

A large, glowing green tree with a bright yellow-orange light emanating from its base is the central focus. It stands on a dark, cracked, stone-like surface. The background is a deep blue, futuristic space with a grid pattern and bright light rays radiating from behind the tree. The overall atmosphere is ethereal and high-tech.

The Parallax from Hell Douglas L. Laubach, 2012-04-28 Is there no sympathy for the Devil Misunderstood and vilified by the worlds major religions Satan has decided to strike back at his accusers In his own words Satan makes the case that he is only carrying out Gods commands and that he is unjustly blamed for the woes of the world Simultaneously controversial and entertaining The Parallax from Hell delivers a new perspective of religious doctrine from the point of view of Gods fallen angel Satan Aided by his unwitting accomplice Satan examines the tenants of the major organized religions giving first a generic summary of their respective beliefs and then following up with his own very different slant To take care of the credibility problem he even footnotes his sources for skeptics Tongue in cheek at times Satan makes his case and then enlists his minions in Hell to contribute short essays and commentary The result is a comprehensive analysis that covers not only religion but history theology science and philosophy Wry and engaging Satans observations challenge you to think critically about your religiously held assumptions as well as the beliefs of other organized religions Definitely not your ordinary theological critique The Parallax from Hell seeks to serve as an unorthodox vehicle for opening hearts and minds
