scholarships to play in college and only 0.03 percent turn pro. Of those 0.03 percent, there are only so many who have successful careers. The millions of players dream of and don't go broke almost immediately after retiring. There's plenty of elite hoopsters, but to make it to the highest level of basketball, you have to be the best in the world. One thing all the elite players have in common are insane work ethics and sometimes some luck in genetics. Inside this book, you'll find stories of the relentless work and hours that these stars have put in when all the lights are shut off, no one's watching, and it's just them and the basketball. Because when basketball is someone's only ticket out of a rough life, gang wars, drugs, and violence, you won't believe how good at the game they'll become.

The #1 New York Times bestselling series continues to delight and astound with an all new collection of surprisingly unnecessary facts and figures. Would it surprise you to learn it takes a sloth about a month to digest a meal? More tourists visit France than any other nation in the world. The United States still has debt from the Revolutionary War. Do you think you ever need to know what type of trees are most frequently struck by lightning? How much a clerk was paid for penning the U.S. Constitution, which celebrity uses the pseudonym Slappy White?

Empowerment : the Competitive Edge in Sports, Business & Life Gene N. Landrum, 2006. In Empowerment: The Competitive Edge in Sports, Business, Life, high profile personality Dr. Gene Landrum presents in a self-help format the 13 winning behaviors modeled by the 13 greatest athletes of the modern era. Landrum's research into the lives of the great entrepreneurs and athletes, supported by a growing body of evidence, suggests that eminence, whether in business or sports, derives not from genetic superiority but from winning behaviors and learned emotional dispositions. With a delightful blend of gifted storytelling and intellectual scholarship, Dr. Landrum has created a book that melds the recent discoveries in psychology and brain research with the dramatic performances of the world's greatest athletes. Charismatic athletes such as Michael Jordan, Lance Armstrong, Martina Navratilova, and Tiger Woods are analyzed in psycho-biographical profiles that focus on the underlying motivations and behaviors of these preeminent personalities rather than on what they achieved. In this respect, and in its connection to the recent research in brain function and psychology, Dr. Landrum's work is unprecedented in the extant literature on athletes and athletic technique.
