on investigations of diaspora and visibility tracing the interrelation of affect archive region and aesthetics through an examination of a wide range of contemporary queer visual culture Spanning film fine art poetry and photography these cultural forms which Gopinath conceptualizes as aesthetic practices of queer diaspora reveal the intimacies of seemingly disparate histories of post colonial dwelling and displacement and are a product of diasporic trajectories Countering standard formulations of diaspora that inevitably foreground the nation state as well as familiar formulations of queerness that ignore regional gender and sexual formations she stages unexpected encounters between works by South Asian Middle Eastern African Australian and Latinx artists such as Tracey Moffatt Akram Zaatari and Allan deSouza Gopinath shows how their art functions as regional queer archives that express alternative understandings of time space and relationality The queer optics produced by these visual practices creates South to South region to region and diaspora to region cartographies that profoundly challenge disciplinary and area studies rubrics Gopinath thereby provides new critical perspectives on settler colonialism empire military occupation racialization and diasporic dislocation as they indelibly mark both bodies and landscapes

Emperor Norton's Early Years As An 1820s Settler Charles Featherstone, 2024-03-21 A wryly humorous telling of the British colonialization in South Africa told from the point of view of a not very successful family and the child that would become Emperor thousands of miles away Many think the patron saint of Discordianism a myth or his life absurdly exaggerated but they are wrong Reality is far stranger than fiction could ever be and Joshua Norton is the absolute proof a real life Don Quixote formed in tragedy and triumph scarred into a delusion of a better world by the violence of this one Long before he became Emperor of the United States Joshua Norton won his place in history as one of the 1820 Settlers in the British colonialization of the Cape Colony in today's South Africa This volume covers Joshua's upbringing as an 1820 settler in the newly formed Albany region in what would become the Eastern Cape It brings to life one of history's most turbulent periods as Dutch British Xhosa Khoi and Fingo all try to build a life on a land riven by constant war Read on for a tale of heroes and villains but mostly of people trying to survive where they can when all the odds are stacked against them and great political winds tear through their desperate lives The first volume of the definitive history of Norton I Emperor of the United States and Protector of Mexico Told with with a wry dramatisation it contains the most accurate and complete information on Joshua's early life in any book to date antiblackness capitalism brahminical supremacy Hindu nationalism and heteropatriarchy Resource extraction in British Columbia in the 1970s 90s and in present day Alberta offer examples of spaces that illuminate the dispossession of Indigenous peoples and simultaneously reveal racialized gendered and caste labor formations Upadhyay juxtaposes these extraction sites with examples of anticolonial activism and solidarities from Tkaronto Analyzing silence on settler colonialism and brahminical caste supremacy Upadhyay upends the idea of dominant caste Indian diasporas as racially victimized and shows that claiming victimhood denies a very real complicity in enforcing other power structures Exploring stories of quotidian proximity and intimacy between Indigenous and South Asian communities Upadhyay offers meditations on anticolonial and anti casteist ways of knowledge production ethical relationalities and solidarities Groundbreaking and ambitious Indians on Indian Lands presents the case for holding Indian diasporas accountable for acts of violence within a colonial settler nation

 Allard-Tremblay, Assistant Professor Department of Political Science McGill University Senior Research Associate African Centre for Epistemology and Philosophy of Science Yann Allard-Tremblay, 2025-10-10 Disjunctures demonstrates the transformative potential of Indigenous political traditions in settler states that seek reconciliation Though there exist irreconcilable differences between Indigenous and dominant Euro modern political structures and identities Yann Allard
