The Quest of Alain-Fournier

Since his mysterious disappearance in the First World War, Alain-Fournier has become something of a legend. His only novel 'LE GRAND MEAULNES', ranks as a modern classic. This first English book about him shows that Alain-Fournier's life was as haunting a story of adolescence and lost love as the novel which won him enduring fame.

The Journals: 1966-1990 John Fowles, 2009 John Fowles

gained international recognition in 1963 with his first published novel The Collector but his labor on what may be his greatest literary undertaking his journals commenced over a decade earlier Fowles whose works include The Maggot The French Lieutenant's Woman and The Ebony Tower is among the most inventive and influential English novelists of the twentieth century The first volume begins in 1949 with Fowles final year at Oxford It reveals his intellectual maturation chronicling his experiences as a university lecturer in France and as a schoolteacher on the Greek island of Spetsai Simultaneously candid and eloquent Fowles journals also expose the deep connection between his personal and scholarly lives as Fowles struggled to win literary acclaim From his affair with Elizabeth the married woman who would become his first wife to his passion for film ornithology travel and book collecting the journals present a portrait of a man eager to experience life The second and final volume opens in 1966 as Fowles already an international success navigates his newfound fame and wealth With absolute honesty his journals map his inner turmoil over his growing celebrity and his hesitance to take on the role of a public figure Fowles recounts his move from London to a secluded house on England's Dorset coast where discontented with society's voracious materialism he led an increasingly isolated life Great works in their own right Fowles journals elucidate the private thoughts that gave rise to some of the greatest writing of our time The Continental Novel Elizabeth I. Kearney, Louise S. Fitzgerald, 1968 Patrick White Within the Western Literary Tradition John Beston, 2010 Representing the author's interest spanning over thirty five years the essays expose White's evocation of dimensions other than material reality his preoccupation with epiphanies and mythmaking and his constant forging of a poetic style The Journals John Fowles, 2007-12-18 In 1963 John Fowles won international recognition with The Collector his first published novel In the years following with the publication of The Magus The French Lieutenant's Woman The Ebony Tower and his other critically acclaimed works of fiction nonfiction and poetry Fowles took his place among the most innovative and important English novelists of our time Now with this first volume of his journals which covers the years from 1949 to 1965 we see revealed not only the creative development of a great writer but also the deep connection between Fowles's autobiographical experience and his literary inspiration Commencing in Fowles's final year at Oxford the journals in this volume chronicle the years he spent as a university lecturer in France his experiences teaching school on the Greek island of Spetsai which would inspire The Magus and his love affair there with the married woman who would later become his first wife and his return to England and his ongoing struggle to achieve literary success It is an account of a life lived in total engagement with the world although Fowles the novelist takes center stage we see as well Fowles the nascent poet and critic ornithologist and gardener passionate naturalist and traveler cinephile and collector of old books Soon after he fell in love with his first wife Elizabeth Fowles wrote in his journal She has asked me not to write about her in here But I could not not write loving her as I do What else I betrayed I could not betray this diary It is that determined unsparing honesty and forthrightness that imbues these journals with all the emotional power and narrative complexity of his novels They are a revelation of both the man and the artist Ethics and Aesthetics in European Modernist Literature David Ellison, 2001-09-27 David Ellison's book is an investigation into the historical origins and textual practice of European literary Modernism. Ellison's study traces the origins of Modernism to the emergence of early German Romanticism from the philosophy of Immanuel Kant and emphasizes how the passage from Romanticism to Modernism can be followed in the gradual transition from the sublime to the uncanny. Arguing that what we call High Modernism cannot be reduced to a religion of beauty, an experimentation with narrative form, or even a reflection on time and consciousness, Ellison demonstrates that Modernist textuality is characterized by the intersection, overlapping, and crossing of aesthetic and ethical issues. Beauty and morality relate to each other as antagonists struggling for dominance within the related fields of philosophy and theory. On the one hand, Kant, Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Freud, and imaginative literature; on the other, Baudelaire, Proust, Gide, Conrad, Woolf, Kafka. Columbia Dictionary of Modern European Literature Jean Albert Bédé, William Benbow Edgerton, 1980. With more than 1800 critical entries on the writers and literatures of 33 languages, this work presents the entire range of modern European writing from the symbolist and modernist works rooted in the last decades of the nineteenth century through the avant-garde and existentialist movement to Barthes, Blanchot, Breton, and continental thought pertinent today. T.S. Eliot Lyndall Gordon, 1999. The award-winning author of Eliot's Early Years combines new material, including scores of recently discovered letters, with the best of her earlier work in a single volume that addresses Eliot's anti-Semitism as well as his misogyny of photos. Saturday Review, 1954.
