands shaped Macedonia today What is more by centering the lakes and making use of an innovative environmental historical methodology Pettifer and Vickers offer the first environmental history of this multi ethnic borderland region shared by Greece North Macedonia and Albania The result is a nuanced and sophisticated transnational account of Macedonia from prehistory to the 21st century which will be essential reading for all Balkan scholars A Tradition in Transition, Water Management Reforms and Indigenous Spate Irrigation Systems in Eritrea Abraham Mehari Haile, 2007-07-18 A Tradition in Transition presents an in depth assessment of the century old Wadi Laba indigenous spate irrigation system in Eritrea This system has relied on earthen and brushwood structures and customary water rules to support subsistence livelihoods of the Wadi Laba communities for many years. The book presents original research which analyzes the effectiveness of contemporary water laws and a new headwork in improving production and standard of living. It also compares the lack of success of these new approaches with traditional methods of water management. Bibliography of Agriculture, 1976
