Selected Chapters From Film History An Introduction:

Doing Digital Film History Sarah-Mai Dang, Tim van der Heijden, Christian Gosvig Olesen, 2024-12-30 How has the digital turn shaped the practices of film historical research and teaching While computational approaches have been used by film historians since the 1960s and 1970s the arrival and use of digital tools and methods in recent decades has fundamentally changed the ways we search analyze interpret present and so think and write about film history from digital archival and curatorial practices data driven search and analysis of film historical collections to the visualization and dissemination of film historical materials online While film historians have increasingly embraced the new possibilities brought by digital technologies their practical epistemological and methodological implications need further exploration What opportunities does the digitization of film historical sources provide for film historians What new questions can be raised by using digital methods What new perspectives emerge from analyzing interpreting and visualizing film historical data at the levels of both close and distant or scalable reading and viewing By focusing on the concepts tools and practices of digital film historiography this edited volume aims to contribute to a better understanding and critical reflection on the changes and continuities of doing film history in the digital age EBOOK: Film Art: An Introduction David

Bordwell, 2013-08-16 Film is an art form with a language and an aesthetic all its own Since 1979 David Bordwell and Kristin Thompson's Film Art has been the best selling and most widely respected introduction to the analysis of cinema Taking a skills centered approach supported by examples from many periods and countries the authors help students develop a core set of analytical skills that will enrich their understanding of any film in any genre In depth examples deepen students appreciation for how creative choices by filmmakers affect what viewers experience and how they respond Film Art is generously illustrated with more than 1 000 frame enlargements taken directly from completed films providing concrete illustrations of key concepts An Annotated Bibliography for Taiwan Film Studies Jim Cheng, James Wicks, Sachie Noguchi, 2016-04-19 Compiled by two skilled librarians and a Taiwanese film and culture specialist this volume is the first multilingual and most comprehensive bibliography of Taiwanese film scholarship designed to satisfy the broad interests of the modern researcher The second book in a remarkable three volume research project An Annotated Bibliography for Taiwan Film Studies catalogues the published and unpublished monographs theses manuscripts and conference proceedings of Taiwanese film scholars from the 1950s to 2013 Paired with An Annotated Bibliography for Chinese Film Studies 2004 which accounts for texts dating back to the 1920s this series brings together like no other reference the disparate voices of Chinese film scholarship charting its unique intellectual arc Organized intuitively the volume begins with reference materials bibliographies cinematographies directories indexes dictionaries and handbooks and then moves through film history the colonial period Taiwan dialect film new Taiwan cinema the 28 incident film genres animated anticommunist documentary ethnographic martial arts teen film reviews film theory and technique interdisciplinary studies Taiwan and mainland China

Taiwan and Japan film and aboriginal peoples film and literature film and nationality biographical materials film stories screenplays and scripts film technology and miscellaneous aspects of Taiwanese film scholarship artifacts acts of censorship copyright law distribution channels film festivals and industry practice Works written in multiple languages include transliteration romanized and original script entries which follow universal AACR 2 and American cataloguing standards and professional notations by the editors to aid in the use of sources The Challenge of the Silver Screen Freek L. Bakker, 2009 In 1897 only two years after the invention of film the first feature film about Jesus appeared This and other films about Jesus became examples for and an inspiration for films on other important religious figures like Rama Buddha and Muhammad Although religious leaders did not always approve of these films they did find a ready audience among believers This book explores these films and looks at how these films dealt with the fundamental question of portraying an individual thought to have either divine status or a very special and unique status among human beings This book will thus benefit not only students of religious film but also those studying the portrayal of central religious figures in the contemporary world

Massood, 2025-02-12 Presenting new and diverse scholarship this collection brings together original essays that explore American film history from a fresh perspective Comprising an introduction and 34 chapters written by leading scholars from around the globe and edited by Pamela Robertson Wojcik and Paula J Massood this collection offers discussions of the American film industry from previously unexplored vantage points Rather than follow a chronological format as with most film histories this Companion offers a multiplicity of approaches to historiography and is arranged according to often underdeveloped or overlooked areas in American film including topics such as alternate archives hidden labor histories of style racialized technologies cinema s material cultures spectators and fans transnational film production intermedial histories history in and about films and the historical afterlives of cinema An exciting collection for serious film studies students and scholars interested in new perspectives and fresh approaches to thinking about and doing American film history Framing the Sex Scene: A New Take on Israeli Film History Naomi Rolef, 2021-02-22 This book retells the history of Israeli film in the 1960s and 1970s in sex scenes Through close readings of the first sex scenes in mainstream Israeli movies from this period it explores the cultural and social contexts in which these movies were made More specifically it discusses how notions of collective identity individual agency and the public and private spheres are inscribed into and negotiated in sex scenes especially in light of the historical events that marked these decades This study thus pushes away from the traditional academic perception of Israeli film and opens up new ways of understanding how it has developed in recent decades It draws on a growing international body of academic literature on the cinematic representation of sex in order to illuminate the particularities of the Israeli context in the 1960s and 1970s Apart from film scholars and scholars of Israeli film this study also addresses readers interested in Israeli cultural history more broadly

Film and History James Chapman, 2017-09-16 Film is the pre eminent mass medium of the modern age It is a valuable source of evidence for the study of both the past and the contemporary world and is a social practice that has affected the lives of millions How can historians engage with this important and influential medium Written for both students and teachers Film and History provides a concise accessible introduction to the use of film in historical enquiry and a summary of the main theoretical debates Charts the development of film history as a subject area and a discipline in its own right Considers different approaches to film history including film as an art form as ideology as a historical source and as a social practice Includes case studies to ground discussion of theories and approaches in specific examples Wide ranging and authoritative Film and History equips students with the methods both to analyse film texts and to understand the place of film in history and culture

Words and Images on the Screen Ágnes Pethő, 2009-03-26 The screen has never been merely a canvas for the images to be displayed but also to quote Jean Luc Godard a blank page a surface for inscriptions and a stage for all kinds of linguistic occurrences be their audible or visual Word did not come into the world of cinema at the time of the talkies but has been a primordial medial companion that has shaped the cinematic experience from its very beginnings This volume offers a collection of essays that question the role of words and images in the context of moving pictures covering a wide area of their interconnectedness How can we analyse literary adaptations What is the role of adaptations in the evolution of specific national cinemas In what way are written texts used in films Is the model of the word and image relations used in silent films still applicable today What major paradigms can be discerned within the multiplicity of ways Jean Luc Godard s cinema plays with words and images Are these models of modernist or postmodern cinema reflected in films of other directors like R W Fassbinder How do avant garde works deal with the word and image debate What are the connections of animation or computer games with verbal text and narrative What is the phenomenon of jet setting and how does it connect to the ideological implications of the relations between the culture of books and films What happens when Hamlet is completely rewritten reflecting the ideology of late capitalism What happens from the point of view of literariness or rejection of literariness when films are made vehicles of national propaganda How do words get mediated through images These are some of the questions addressed in the present volume by in depth case studies of cinematic intermediality or more general surveys regarding cinema s long lasting liaisons with language or literature

Bangladesh Cinema and National Identity Zakir Hossain Raju, 2014-12-17 Throughout the twentieth and early twenty first centuries cinema has been adopted as a popular cultural institution in Bangladesh At the same time this has been the period for the articulation of modern nationhood and cultural identity of Bengali Muslims in Bangladesh This book analyses the relationship between cinema and modernity in Bangladesh providing a narrative of the uneven process that produced the idea of Bangladesh cinema This book investigates the roles of a non Western national film industry in Asia in constructing nationhood and identity within colonial and postcolonial predicaments Drawing on the idea of cinema as public sphere and the postcolonial notion of formation of the Bangladesh nation interactions between cinema and middle class Bengali Muslims in different social and political matrices are analyzed The author explores how the conflict among different social groups turned Bangladesh cinema into a site of contesting identities In particular he illustrates the connections between film production and reception in Bangladesh and a variety of nationalist constructions of Bengali Muslim identity Questioning and debunking the usual notions of Bangladesh and cinema this book positions the cinema of Bangladesh within a transnational frame Starting with how to locate the beginning of the second Bengali language cinema in colonial Bengal the author completes the investigation by identifying a global Bangladeshi cinema in the early twenty first century The first major academic study on this large and vibrant national cinema this book demonstrates that Bangladesh cinema worked as different public spheres for different publics throughout the twentieth century and beyond Filling a niche in Global Film and Media Studies and South Asian Studies it will be of interest to scholars and students of these disciplines

British Cinema Amy Sargeant, 2019-07-25 Although new writing and research on British cinema has burgeoned over the last fifteen years there has been a continued lack of single authored books providing a coherent overview to this fascinating and elusive national cinema Amy Sargeant's personal and entertaining history of British cinema aims to fill this gap With its insightful decade by decade analysis British Cinema is brought alive for a new generation of British cinema students and the general reader alike Sargeant challenges Rachel Low's premise that few of the films made in England during the twenties were any good by covering subjects as diverse as the art of intertinting the narrative complexities of Shooting Stars and Brunel's burlesques Sargeant goes on to examine among other things the differing acting styles of Dietrich and Donat in the seminal Knight Without Armour to early promotional campaigns in the 1930s whereas subjects ranging from product endorsement by stars to the character of the suburban wife are covered in the 1940s The 1950s includes topics such as the effect of post war government intervention to Free Cinema and Lindsay Anderson's infuriating lapses of rigour together with a much needed overview of Michael Balcon's contribution to British cinema For Sargeant the 1960s provides an overview of the tentative relationship between film and advertising and the rise of young Turks such as Tony Richardson Ken Loach Donald Cammell and Nicolas Roeg

Talkies, Road Movies and Chick Flicks Heidi Wilkins, 2016-02-19 The representation of gender in film remains an intensely debated topic particularly in academic considerations of US mainstream cinema where it is often perceived as perpetuating rigid binary views of gender and reinforcing patriarchal dominant notions of masculinity and femininity While previous scholarly discussion has focused on visual or narrative portrayals of gender this book considers the ways that film sound music voice sound effects and silence is used to represent gender Taking a socio historical approach Heidi Wilkins investigates a range of popular US genres including screwball comedy the road movie and chick flicks to explore the ways that film sound can reinforce traditional assumptions about masculinity and femininity impart ambivalent meanings to them or even challenge and subvert the notion of gender itself Case studies include His Girl Friday Easy Rider and Bridesmaids
