Scribbling Women:

Scribbling Women Elaine Showalter, 1997 From the Publisher A new mother longing to write is judged hysterical and confined to her bedroom where she slowly loses herself in horrific fantasy A young girl stirred by two beings a handsome young man and an ethereal white heron is forced to make a choice between them A love affair quashed by convention ignites during a sudden storm These tales of remarkable and ordinary lives in nineteenth century America are told throughout women s voices that call out from the kitchen hearth the solitary room the prison cell Stories by Louisa May Alcott Willa Cather Kate Chopin and Edith Wharton as well as by others less familiar reveal a universe of emotions hidden beneath parochial scenes American writers claimed the short story as their national genre in the nineteenth century and women writers made it the most important outlet for their particular experiences A unique selection with an introduction notes selected criticism and a chronology of the authors lives and times Scribbling Women & the Short Story Form Ellen Burton Harrington, 2008 America is now wholly given over to a d d mob of scribbling women and I should have no chance of success while the public taste is occupied with their trash Taking Hawthorne s famous 1855 complaint about women writers as a starting point for consideration Scribbling Women and the Short Story Form is a collection of fourteen critical essays about the short fiction of British and American women writers This anthology takes a feminist approach examining the liberating possibilities for women writers of the form of the short story a genre often associated with alienation or subversion the writer Frank O Connor describes the form as marginal or outlaw Covering the work of selected women writers from the 1850s through the late twentieth century this collection includes essays on well known authors such as Rebecca Harding Davis Louisa May Alcott Kate Chopin Katherine Anne Porter Flannery O Connor Cynthia Ozick and Ursula K Le Guin alongside essays on Harriett Prescott Spofford Ruth Stewart L T Meade Alice Dunbar Nelson Zitkala Sa Sui Sin Far and Lydia Davis less known authors whose stories offer rich ground for consideration The Cambridge Introduction to Nathaniel Hawthorne Leland S. Person, 2007-04-05 As the author of The Scarlet Letter Nathaniel Hawthorne has been established as a major writer of the nineteenth century and the most prominent chronicler of New England and its colonial history This introductory book for students coming to Hawthorne for the first time outlines his life and writings in a clear and accessible style Leland S Person also explains some of the significant cultural and social movements that influenced Hawthorne s most important writings Puritanism Transcendentalism and Feminism The major works including The Scarlet Letter The House of the Seven Gables and The Blithedale Romance as well as Hawthorne s important short stories and non fiction are analysed in detail The book also includes a brief history and survey of Hawthorne scholarship with special emphasis on recent studies Students of nineteenth century American literature will find this a rewarding and engaging introduction to this remarkable writer The Book of Esther and the Typology of Female Transfiguration in American Literature Ariel Clark Silver, 2017-11-30 The enduring search for female salvation in American literature is first expressed through typology an interpretive framework that pairs type with antitype historical scriptural promise with future spiritual fulfillment When Cotton Mather invokes the typos of Esther in Ornaments of the Daughters of Zion a Puritan conduct book he offers a female type of divine wisdom authority and force In the biblical Book of Esther Esther acts as a female type of wisdom and redemption but her story also engages the larger history of Hebrew salvation In nineteenth century America Margaret Fuller seeks to extend the spiritual claims once made by Mather and establish the role of the divine female in the salvation of American culture and society Fuller supplants the type of male sacrifice with a type of female transfiguration in works such as Woman in the Nineteenth Century Nathaniel Hawthorne then transforms these iconoclastic ideals into literary life by engaging the multi faceted figure of Esther as a typos of female redemption and salvation in Legends of the Province House The Scarlet Letter The Blithedale Romance and The Marble Faun Through his female characters Esther Dudley Hester Prynne Zenobia and Miriam he seeks to fulfill the divine destiny of the American woman Hawthorne discovers however that female redemption is followed by revenge as Esther turns from saving her people to ensuring an end to their oppression When Henry Adams later revives Esther Dudley in his novel Esther he rejects male redemption for the American woman In Democracy Esther Mont Saint Michel and The Education of Henry Adams Adams envisions an independent eternal woman who can rival the political scientific artistic and theological power of men The movement from male to female salvation is achieved when the terms of female redemption are transformed and the American woman is established as her own source of divine wisdom power retribution and force The typology of female transfiguration in America is fulfilled by Fuller Hawthorne and Adams through the promise extended by the type of Esther

Earle, 2024-01-04 When the final episode of BoJack Horseman aired on Netflix in 2020 it was to massive critical and popular acclaim Across six seasons viewers followed the exploits of a washed up sitcom actor and his wacky collection of friends set against the fading glitz of Hollywood and played out through a distinct cast of both human and anthropomorphic characters. Before the series even concluded it was clear that it would be the topic of research and discussion long beyond its relatively short run. This collection brings together essays about the ways this series handles complex and highly nuanced topics within three main themes: mental health, masculinity, and the perils of celebrity. With contributions from researchers across a broad range of fields, these essays offer a variety of perspectives on these themes, how they are represented within the show, and the ways that both characters and viewers engage with them.

From Subjection to Survival Molly J. Freitas, 2022-12-23. From Subjection to Survival is a work of feminist scholarship that works at the intersection of literature and art history, the written and the visual. By examining six important and diverse multiethnic American women writers of the twentieth century—Kate Chopin, Anzia Yeziarska, Edith Wharton, Zitkala, Nella Larsen, and Helena María Viramontes—From Subjection to Survival establishes a genealogy of how women writers claim the power and possibility of visual art to make sense of their experiences. These writers write about women and feature female protagonists who engage with art as painters, writers, muses, or icons in the texts themselves. The texts are written visually to expose the fundamental substantiation of gender in art and the unavoidable aestheticization of women in daily life. As every text in this book makes clear, women can claim substantial power through art. Yet aestheticization is not always positive. As a consequence of such negative possibilities, the artistic self-referentiality of all of the texts in From Subjection to Survival exposes a negotiated course between subjectivity and objectness, which women experience when engaging with art. From Subjection to Survival studies this negotiated course to lay bare the difficult path of women's artistic and aesthetic experience but ultimately to claim the power and the possibility of the visual arts for women.

Taking Liberties Amy B. Aronson, 2002-10-30. Unlike its British forebears, the early American magazine or periodical miscellany functioned in culture as a forum driven by manifold contributions and perpetuated by reader response. Arising in colonial Philadelphia, America's more democratic magazine sustained a range of conflicting ideas, norms, and beliefs; indeed, it promoted their very exchange. It invited and embraced competing voices, particularly during the first 75 years of the Republic. In this first-ever account of the early American magazine as a distinct form, Amy Beth Aronson reveals how such participatory dynamics and public visibility offered special advantages to women, especially to those with sufficient education, access, and financial means for whom ladies' magazines offered unusual opportunities for self-expression, collective discussion, and cultural response. Moreover, the genre opened and sustained dialogue among contributors whose competing voices played off each other, provoking rebuttal and revision by subsequent contributors and noncontributing readers. This free play of discourse positioned women's words in a uniquely productive way, offering a kind of community of women readers who together wrote and revised magazine content and collectively negotiated and authorized new language for a new public's use

Readings at the Edge of Literature Myra Jehlen, 2002-06 Myra Jehlen's aim in these essays is to read for what she calls the edge of literature the point at which writing seems unable to say more which is also for Jehlen the threshold of the real It is here she argues that the central paradoxes of the American project become clear self reliance and responsibility universal equality and the pursuit of empire writing from the heart and representing shared values and ideas Developing these paradoxes to their utmost tension American writers often produce penetrating critiques of American society without puncturing its basic myths For instance Mark Twain's Pudd'n head Wilson begins as a slashing satire of racism only to conclude by demonstrating that even an invisible portion of black blood can make a man a murderer Throughout these essays Jehlen demonstrates the crucial role that the process of writing itself plays in unfolding these paradoxes whether in the form of novels by Harriet Beecher Stowe and Virginia Woolf the histories of Captain John Smith or even a work of architecture such as the Guggenheim museum in Bilbao

Woman's Fiction Nina Baym, 1993 This reissue of the pioneering and standard book on antebellum women's domestic novels contains a new introduction situating the book in the context of important recent developments in the study of women's writing Nina Baym considers 130 novels by 48 women focusing on the works of a dozen especially productive and successful writers Woman's Fiction is a major work in nineteenth century literature reexamining changes in the literary canon and the meaning of sentimentalism while responding to current critical discussions of the body in literary texts
