Ogata argues that educational toys playgrounds small middle class houses new schools and children's museums were designed to cultivate imagination in a growing cohort of baby boom

children Enthusiasm for encouraging creativity in children countered Cold War fears of failing competitiveness and the postwar critique of social conformity making creativity an emblem of national revitalization Ogata describes how a historically rooted belief in children's capacity for independent thinking was transformed from an elite concern of the interwar years to a fully consumable and aspirational ideal that persists today From building blocks to Gumby playhouses to Playskool trains Creative Playthings to the Eames House of Cards Crayola fingerpaint to children's museums material goods and spaces shaped a popular understanding of creativity and Designing the Creative Child demonstrates how this notion has been woven into the fabric of American culture

Marsden Hartley's Maine Donna M. Cassidy, Elizabeth Finch, Randall R. Griffey, 2017-03-13 Marsden Hartley had a lifelong personal and aesthetic engagement with Maine where he was born in 1877 and where he died at age sixty six As an important member of the artistic circle promoted by Alfred Stieglitz Hartley began his career by painting the mountains of western Maine He subsequently led a peripatetic life traveling throughout Europe and North America and only occasionally visiting his native state. By midlife however his itinerant existence had taken an emotional toll and he confided to Stieglitz that he wanted so earnestly a place to be. Finally returning to the state in his later years he transformed his identity from urbane sophisticate to the painter from Maine. But while Maine has played a clear and defining role in Hartley's art not until now has this relationship been studied with the breadth and richness it warrants.

Marsden Hartley's Maine is the first in-depth discussion of Hartley's complex and shifting relationship to his native state. Illustrated with works from throughout the painter's career it provides a nuanced understanding of Hartley's artistic range from the exhilarating Post Impressionist landscapes of his early years to the late roughly rendered paintings of Maine and its people. The absorbing essays examine Hartley's view of Maine as a place of light and darkness whose spirit imbued his art which encompassed buoyant coastal views, mournful mountain vistas and portraits of Mainers. An illustrated chronology provides an overview of Hartley's life juxtaposing major personal incidents with concurrent events in Maine's history. For Hartley who was strongly influenced by such artists as Paul Cézanne, Winslow Homer and Albert Pinkham Ryder, Maine was an enduring source of inspiration, one powerfully intertwined with his past, his cultural milieu and his desire to create a regional expression of American modernism.

The State of the Animals III, 2005 Deborah J. Salem, Andrew N. Rowan, 2005

Age of Transition Edward Bleiberg, Lisa R. Brody, Steven Fine, Arnold E. Franklin, Alan Gampel, Claus-Peter Haase, Lyle Humphrey, Hieromonk Justin of Sinai, Annie Montgomery Labatt, Lawrence Nees, Robert Schick, Carol Snow, 2015

Building on the groundbreaking 2012 exhibition Byzantium and Islam: Age of Transition which explored the transformations and continuities in the Byzantine Empire from the seventh to the ninth century, the present volume extends the exhibition catalogue's innovative investigation of cultural interaction between Christian and Jewish communities and the world of Islam. Eleven essays by internationally distinguished scholars address such topics as the transmission of Christian imagery to the Mediterranean icons preserved in The Holy Monastery of Saint Catherine at Sinai; interaction between Jewish communities and the Muslim world; the purposeful mutilation of figurative floor mosaics in places of worship; the evolution of classical and Byzantine motifs in a new cosmology for Muslim rulers; and interconnections in the realm of music. Each essay provides compelling evidence that the era of transition from Byzantine to Islamic rule in the eastern Mediterranean and North Africa resulted in unprecedented cultural cross-fertilization and significantly affected the development of the Mediterranean world for centuries to come.
