

To talk about logical possibility

- ◆ Can is often used in questions and negatives to talk about the logical possibility that something is true.
- ◆ Example: There is the doorbell. Who can it be?
- ◆ With this meaning can is not possible in affirmative clauses. Instead, we use could, may or might.
- ◆ Example: Where is John? He could/may/might be in the garden. (NOT He can be in the garden.)
