Mexican Melodrama Elena Lahr-Vivaz, 2016-10-18 In Mexican Melodrama Elena Lahr Vivaz explores the compelling ways that new wave Mexican directors use the tropes and themes of Golden Age films to denounce the excesses of a nation characterized as a fragmented and fictitious construct Analyzing big hits and quiet successes of both Golden Age and new wave cinema the author offers in each chapter a comparative reading of films from the two eras considering for instance Amores perros Love's a Bitch Alejandro González Iñárritu 2000 alongside Nosotros los pobres We the Poor Ismael Rodríguez 1947 Through such readings Lahr Vivaz examines how new wave directors draw from a previous generation to produce meaning in the present Mexico's Golden Age of film the period from the 1930s to the 1950s is considered golden due to both the prestige of the era's stars and the critical and popular success of the films released Golden Age directors often turned to the tropes of melodrama and allegory to offer spectators an image of an idealized Mexico and to spur the formation of a spectatorship united through shared tears and laughter In contrast Lahr Vivaz demonstrates that new wave directors of the 1990s and 2000s use the melodramatic mode to present a vision of fragmentation and to open a space for critical resistance In so doing new wave directors highlight the limitations rather than the possibilities of a unified spectatorship and point to the need for spectators to assume a critical stance in the face of the exigencies of the present Written in an accessible style Mexican Melodrama offers a timely comparative analysis of critically acclaimed films that will serve as key referents in discussions of Mexican cinema for years to come ethics politics religion and literature ideas which hitherto have received little attention New information is also provided towards a reconstruction of the cultural evolution of Europe in the years prior to the Enlightenment and thus the scope of the book extends beyond that of Spanish literature
