Richard Hillary:

Richard Hillary David A Ross,2008-09-22 The authoritative biography of the WWII ace fighter pilot hero of the Battle of Britain and author of the classic wartime memoir The Last Enemy As both a legendary flying ace and an accomplished author Richard Hillary achieved a unique kind of immortality during his tragically short life Born in Australia and raised in England he attended Oxford University before joining the Royal Air Force at the outbreak of World War II Flying Spitfires in the 603 Squadron he became an ace in the Battle of Britain Though he managed to survive being shot down in September 1940 he suffered severe burns to his face and hands It was during his long and painful recovery that Hillary wrote his masterpiece The Last Enemy Then anxious to return to flying he died when his Bristol Blenheim bomber crashed in mysterious circumstances in 1943 Cutting through myth and misinformation biographer David Ross draws on extensive archival research including from the Richard Hillary Trust Archive in Oxford as well as interviews with Hillary's contemporaries This complete biography also features many previously unseen photographs Richard Hillary Lovat Dickson,1950 The

Fatal Englishman Sebastian Faulks,2009-07-01 In The Fatal Englishman his first work of nonfiction Sebastian Faulks explores the lives of three remarkable men Each had the seeds of greatness each was a beacon to his generation and left something of value behind yet each one died tragically young Christopher Wood only twenty nine when he killed himself was a painter who lived most of his short life in the beau monde of 1920s Paris where his charm good looks and the dissolute life that followed them sometimes frustrated his ambition and achievement as an artist Richard Hillary was a WWII fighter pilot who wrote a classic account of his experiences The Last Enemy but died in a mysterious training accident while defying doctor's orders to stay grounded after horrific burn injuries he was twenty three Jeremy Wolfenden hailed by his contemporaries as the brightest Englishman of his generation rejected the call of academia to become a hack journalist in Cold War Moscow A spy alcoholic and open homosexual at a time when such activity was still illegal he died at the age of thirty one a victim of his own recklessness and of the peculiar pressures of his time Through the lives of these doomed young men Faulks paints an oblique portrait of English society as it changed in the twentieth century from the Victorian era to the modern world Death in Hollywood Peter Underwood,1992-01-31 The Hollywood way of life has long been a potent mix of scandal secrecy and sensation exactly like the Hollywood way of death In this unique study Peter Underwood charts the lives loves and deaths of thirty of Tinseltown's most glittering stars Many deaths were sad or senseless some were tragic others were the revenge of old age while a few were the revenge of something altogether more sinister WLA ,2003

Encyclopedia of British Writers, 1800 to the Present George Stade,Karen Karbiener,2010-05-12 Contains alphabetically arranged entries that provide biographical and critical information on major and lesser known nineteenth and twentieth century British writers and includes articles on key schools of literature and genres Letters from the Few Dilip Sarkar,2020-08-30 Fascinated by the Battle of Britain from an early age as a young man Dilip Sarkar realized that recording and sharing the Few's memories was of paramount importance. At the time back in the mid 1980s membership of the Battle of Britain Fighter Association was well populated and the then Honorary Secretary the now late Wing Commander Pat Hancock DFC OBE supported Dilip's research by forwarding letters to individual pilots of interest. Those members of the Few included a wide range of personalities from famous airmen like Group Captain Peter Townsend and Air Marshal Sir Denis Crowley-Milling to the also-rans as Battle of Britain Hurricane pilot Peter Fox famously described himself and peers. Indeed it was Peter's also-rans that were of the greatest interest to Dilip who recognized that whilst many famous and distinguished pilots had either published personal memoirs or had biographies written about them, lesser lights had no platform to record and share their experiences. This Dilip became dedicated to resolving. For many years Dilip enjoyed prolific correspondence with the Few. These letters, hundreds of them, now represent a unique primary source confirming the incredibly close relationship the author enjoyed with his heroes and high esteem in which they likewise held him. Over the years Dilip's published work has enormously benefited from his unique knowledge of the people involved through this very personal association, the memories collated providing his books a real human touch. As the Few sadly fade away, it is only now that the significance of Dilip's correspondence industry and archive arising are becoming truly apparent. In Letters From The Few Dilip shares with us for the first time a small selection of his correspondence with Battle of Britain fighter pilots, providing us an inspirational insight into the immeasurable value of this research and personalities involved.

Art, Propaganda and Aerial Warfare in Britain during the Second World War Rebecca Searle, 2020-07-23. The War Artists Advisory Committee (WAAC) were responsible for the production of some of the most iconic images of the Second World War. Despite its rich historical value, this collection has been poorly utilised by historians and hasn't been subjected to the levels of analysis afforded to other forms of wartime culture. This innovative study addresses this gap by bringing official war art into dialogue with the social, economic and military histories of the Second World War. Rebecca Searle explores the tensions between the documentarist and propagandistic roles of the WAAC in their representation of aerial warfare in the battle for production: the Battle of Britain, the Blitz and the bombing of Germany. Her analyses demonstrate that whilst there was a strong correlation between war art and propaganda, the WAAC depicted many aspects of experience that were absent from wartime propaganda, such as class divisions within the services, gendered hierarchies within industries, civilian death and the true nature of the bombing of Germany. In addition, she shows that propagandistic constructions were not entirely separate from lived experience but reflected experience and shaped the way that individuals made sense of the war. Accessibly written, highly illustrated and packed with valuable examples of the use of war art as historical source, this book will enhance our understanding of the social and cultural history of Britain during the Second World War.
