Multiple Realities Of International Mediation:

The Multiple Realities of International Mediation Marieke Kleiboer, 1998 Recent experiences have demonstrated once again the complexities of brokering an end to deep rooted ethnic and international conflicts as well as the difficulties of evaluating the outcomes of third party interventions Addressing these issues this book offers a sophisticated approach to assessing mediation efforts and to reconstructing and interpreting mediation processes International Mediation Marieke Anita Kleiboer, 1996 Myth and Reality in International Politics Jonathan Wilkenfeld, 2015-08-27 Recent generations have experienced dramatic improvements in the quality of human life across the globe Wars between states are fought less frequently and are less lethal Food is more plentiful and more easily accessed In most parts of the world birthrates are down and life expectancy up Significantly fewer people live in extreme poverty relative to the overall population Statistics would argue that the human race has never before flourished as it has in this moment And yet even with this progress we face a number of seemingly intractable challenges to the welfare of both states and individuals including Governmental instability undermining the lives of citizens both within and beyond their borders Persistent and recurring intrastate conflict due to ineffective conflict management strategies Marginally successful development efforts and growing income inequality both within and between nations as a result of uncoordinated and ineffective global development strategies Internecine conflict in multiethnic societies manifested by exclusion discrimination and ultimately violence the inevitable consequence of an insufficient focus on managing the inherent tensions in diverse societies Global climate change with the possibility of catastrophic long term consequences following an inability to effectively come to terms with and respond to the impact of human activity on our environment These challenges require a newly collaborative intentional and systematic approach This book offers a blueprint for how to get there calling for increased leadership responsibility clarity of mission and empowerment of states and individuals It is designed to transform lofty but often vague agendas into concrete measurable progress It believes in the capacity of humanity to rise to the occasion to come together to address these increasingly critical global problems and offers one way forward The contribution of NGOs to international conflict resolution Tilman Pradt, 2014-04-11 Non governmental organisations NGOs have become important actors in the globalised world They run aid and relief programmes in the poorest countries support international institutions like the United Nations or are watchdogs of them for example watchdogs of the Bretton Woods institutions In doing so NGOs naturally work permanently with state agencies and it is probably hard to find an NGO which is totally free of any governmental support in financial logistical or informative matters Thus there are strong NGO government connections on a daily work basis NGOs run multiple attempts to contribute to the resolution of conflicts on all political levels They bring together people on the grass root level they try to influence high officials through public pressure and they organise conferences and discussions with members and consultants of the concerned parties The latter approach is analysed in this study But how do NGOs influence the level of official international relations To which degree can NGOs improve the relations of two conflicted parties especially when the conflict is protracted and severe The aim of this study is to define the preconditions of successful NGO mediation to measure the NGO influence as an antecedent condition for successful mediation and to exhibit its limits The underlying assumption is that conflict resolution is more likely if NGO mediation supports this attempt This approach can be labelled as an assumption of constant effect since the focus is on understanding the NGOs influence on international conflict resolution Three cases of NGO led mediation attempts are analysed The cases are selected because of their problematic official relations are chosen under criteria of comparability Thus they have similar conditions framework in common namely in matters of time territory and main actors The case studies analysed are seated in the Middle East because negotiations between Israel and Palestine were and still are highly conflicted protracted and many mediation attempts by third parties have taken place there The analysis of these three cases their differences and similarities shall lead to a better general understanding of the possibilities and limits of NGOs and the necessary preconditions

Globalization and Conflict Robert G. Patman, 2006-08-10 This volume highlights the gap between the new security environment and the notion of state centred national security favoured by Washington showing how a Cold War phenomenon known as the national security state in which defence and foreign policy interests essentially converge remains largely intact The conventional wisdom since the suicide attacks of 9 11 is that the world has been transformed and according to President Bush September 11 changed the strategic thinking of the US This book challenges these assumptions Indeed the Bush administration s National Security strategy of 2002 has reinvigorated and even extended the idea of national security Paradoxically the renewed emphasis on a distinctly state centred approach to security including the War on Terror has unfolded during an era of deepening globalization Drawing on the international expertise of fourteen specialists the book examines four inter related themes the impact of globalization on the concept of security the strategic outlook of the world s only superpower the US the new conflicts that have come to characterize the post Cold War era efforts to regulate the emerging patterns of conflict in the world Globalization and Conflict will be essential reading for students of strategic studies security studies and international relations

Rituals of Mediation François Debrix, Cynthia Weber, 2003 A timely consideration of the meaning of transnational cultural interactions today In an era of increasing globalization the cultural and the international have borders as permeable as most nations and an understanding of one requires making sense of the other Foregrounding the role of mediation understood here as a site of representation transformation and pluralization the authors engage two specific questions How might we make theoretical and practical sense of transnational cultural interactions And how are we to understand the ways in which the sites of mediation represent transform and remediate internationals Accordingly the authors consider international issues like security development political activism and the war against terrorism through the lens of cultural practices such as traveling through airports exhibiting art and photography logging on to the Internet and spinning news stories

Hegemony and

Resistance around the Iranian Nuclear Programme Moritz Pieper, 2017-04-21 The Iranian nuclear crisis is a proxy arena for competing visions about the functioning of international relations This book is the first to provide comprehensive and comparative analyses to conceptualise the interaction between hegemonic structures and those actors resisting them using the Iranian nuclear case as an illustration It analyses the foreign policies of China Russia and Turkey towards the Iranian nuclear programme and thereby answers the question to what extent these policies are indicative of a security culture that resists hegemony Based on 70 elite interviews with experts and decision makers closely involved with the Iranian nuclear file it analyses resistance to hegemony across its ideational material and institutional framework conditions The cases examined show how compliance on the part of China Russia and Turkey with parts of US approaches to the Iranian nuclear conflict has been selective and how US policy preferences in the Iran dossier have been resisted on other occasions As such the Iran nuclear case serves as an illustration to shed light on the contemporaneous interaction of the forces of consent and coercion in international politics This book will be of key interest to scholars students and practitioners in International Relations Security Studies and Foreign Policy Analysis

Transforming Ethnopolitical Conflict Alex Austin, Martina Fischer, Norbert Ropers, 2013-04-17 Preface Confronted with a wide variety of conflicts the international community has attempted to respond through humanitarian assistance development aid crisis prevention and conflict resolution programmes To date many of these activities have exacerbated conflict dynamics as much as they have enhanced the opportunities for sustainable development and peace In an effort to understand what works lessons learned and best practices are being collected usually in the form of evaluations of individual projects or programs Although the number of studies undertaken has increased few lessons have been systematised or accumulated for broader discussion in the academic field or for practitioners use The Berghof Research Center for Constructive Conflict Management produced this Handbook in response to the contemporary challenges which have to be faced by those who are working in and on violent conflict The intention is to give an overview of recent developments in the field of conflict transformation from various perspectives from academic analysts and practitioners as well as from experts representing different areas of work inside and outside of conflict zones

Israeli-Palestinian Negotiations in the 1990s: How NGOs Facilitated the Peace Process Tilman Pradt, 2012-08 Non governmental organisations NGOs have become important actors in the globalised world They run aid and relief programmes in the poorest countries support international institutions like the United Nations or are watchdogs of them for example watchdogs of the Bretton Woods institutions In doing so NGOs naturally work permanently with state agencies and it is probably hard to find an NGO which is totally free of any governmental support in financial logistical or informative matters Thus there are strong NGO government connections on a daily work basis NGOs run multiple attempts to contribute to the resolution of conflicts on all political levels They bring together people on the grass root level they try to influence high officials through public pressure and they organise conferences and discussions with members and consultants of the concerned parties The latter approach is analysed in this study But how do NGOs influence the level of official international relations To which degree can NGOs improve the relations of two conflicted parties especially when the conflict is protracted and severe The aim of this book is to define the preconditions of successful NGO mediation to measure the NGO influence as an antecedent condition for successful mediation and to exhibit its limits The underlying assumption is that conflict resolution is more likely if NGO mediation supports this attempt This approach can be labelled as an assumption of constant effect since the focus is on understanding the NGOs influence on international conflict resolution Contemporary

Peacemaking Roger Mac Ginty,Anthony Wanis-St. John,2022-01-12 This fully updated third edition of Contemporary Peacemaking is a state of the art overview of peacemaking in relation to contemporary civil wars It examines best and worst practice in relation to peace processes and peace accords The contributing authors are a mix of leading academics and practitioners with expert knowledge of a wide arrays of cases and techniques The book provides a mix of theory and concept building along with insights into ongoing cases of peace processes and post accord peacebuilding The chapters make clear that peacemaking is a dynamic field with new practices in peacemaking techniques changes to the international peace support architecture and greater awareness of key issues such as gender and development after peace accords The book is mindful of the intersection between top down and bottom up approaches to peace and how formal and institutionalized peace accords need to be lived and enacted by communities on the ground The Law of International Conflict Hanspeter Neuhold,2015-11-24 The Law of International Conflict deals with three key principles of modern international law that are related to each other from a policy oriented perspective The prohibition in the UN Charter has not stopped the threat or use of force since the system of collective security of the World Organization still fails to effectively enforce it On the other hand the UN has developed peacekeeping operations non military sanctions the international administration of territories tribunals trying individuals for serious breaches of international humanitarian law and the concept of responsibility to protect The prohibition of intervention i e coercion below armed force also poses numerous problems The alternative the peaceful settlement of disputes can be achieved by various methods all of which have advantages and shortcomings

Handbook of International Relations Walter Carlsnaes, Thomas Risse, Thomas Risse-Kappen, Beth A Simmons, 2002 NEW IN PAPERBACK FEBRUARY 2005 The most systematic and wide ranging survey of the multi faceted field of International Relations yet produced It is sure to become a standard reference work and teaching text and is unlikely to be superseded at any time in the near future It should be considered as essential reading International Affairs The Handbook of International Relations published 2002 in hardback quickly established itself as the benchmark volume providing a state of the art review and indispensable guide to the study of international relations It is now released in paperback in order to be accessible to students in classroom use Divided into three parts the volume reviews both the historical philosophical analytical and normative roots to the discipline and the key contemporary topics of research and debate today The first part introduces the major approaches within the field and unpacks many of the on going debates within the discipline including those between rationalist and constructivist approaches The second part moves on to explore the key concepts and contextual factors important to the subject from concepts like the state and power to international and transnational actors debates around globalization and contending feminist perspectives The final part reviews a number of the key substantive issues in international relations and is designed to complement the analytical tools and perspectives presented in Parts I and II Examples of the many topics included are foreign policy war and peace security nationalism and ethnicity finance trade development the environment and human rights

Constructive Interventions L. Kirchhoff, 2008-05-16 In the contemporary discipline of conflict resolution adjudication and alternative dispute resolution ADR are often seen as antagonistic trends This important book contends that on the contrary it is the bringing together of these trends that holds the most promise for an effective system of international justice With great insight and passion built firmly on a vast knowledge of the field Lars Kirchhoff exposes the contemporary structural barriers to effective conflict resolution defining where adjudication ends and ADR and particularly the recent development of mediated third party intervention from an art to a veritable science must come into play The work starts by defining the challenges potentials and shortcomings of different approaches to conflict resolution in an interdependent world where the multiplicity of actors topics and interests involved even in seemingly bilateral conflict situations is clearly manifest and goes on to define useful models and connect the various elements relevant for the resolution of conflicts in a transparent way In the course of its investigation the book accomplishes the following illustrates the various departure points and perspectives scholars of conflict resolution have taken as the basis for their work discusses who should become involved in conflicts as a third party and by which techniques this should occur systematically conveys the nature and consequences of intervention through mediation focusing on the method s critical challenges and clarifies the particular model of international mediation under development through UN initiatives In approaching these intertwined topics the author draws concrete conclusions for the realms of international law and related disciplines as well as for the organizational context of the United Nations He explores such diverse scenarios as conflicts between States conflicts involving international organizations and in accordance with the changing parameters of international law even conflicts involving individuals clarifying which constellations can be tackled by international mediation and which conflicts should be dealt with by other forms of diplomacy or adjudication It is the conviction of many intermediaries and scholars that the considerable potential inherent in resolving conflicts peacefully is rarely put into practice Although some of the reasons for this phenomenon are beyond the influence of scholarly debate in many instances the reasons for failure of peaceful resolution processes are more structural or systemic in nature It is the great virtue of this book that it establishes enough clarity in an unclear and complex field to make concrete and workable recommendations in these instances and for that reason it will be of immeasurable value and benefit to all scholars policymakers and activists dedicated to the pursuit of peace

European Union Council Presidencies Ole Elgström, 2004-03-01 This book describes analyses explains and compares the role performance of different presidencies The expert and international authors ask why member states have different approaches and play the role differently prioritising different functions and using a variety of strategies to realise their aspirations The book consists of three parts i describes the functions of the presidency ii compares nine different presidencies and iii a concluding section comparing media images and summaries looking at member state characteristics and behaviour

Beyond the success in transboundary water management Abdurasul Kayumov, 2016-02-29 Today when so many countries share the same transboundary river basins unilateral water management becomes extremely critical Joint water management on the other hand faces many obstacles because of states interests in particular function of the water Water is needed for drinking household irrigation hydro energy fishing navigation tourism as well as many other purposes and unfortunately it cannot meet all needs simultaneously The satisfaction of one need often impedes the others In this regard transboundary river basins often create challenges among states by leading them to negotiate in asymmetric relations This book is an attempt to address the effectiveness of transboundary water management from a social and political perspective by offering new theoretical underpinnings to understand the success conditions in sharing transboundary water resources The author focused in the work on three conditions i e institutional conditions and country specific conditions as well as conditions of regional integrity level and role of external actors The proposed conditions were tested on two river basins i e the successful one in the example of Orange Senqu river basin and unsuccessful one in the case of Naryn Syrdarya river basin

Zimbabwe's Military: Examining its Veto Power in the Transition to Democracy, 2008-2013 Rupiya, Martin R., 2013-10-14 Political transition and democratisation challenges have been noted in African countries including Angola Burkina Faso Kenya Mali and the Democratic Republic of the Congo resulting in the African Union AU intervening on behalf of citizens using tried and tested mechanisms of imposing a power sharing agreement to preside over a transitional period during which there are key changes to the constitution and the political conduct of the incumbency and partisan institutions are weaned from seeking to perpetuate the status quo This book focuses on Zimbabwe's military and its perceived veto power in the transition to democratisation from 2008 until 2013 The objective was to analyse monitor and comment on the unique democratic transformational challenges faced by Zimbabwe's Government of National Unity One of the book's key findings is that every time partisan forces carry out an operation in the name of a political party there is a direct correlation in which the same loses its national character This is the context of the challenge facing Zimbabwean forces when used for partisan gain and why the Southern African Development Community SADC in its last communique in Maputo on 15 June 2013 sought to compel a written undertaking from the generals that they would desist from playing a direct role in the politics of the country The AU had earlier expressed its deep regret when faced with the results of serious human rights abuses that were committed with impunity
