ABSTRACT. Objectives: The high frequency of learning difficulties, attention disorders or developmental delay in children in the early years of schooling has resulted in a greater demand for pediatric services. Such services generally include assessments covering various specialties, are lengthy and often inaccessible to families due to prohibitively high cost. This paper presents an economically efficient model of interdisciplinary diagnosis. Methods: A group of 109 Brazilian students from public schools aged between 5 and 14 years old, referred by teachers for a history of learning disabilities, behavioral changes or language problems, was evaluated at the NANI (Núcleo de Atendimento Neuropsicológico Infantil). Assessments were performed simultaneously during a single day's attendance and comprised clinical-genetic examination, behavioral assessment and neuropsychological screening, specially developed for the process. The multiasial system of DSM-IV was adopted for diagnostic description. Results: The results revealed heterogeneity in diagnoses which included specific learning disorders (25.7%), mild intellectual disabilities (17.43%), as well as suspected dysmorphic features (11.93%). Logistic regression showed good sensitivity of neuropsychological screening in the detection of predictive factors for specific developmental disorders, while working memory ($p=0.05$) and language ($p=0.05$) problems were found to be higher risk. Conclusions: The model adopted proved to be useful for defining the diagnosis of several conditions in infancy, and can be incorporated into specialized clinics such as psychiatric or developmental pediatric services.

Key words: neuropsychological screening, interdisciplinary assessment, children, primary care, DSM-IV.

MODELO DE TRIAGEM NEUROPSICOLÓGICA E PEDIÁTRICA EM ESCOLARES COM DIFICULDADES DE APRENDIZAGEM

RESUMO. Objetivos: A alta frequência de dificuldades de aprendizagem, distúrbios atencionais ou atraso no desenvolvimento cognitivo, em crianças nos primeiros anos de escolaridade, vem acarretando grande demanda por serviços de saúde. Tais serviços em geral abrangem avaliações em diversas especialidades, realizadas em períodos de tempo prolongados, frequentemente de pouca acessibilidade para as famílias devido ao alto custo. Neste trabalho apresenta-se um modelo de diagnóstico interdisciplinar economicamente viável. Métodos: Foram avaliados os dados de um grupo de 109 alunos da rede pública de ensino entre 5 e 14 anos de idade, encaminhados ao NANI (Núcleo de Atendimento Neuropsicológico Infantil) pelas professoras por apresentarem história de dificuldades de aprendizagem, alterações comportamentais ou problemas de linguagem oral. As avaliações foram realizadas conjuntamente em um único dia de atendimento e abrangem exame clínico-genético, avaliação comportamental e uma triagem neuropsicológica qualitativa, especialmente desenvolvida para o processo. Adotou-se o sistema multiasial do DSM-IV na descrição diagnóstica. Resultados: Os resultados revelaram uma heterogeneidade de diagnósticos, incluindo transtornos específicos de aprendizagem (25,7%), deficiência intelectual leve (17,43%) e presença de dismorfias a esclarecer (11,93%). Análises de regressão logística evidenciaram boa sensibilidade da triagem neuropsicológica na detecção de fatores preditivos para transtornos específicos do desenvolvimento, sendo que problemas de memória operacional ($p=0,05$) e de linguagem ($p=0,05$) se evidenciaram como de maior risco. Conclusões: O modelo adotado mostrou-se útil, assim, na delimitação diagnóstica de algumas de diversas condições na infância, podendo ser incorporado em clínicas especializadas tais como psiquiátricas ou pediátricas.

Screening And Diagnosis Of Children With Learning Disabilities:

Screening and Diagnosis of Children with Learning Disabilities Ronald A. Berk, 1984-01-01 Learning disabilities screening and evaluation guide for low- and middle-income countries Anne M. Hayes, Eileen Dombrowski, Allison H. Shefcyk, Jennae Bulat, 2018-04-29 Learning disabilities are among the most common disabilities experienced in childhood and adulthood. Although identifying learning disabilities in a school setting is a complex process, it is particularly challenging in low and middle income countries that lack the appropriate resources, tools, and supports. This guide provides an introduction to learning disabilities and describes the processes and practices that are necessary for the identification process. It also describes a phased approach that countries can use to assess their current screening and evaluation services, as well as determine the steps needed to develop, strengthen, and build systems that support students with learning disabilities. This guide also provides intervention recommendations that teachers and school administrators can implement at each phase of system development. Although this guide primarily addresses learning disabilities, the practices, processes, and systems described may be also used to improve the identification of other disabilities commonly encountered in schools. A Clinician's Guide to Learning Disabilities Carleen Franz, Lee Ascherman, Julia Shaftel, 2017-11-16 Intended for mental health professionals whose clients experience learning disabilities, this book succinctly describes the assessment and diagnostic process for learning disabilities using DSM 5 R and IDEA. Extensive case studies illustrate learning disabilities from preschool through college. Psychoeducational reports and test scores are demystified. Clinicians will improve their ability to advocate on behalf of their clients' educational challenges. The Psychoeducational Assessment of Preschool Children Bruce A. Bracken, 2004-09-15 First published in 2004, Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an Informa company. Identification of Learning Disabilities: Research to Practice is the remarkable product of a learning disabilities summit conference convened by the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) in August 2001 and the activities following that summit. Both the conference and this book were seen as important preludes to congressional reauthorization of the historic Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) scheduled for 2002 and subsequent decision making surrounding implementation. The OSEP conference brought together people with different perspectives on LD: parents, researchers, practitioners, and policymakers, and resulted in this book, which examines the research on nine key issues concerning the identification of children with learning disabilities. Coverage includes alternative responses to treatment, classification approaches, processing deficit models, and approaches to decision making. Chapter Structure: Each of the first nine chapters is organized around a lengthy issue-oriented paper which presents the most current research on that topic. These primary papers are then followed by four respondent papers that reflect a variety of viewpoints on the topic. Summarizing Chapter: A small group of researchers listed in the final chapter dedicated an enormous amount of time to summarizing the research and developing key consensus statements regarding the identification of children with learning disabilities Their work is sure to have a tremendous impact on future discussions in this area Expertise The following well known scholars have helped summarize the vast amount of research presented in this book as well as the consensus statements derived therefrom Lynne Cook Don Deshler Doug Fuchs Jack M Fletcher Frank Gresham Dan Hallahan Joseph Jenkins Kenneth Kavale Barbara Keogh Margo Mastopieri Cecil Mercer Dan Reschley Rune Simeonsson Joe Torgesen Sharon Vaughn and Barbara Wise Resources in Education ,1991-04 Research in Education ,1970-05

Intellectual Disability in Health and Social Care Stacey Atkinson,Joanne Lay,Su McAnelly,Malcolm Richardson,2014-09-16 Many practitioners within health and social care come into contact with people with intellectual disabilities and want to work in ways that are beneficial to them by making reasonable adjustments in order to meet clients needs and expectations Yet the health and wellbeing of people with learning disabilities continues to be a neglected area where unnecessary suffering and premature deaths continue to prevail This text provides a comprehensive insight into intellectual disability healthcare It is aimed at those who are training in the field of intellectual disability nursing and also untrained practitioners who work in both health and social care settings Divided into five sections it explores how a wide range of biological health psychological and social barriers impact upon people with learning disability and includes Six guiding principles used to adjust plan and develop meaningful and accessible health and social services Assessment screening and diagnosis of intellectual disability across the life course Addressing lifelong health needs Psychological and psychotherapeutic issues including sexuality behavioural and mental health needs bereavement and ethical concerns The changing professional roles and models of meeting the needs of people with intellectual and learning disabilities Intellectual Disability in Health and Social Care provides a wide ranging overview of what learning disability professionals roles are and provides insight into what health and social care practitioners might do to assist someone with intellectual disabilities when specific needs arise Learning Disabilities Suzanne Gage Brainard,1975 Clinician's Handbook of Child Behavioral Assessment Michel Hersen,2011-04-28 Given the vast amount of research related to behavioral assessment it is difficult for clinicians to keep abreast of new developments In recent years there have been advances in assessment case conceptualization treatment planning treatment strategies for specific disorders and considerations of new ethical and legal issues Keeping track of advances requires monitoring diverse resources limited to specific disorders many of which give short shrift to child assessment overlooking developmental considerations Much of the existing literature is either theoretical research in focus or clinical in nature Nowhere are the various aspects of child behavioral assessment placed in a comprehensive research clinical context nor is there much integration as to conceptualization and treatment planning The Clinician s Handbook of Child Behavioral Assessment was created to fill this gap summarizing critical information for child behavioral assessment in a single source The Clinician s Handbook of Child Behavioral Assessment provides a single source for understanding new developments in this field cutting across strategies techniques and disorders Assessment strategies are presented in context with the research behind those strategies along with discussions of clinical utility and how assessment and conceptualization fit in with treatment planning The volume is organized in three sections beginning with general issues followed by evaluations of specific disorders and problems and closing with special issues To ensure cross chapter consistency in the coverage of disorders these chapters are formatted to contain an introduction assessment strategies research basis clinical utility conceptualization and treatment planning a case study and summary Special issue coverage includes child abuse assessment classroom assessment behavioral neuropsychology academic skills problems and ethical legal issues Suitable for beginning and established clinicians in practice this handbook will provide a ready reference toward effective child behavioral assessment Learning Disabilities: Issues and Recommendations for Research, 1974 National Institute of Education (U.S.),1974

Developmental Disabilities Abstracts ,1978 Early Identification of Children at Risk R.N. Emde,W.K. Frankenburg,J. Sullivan,2013-12-01 This volume contains contributions that are interdisciplinary and international The editors believe this is an especially timely and promising enterprise for both sources of diversity are needed for improving our abilities to identify the young child at risk and to prevent disability In terms of disciplines the volume brings together papers by health care providers such as pediatricians and public health nurses as well as educators and psychologists Each of these groups works in dissimilar settings and faces dissimilar problems Health care providers seek simple identification procedures for use in busy primary care settings psychologists emphasize well constructed research designs and educators reflect the need for early identification and education Each of these specialist groups has something to offer the other but too often each tends to limit its publications and readings to its own discipline thus failing to capitalize on a wider scope of knowledge and practice We hope that this selection of papers will allow all readers addressing the early identification of children at risk to generate a more integrated interdisciplinary perspective We also hope this volume reflects the sense of excitement that we feel from a sharing of international perspectives There is no single approach to the early identification of children at risk that is universally applicable to all countries In addition approaches within each country vary because of availability of financial and human resources and differing expectations of local communities Sleep in Children with Neurodevelopmental Disabilities Jennifer A. Tripathi,Yoganand Sinha,2013-08-05 This book examines how and where psychology can engage itself in the framing of social policies for national as well as human development in India Although the role that psychological knowledge can play in informing social policy decisions has been discussed for a long time psychologists by and large have had little role in framing policy decisions related to such important domains as education health social justice and social inclusion Policy makers not only in India but more or less everywhere have focused on interventions at the macro level which has led them to ignore the root causes of the problems lying at the micro level However with the more humanistic approaches now being followed by economists and other social scientists the person in society is slowly taking centrestage Micro level variables like happiness the wellbeing of individuals and the social relationships within which people define themselves are becoming important Therefore this book discusses important psychological issues related to human development particularly health and education social justice social integration environment and work organizations besides focusing on some general issues relating to the logic of making social policies It is a first ever attempt in India to inform policy makers about how micro variables can be a crucial factor to consider while framing social policies The Child Clinician's Report-Writing
