Has a Past Michael Tonry,2011-09-01 For nearly two centuries in the United States the punishment of crime was largely aimed in theory and in practice at prevention rehabilitation or incapacitation and deterrence In the mid 1970s a sharp and some argued permanent shift occurred Punishment in the criminal justice system became first and foremost about retribution Retribution trumped rehabilitation proportionality outweighed prevention The retributivist sea change was short lived however After a few decades some policy makers returned tentatively to individualized approaches to punishment launching initiatives like drug courts and programs for treatment and reentry Others promoted policies that retained the rhetoric but betrayed the theory punishment in proportion to culpability of retributivism resulting in mandatory minimum sentences three strikes and you're out laws dangerous offender and sexual predator laws truth in sentencing and life without the possibility of parole What now for retributivism Retributivism Has a Past Has It a Future brings thoughtfulness and rigor back into the retributivism debate This collection of essays trains some of the most influential and brightest established and up and coming legal and philosophical minds on how retributivism does might or should affect contemporary policy and practices The volume's aim is neither to condemn nor to justify but to take new policies and practices seriously and examine them closely At a time when criminal justice policy makers are forced to reconsider contemporary approaches to punishment and attempt to devise new ones Retributivism Has a Past Has It a Future offers serious theoretical critiques of the recent past and justifications for possible futures

Life and Death Matters Robert Baldwin, 2008-06-01 Dr Robert Baldwin would be the first to tell you that he used to be an average white Southern male a family man with conservative ideals and a growing medical practice he was living out his life without too much introspection In 1997 however Baldwin was diagnosed with the autoimmune disease myasthenia gravis In his compelling new memoir Life and Death Matters Baldwin discusses his health scare and his subsequent search for truth in both the Christian church and society at large Baldwin goes on to tackle one of the most precarious moral issues of our time the death penalty with statistical fact and thoughtful religious sympathy While volunteering as a prison minister Baldwin immerses himself in this issue proving himself to be a most thoughtful individual with an eye for social injustice and an ear for those in most need of counsel

Non-Adversarial Justice Michael King, Arle Freiberg, Becky Batagol, Ross Hyams, 2014-07-04 This book outlines key aspects of the use of non adversarial practices in the Australian justice system with reference to similar developments in the United States Canada New Zealand and the United Kingdom It examines in detail non adversarial theories and practices such as therapeutic jurisprudence restorative justice preventive law creative problem solving holistic law appropriate or alternative dispute resolution collaborative law problem oriented courts diversion programs indigenous courts coroners courts and managerial and administrative procedures

Answering for Crime R A Duff, 2007-11-16 In this long awaited book Antony Duff offers a new perspective on the structures of criminal law and criminal liability His starting point is a distinction between responsibility understood as answerability and liability and a conception of responsibility as relational and practice based This focus on responsibility as a matter of being answerable to those who have the standing to call one to account throws new light on a range of questions in criminal law theory on the question of criminalisation which can now be cast as the question of what we should have to answer for and to whom under the threat of criminal conviction and punishment on questions about the criminal trial as a process through which defendants are called to answer and about the conditions bars to trial given which a trial would be illegitimate on questions about the structure of offences the distinction between offences and defences and the phenomena of strict liability and strict responsibility and on questions about the structures of criminal defences The net result is not a theory of criminal law but it is an account of the structure of criminal law as an institution through which a liberal polity defines a realm of public wrongdoing and calls those who perpetrate or are accused of perpetrating such wrongs to account
