Question Of Christian Philosophy Today:

The Question of Christian Philosophy Today Francis J. Ambrosio, 1999 Based on papers delivered at a conference held at Georgetown University in Fall 1993 The Question of Christian Philosophy Today probes different issues confronting Christian philosophy at the brink of the twenty first century from traditionalism to post modernism Together with excerpts from the question and answer session each paper and the concluding round table discussion are here preserved in five distinct sections The work taken as a whole is an exemplar of the meaning and spirit of where we can locate Christian philosophy today and what we can expect for its future

Christian Philosophy J. Aaron Simmons, 2019 One of the marks of being a philosopher is participating in debates about what counts as philosophy Of particular note in such debates is the question of how to distinguish philosophy from theology Although a variety of answers to this question have been offered in the history of philosophy in recent decades the prominence of Christian philosophy has been heralded by many as a genuine triumph over the problematic narrowness of strong foundationalism positivism and scientism For others however it signals that philosophy continues to risk being replaced by confessional theology Wherever one comes down on such issues and however one interprets recent trends in philosophy of religion the idea of Christian philosophy continues to present pressing questions for those working in meta philosophy epistemology metaphysics hermeneutics and value theory In this volume established scholars representing a variety of cultural traditions religious perspectives and philosophical priorities all wrestle with how the idea of Christian philosophy should be understood appropriated and engaged in light of where philosophy is and where it is likely to go The volume includes classical essays that have deeply marked the field and also new essays that explore the relevance of Christian philosophy to issues in disability studies engaged pedagogy lived phenomenology the academic study of religion and the workings of social power Rather than offer a unified view that seeks to settle things the contributors demonstrate that Christian philosophy remains a topic of lively debate Wherever one comes down on the issues considered here this volume shows that Christian philosophy is neither merely of historical interest nor of interest only to Christians but instead remains a thoroughly philosophical topic worthy of serious consideration and substantive critique With a Foreword by Nicholas Wolterstorff Noah Porter Professor Emeritus of Philosophical Theology at Yale University Senior Research Fellow in the Institute for Advanced Studies in Culture at the University of Virginia and Honorary Professor of Australian Catholic University

Philosophy of Religion for a New

Century Jeremiah Hackett, Jerald Wallulis, 2004-04-30 Philosophy of Religion for a New Century represents the work of nineteen scholars presented at a conference in honor of Eugene T Long at the University of South Carolina April 5 6 2002 This volume is a good example of philosophy in dialogue there is both respect and genuine disagreement First an account of our present situation in the Philosophy of Religion is given leading to a discussion of the very idea of a Christian Philosophy and the coherence of the traditional concept of God The implications of science and a concern for the environment in our concepts of God are carefully examined A discussion follows on the possibility of speech about God and silence about God Since much of modern European philosophy is concerned with the Death of God theme the positions of Nietzsche and some of his twentieth century interpreters are presented There are presentations on Feminist Approaches to Philosophy of Religion and Comparative Religion is examined in relation to cultures and the demands of rationality The volume concludes with a critical dialogue on the relation of Religious Discourse to the Public Sphere Developing global awareness has led to significant change in the Philosophy of Religion One dimensional approaches have given way to honest dialogue The traditional boundaries between the secular and the religious have shifted and new approaches to traditional problems are required This volume presents examples of these new approaches Theopoetic Folds Roland Faber, Jeremy

Fackenthal, 2013-08-01 In complex philosophical ways theology is should and can be a theopoetics of multiplicity The ambivalent term theopoetics is associated with poetry and aesthetic theory theology and literature and repressed literary qualities myths and metaphorical theologies On a more profound basis it questions the establishment of the difference between philosophy and theology and resides in the dangerous realm of relativism The chapters in this book explore how the term theopoetics contributes to cutting edge work in theology philosophy literature and sociology Rethinking God as

Gift Robyn Horner, 2001 At once rigorous insightful and accessible the most thorough study yet available on the phenomenological treatment of God as gift in Marion and Derrida Invaluable reading for those concerned with the theological promise of contemporary Continental philosophy Thomas A Carlson University of California Santa Barbara

Castoriadis's Ontology Suzi Adams, 2011 This book is the first systematic reconstruction of Castoriadis's philosophical trajectory It critically interprets the shifts in his ontology by reconsidering the ancient problematic of human institution nomos and nature physis on the one hand and the question of being and creation on the other Unlike the order of physis the order of nomos has played no substantial role in the development of Western thought The first part of the book suggests that Castoriadis sought to remedy this by elucidating the social historical as the region of being that eludes the determinist imaginary of inherited philosophy This ontological turn was announced in his 1975 magnum opus The Imaginary Institution of Society With the aid of archival sources the second half of the book reconstructs a second ontological shift in Castoriadis's thought that occurred during the 1980s The author argues that Castoriadis extends his notion of ontological creation beyond the human realm and into nature This move has implications for his overall ontology and signals a shift toward a general ontology of creative physis The Wedding Feast of the Lamb Emmanuel Falque, 2016-09-01 Emmanuel Falque's The Wedding Feast of the Lamb represents a turning point in his thought. Here Falque links philosophy and theology in an original fashion that allows us to see the full effect of theology's backlash against philosophy. By attending closely to the incarnation and the eucharist, Falque develops a new concept of the body and of love. By avoiding the common mistake of angelism, consciousness without body, Falque considers the depths to which our humanity reflects animality or body without consciousness. He shows the continued relevance of the question: How can this man give us his flesh to eat (John 6:52) especially to philosophy. We need to question the meaning of this: 'this is my body' in a way that responds to the needs of our time. Vatican II. Because of the ways that Hoc est corpus meum has shaped our culture and our modernity, this is a problem both for religious belief and for culture.

On Becoming God: Late Medieval Mysticism and the Modern Western Self Ben Morgan, 2013. Do we have to conceive of ourselves as isolated individuals inevitably distanced from other people and from whatever we might mean when we use the word God? On Becoming God offers an innovative approach to the history of the modern Western self by looking at human identity as something people do together rather than on their own as a way of managing and keeping at bay the impulses and experiences associated with the word God. The self is a way of doing things or of not doing things with God. The book draws on phenomenology, Heidegger, gender studies, Beauvoir, Butler, and contemporary neuroscience. It surveys existing approaches to modern selfhood: Foucault, Charles Taylor, and proposes an alternative account by investigating late medieval mysticism in particular texts written in Germany by Meister Eckhart and others. It concludes by exploring the parallel between late medieval confessors and their spiritual charges and late nineteenth-century psychoanalysts and their patients in search of a vocabulary for acknowledging and nurturing our everyday commitments to others and to our spiritual longings.

The Metamorphosis of Finitude Emmanuel Falque, 2014-05-01. This book starts off from a philosophical premise: nobody can be in the world unless they are born into the world. It examines this premise in the light of the theological belief that birth serves or ought to serve as a model for understanding what resurrection could signify for us today. After all, the modern Christian needs to find some way of understanding resurrection and the dogma of the resurrection of the body is vacuous unless we can relate it philosophically to our own world of experience. Nicodemus first posed the question: How can anyone be born after having grown old? Can one enter a second time into the mother's womb and be born? This book reads that problem in the context of contemporary philosophy, particularly the thought of Husserl, Heidegger, Sartre, Merleau-Ponty, and Deleuze. A phenomenology of the body born from below is seen as a paradigm for a theology of spiritual rebirth and for rebirth of the body from on high. The Resurrection changes everything in Christianity, but it is also our own bodies that must be transformed in resurrection as Christ is transfigured. And the way in which I hope to be resurrected bodily in God in the future depends upon the way in which I live bodily today. Corpus

Jean-Luc Nancy, 2009-08-25. How have we thought the body? How can we think it anew? The body of mortal creatures, the body politic the body of letters and of laws the mystical body of Christ all these and others are incorporated in the word Corpus the title and topic of Jean Luc Nancy's masterwork Corpus is a work of literary force at once phenomenological sociological theological and philosophical in its multiple orientations and approaches In thirty six brief sections Nancy offers us at once an encyclopedia and a polemical program reviewing classical takes on the corpus from Plato Aristotle and Saint Paul to Descartes Hegel Husserl and Freud while demonstrating that the mutations technological biological and political of our own culture have given rise to the need for a new understanding of the body He not only tells the story of this cultural change but also explores the promise and responsibilities that such a new understanding entails The long awaited English translation is a bold bravura rendering To the title essay are added five closely related recent pieces including a commentary by Antonia Birnbaum dedicated in large part to the legacy of the mind body problem formulated by Descartes and the challenge it poses to rethinking the ancient problems of the corpus The last and most poignant of these essays is The Intruder Nancy's philosophical meditation on his heart transplant The book also serves as the opening move in Nancy's larger project called The deconstruction of Christianity

Dante and Derrida Francis J. Ambrosio, 2012-02-01 Reading Dante's Commedia alongside Jacques Derrida's later religious writings Francis J. Ambrosio explores what these works reveal about religion as a fundamental dynamic of human existence about freedom and responsibility and about the significance of writing itself Ambrosio argues that both the many telling differences between them and the powerful bonds that unite them across centuries show that Dante and Derrida share an identity as religious writers that arises from the human experiences of faith hope and love in response to the divine mystery of being human For both Dante and Derrida Ambrosio contends scriptural religion reveals that the paradoxical tension of freedom and absolute responsibility must lead to the mystery of forgiveness a secret that these two share and faithfully keep by surrendering to its necessity to die so as always to begin again anew

Mass Society and Its Culture, and Three Essays concerning Etienne Gilson on Bergson, Christian Philosophy, and Art Étienne Gilson, Henri Gouhier, 2023-01-24 A medievalist and defender of the notion of Christian philosophy Etienne Gilson had a lifelong interest in the philosophy of art He questioned whether what is reproduced as art in contemporary society is art at all This is not a simple issue A cheap version of a novel is still a novel A picture of a statue is not a statue nor indeed is a photograph of a painting a painting Recorded music has particular complications The organizer of an industrial assembly line is neither an artist nor an artisan Yet thanks to such mass production a much broader population has knowledge of artworks than would otherwise be possible Religions must minister to mass societies and provide appropriate liturgies But in the process there is a danger of misrepresenting complex religious teachings At the end of his own life Henri Gouhier Gilson's first doctoral student prepared three essays on Gilson The first on Bergson gives a sense of Gilson's formation in early twentieth century French philosophy The second reconstructs the development of the notion of Christian philosophy and the heated controversy it provoked Finally Gouhier presents Gilson's general philosophy of art and gives a helpful framework to Gilson's comments on art in a mass society Luce Irigaray: Key Writings Luce Irigaray, 2004-06-22 Luce Irigaray is one of the world's most influential theorists. From her early ground-breaking work on linguistics to her later revolutionary work on the ethics of sexual difference, Irigaray has positioned herself as one of the essential thinkers of our time. This collection of key writings selected by Luce Irigaray herself presents a complete picture of her work to date across the fields of Philosophy, Linguistics, Spirituality, Art, and Politics. An indispensable work for students of philosophy, literary theory, feminist theory, linguistics, and cultural studies.

INTRODUCTION TO COLLEGE PHILOSOPHY TEACHER SUPPLEMENT Victor Moeller, 2013-07-11 This college course, an Introduction to Philosophy, is not a history of the great philosophers and their systems. It is not a survey of the traditional divisions of philosophy: metaphysics, epistemology, phenomenology, ethics, politics, and aesthetics. It is, however, a process of doing philosophy that takes up some of the basic questions and problems that we will all encounter in life sooner or later. It is also an application of the Socratic method of teaching and learning that develops habits of independent critical and reflective thinking. It is a series of Socratic seminars on the Great Books by the greatest faculty of the Western world and a process that illustrates how to pass from the world of work, need, and empirical science into the world of all things, beings, that Being provides.

Christian Philosophy Craig G. Bartholomew, Michael W. Goheen, 2013-10-15 This third book in a series of successful introductory textbooks by Craig Bartholomew and Michael Goheen builds on their previous projects, The Drama of Scripture and Living at the Crossroads, to offer a comprehensive narrative of philosophical thought from a distinctly Christian perspective. After exploring the interaction among Scripture, worldview, theology, and philosophy, the authors tell the story of philosophy from ancient Greece through postmodern times, positioning the philosophers in their historical contexts and providing Christian critique along the way. The authors emphasize the Reformed philosophical tradition without neglecting other historical trajectories and show how philosophical thought relates to contemporary life.

Christian Thought in the Twenty-First Century Douglas H. Shantz, Tinu Ruparell, 2012-04-01 In this volume, some of the outstanding Christian scholars of our day reflect on how their minds have changed, how their academic fields have changed over the course of their careers, and the pressing issues that Christian scholars will need to address in the twenty-first century. This volume offers an accessible portrait of key trends in the world of Christian scholarship today. Christian Thought in the Twenty-First Century features scholars from Great Britain, Canada, the United States, and Switzerland. The contributors represent a wide variety of academic backgrounds, from biblical studies to theology to religious studies to history, English literature, philosophy, law, and ethics. This book offers a personal glimpse of Christian scholars in a self-reflective mode, capturing their honest reflections on the changing state of the academy and on changes in their own minds and outlooks. The breadth and depth of insight afforded by these contributions provide rich soil for a reader's own reflections and an agenda that will occupy Christian thinkers well into the twenty-first century.

Readings in the Philosophy of Religion - Third Edition Kelly James Clark, 2017-05-03 This anthology contains the best of both classical and contemporary sources offering a balanced historical approach to the philosophy of religion while reflecting the latest developments in the field The included readings grapple with issues that are existentially compelling and provocative regardless of one's religious leanings Topics are covered in a point counterpoint manner designed to foster deep reflection This third edition contains an entirely new section on early Chinese religion as well as new essays on religious language feminism and the cognitive science of religion

Readings in the Philosophy of Religion - Second Edition Kelly James Clark, 2008-02-14 Like the first edition the second edition of Readings in the Philosophy of Religion covers topics in a point counterpoint manner specifically designed to foster deep reflection Unique to this collection is the section on the divine attributes The book's focus is on issues of fundamental human concern God's suffering hell prayer feminist theology and religious pluralism All of these are shown in a lengthy introduction to relate to the standard issues in philosophical theology omnipotence omniscience immutability goodness and eternity For this second edition each major section ends with an extended reflection by a philosopher who shows how to think through the issues raised in the preceding essays Also included are a new section on the ontological argument with classical discussions by Anselm and Gaunilo along with a new essay by Laura Garcia a new section on religious language new essays on the free will defense theodicies and feminist theology and a new version of the cosmological argument that does not rely on the principle of sufficient reason
